JAPANESE WIN BIG LAND BATTLE IN THE REAR OF PORT ARTHUR

DEMOCRATS LINING UP FOR BATTLE.

Parker and Hearst Men Are Rounding Up the Delegates in St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, July 2.—The Parker men are growing more confident as representatives of different delegates arrive. One of the most active Parker men in the city is Thomas A. Taggart of Indianapolis, and he is in constant communication with the arrivals, especially those who are under instructions for other candidates. Mayor David A. Rose and T. E. Ryan of Wisconsin were among the arrivals today. They are under instructions for E. C. Wall of their own State, and declared that, having a "favorite son," they would express no opinion as to the second choice of the delegation.

"With a candidate of our own," said Mr. Ryan, "it would not look very well for us to be going about expressing an opinion about a second choice."

PARKER'S MANAGERS.

From managers of the Parker canvass, however, it was learned that the Wisconsin delegation would go to Parker on the second ballot. A light was shed upon the many conferences that have taken place in the East between the Democratic leaders like Gorman, Guffey, McLean, Smith and Murphy. A delegate who has been cognizant of what took place at these conferences, said today that at their close one man remarked: "Well, we are no nearer a conclusion than when we first commenced to talk.'

FEAR CLEVELAND.

In going over the situation they found that even if they should enter into a combination to defeat Parker, that they would be no nearer results than before, and some of them feared that the defeat of Parker would afford an opportunity to name Cleveland, and to this some of the men in the conference were opposed, while others were somewhat favorable.

It is believed that Smith and Guffey are among the men who would be willing to see Cleveland nominated, and that they would be willing to throw New Jersey and Pennsylvania to the ex-President.

FIRST BALLOT.

While some Parker men are enthusiastic enough to claim that their man will be nominated on the first ballot, the more experienced plans are of the opinion that complimentary votes must first be cast for "favorite sons" before the necessary two-thirds can be obtained for the New Yorker.

It is said that Gorman's candidacy can be determined upon by his movements. He is at the head of the Maryland delegation and if he comes to St. Louis it will mean that he is not going to be a candidate. But if he remains at home it will be assumed by his friends here that he is a candidate, and then every effort will be made to bring about his nomination.

An important arrival today was August Belmont, who, with several members of his family, came in on an early train and took apartments at the Jefferson. He is one of the active leaders of the Parker movement.

HEARST BOOM.

The Hearst boom was given somewhat of an impetus early today by the arrival of the California delegation, accompanied by some members of the Nevada and Arizona delegations.

"We are all for Hearst until the finish," said Chairman Tarpey of the California contingent. "We will stay with him until the end. Californians have no second choice in this or in any other matter."

Another delegate, Mark Smith of Arizona, expressed the same sentiment, saying that the Democrats of the Western coast generally prefer Mr. Hearst. He did not believe that the Western men in the convention would be averse to some other man in case it should become evident that Mr. Hearst could not secure the necessary two-thirds vote to nominate.

THE PLATFORM.

Members of the three delegations discussed freely the possibilities with reference to the platform, but were generally of the opinion that there should be reference either to the Chicago platform of 1896 or the Kansas City platform of 1900.

"This," said one of them, "is the year 1904, and we are dealing with this period and no other. I believe that our people prefer that all references to past platforms should be omitted."

HEARST DELEGATES.

Senator Newlands of Nevada, who is at the head of the delegation from that State, says that the sentiment of the Western States generally is against Parker, although the delegates are not opposed to him in any hostile sense. The Hearst delegations from these Western States appear to have no second choice, although it is understood that some of them may prefer Gorman to almost any other man.

OPPOSE CLEVELAND.

Judge Parker's friends are devoting themselves assiduously to counteracting the effort to create sentiment in favor of Mr. Cleveland, and among the most outspoken of them is National Committeeman Head of Tennessee, who is also a member of the delegation from his State.

"It is not true that Mr. Cleveland is more popular in the South than formerly," he said, and replying to a question as to why the Southern Democrats are opposed to Cleveland, said:

"We oppose him because he disrupted and destroyed the Democratic party. He found the organization united and in less than two years under his management it was torn into shreds. He has no strength in the South and I believe that if nominated he would render even Tennessee a doubtful State."

Ex-Senator Allen, of Nebraska, is about the lobby of the Jefferson Hotel today. He said that he was merely an onlooker.

"I may be the only Populist left," he said, "but I shall stay with my party."

He expressed the opinion that Mr. Bryan would certainly be in attendance at the St. Louis convention. "He will make a speech too, and if he does the Chicago speech will not be a marker compared with what he will say."

RUSSIANS HAVE ACCEPTED OFFER.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 2, 1:20 p. m.—The Russian government has accepted the offer of Great Britain to police and protect the seal fisheries of the Kommandore and Copper islands, off Kamchatka. Russia today informed the British government of its acquiescence. Ambassador Alexieff, who was consulted on the subject, has telegraphed that British cruisers will be afforded every facility at Petropavlovsk to draw half the stock of coal, amounting to 2000 tons. The British ships will only exercise right of search in the case of British and Japanese vessels. Great Britain's act is sure to have great influence on Russian public sentiment, increasing the good feeling which is necessary as a basis for a Russo-British understanding, which all the diplomats are now convinced is close to the heart of the British monarch.

Fierce Fighting on Both Sides—Thousands of Men Are Battling at the Front—Japanese Are Victorious.

CHEE FOO, July 2, 7:30 a. m.—It has been learned here that a big battle was fought near Port Arthur on land on June 26th and 27th.

The Japanese were successful and on the morning of the 28th they occupied certain heights within ten miles of Port Arthur.

The first Japanese division which suffered so heavily at the battle of Nanshan Hill, and the eleventh division, fresh from Japan, were engaged. The Japanese losses have not been learned, but the Russians are said to have suffered very heavily.

RUSSIAN WOUNDED.

Refugees who left Port Arthur and who have arrived here declare that wounded Russians were being brought in by the hundreds. Other refugees from Pigeon Bay assert that hundreds of wounded Russian soldiers were passing near the bay, being transported in numerous and various kinds of conveyances. The fact that Russian wounded were seen at Pigeon Bay, which is due west of Port Arthur, would indicate that the Japanese have advanced along the east and west coasts of the peninsula at the same time.

THE ATTACK.

The two divisions which attacked Port Arthur were composed of 40,000 men and an independent artillery corps.

As a matter of precaution the Japanese have landed a division of 10,000 men on one of the Elliott group of islands, and on June 28th they landed the Sixth division of 20,000 men at Kerr Bay. (The Elliott islands are about ten miles southeast of Pitzwo and about 65 miles northeast of Port Arthur, while Kerr Bay is about 36 miles from Port Arthur and six miles from Kinchou.) These two divisions can be used to reinforce Gen. Oku's army near Kaiping, on the west side of the Liao Tung peninsula and about 40 miles south of New Chwang, or the army under General Nogi before Port Arthur.

JAPANESE SUCCESS.

During the present week three large and a number of smaller transports arrived at Port Dalny with heavy siege guns and provision for the Eleventh Division. Foreigners who have reached here from Port Arthur and Japanese from Port Dalny agree as to the success of the Japanese on land, and from the stories brought in by junkmen it would appear that the Japanese have at least good prospects of being successful at sea.

Junkmen who have arrived from Port Dalny say they heard heavy firing all day yesterday and until noon today, while junkmen who have come in from Port Arthur report that a portion of the Japanese fleet was off Port Arthur last night. These two reports indicate that a portion of the Japanese fleet has engaged the enemy at sea while the remainder returned to Port Arthur to cut off the retreat of the Russian warships, should retreat be found necessary.

Foreigners who left Port Arthur yesterday evening confirm the reports brought by the Chinese that there are only four large Russian warships at Port Arthur.

A dispatch to the Associated Press from Tokio, dated June 29 h, probably referred to the same engagement. The Tokio message was not official, but it said that Chikwanshan, Chitanshan and Sochoshan, three forts on the southeast line of the Port Arthur defenses, were captured by the Japanese on Sunday, June 26th, after an all-day fight, which began with an artillery duel. After the forts had been taken, the Russians retreated west, leaving forty dead behind them. The number of their wounded was not learned. The Japanese lost three officers and 150 men killed or wounded, and captured two guns and a quantity of ammunition.

In conclusion, the Tokio correspondent said this report was not credited by the officials in Tokio.

JUNK BLOWN UP BY A MINE.

CHE FOO, July 2.—A junk was blown up by a contact mine at the entrance of the Liao river, below New Chwang Friday.

Twenty Chinese were killed and twelve were wounded.

SQUADRON WAS NOT DAMAGED.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 2.—Much satisfaction is expressed in all circles with the information coming from Russian official sources that Rear-Admiral Withoeft's squadron did not sustain any damage in the fight at Port Arthur on June 23d.

The papers are unsparing in their denunciation of the reports disseminated from Tokio of the sinking of a battleship and the crippling of two other warships.

The Novoe Vremya publishes a leading article on the subject under the caption, "Togo Lies." The Journal de St. Petersburg prints a special from Liao Yang, dated yesterday, saying the Japanese are retreating all along the line.

The Russki Invalide, the army organ, expresses the opinion that the movement of the Japanese from Feng Wang Cheng, in the direction of Liao Yang, is simply a demonstration made for the purpose of checking the Russian cavalry north of Siamatsca, and drawing off General Kuropatkin's attention from the Chippanly and Dalin passes, over which the Japanese are advancing toward Hai Cheng, which is their real present objective point.

REV. CHAS. HOAG AMONG THE MISSING.

Mrs. Wm. Benedict Disappears at the Same Time and is Sued in the Divorce Court.

In a newly erected cottage at 486 Thirty-fourth street and in an equally new home at 586 Thirty-sixth street, only two blocks separating both places, the curtains are drawn, the doors are locked and entrance is denied all comers.

From the first place, Rev. Charles Wayland Hoag, pastor of the Plymouth Congregational Church on Thirty-sixth street is missing and, from the other, the place of Mrs. William Nelson Benedict, wife of a well known commercial traveler, has disappeared.

GOSSIPS CONNECT NAMES.

As a consequence, the gossips have commenced to connect the names of both in a very unpleasant manner, all the more so, because Mr. Benedict has followed up the disappearance of his wife, with a suit against her for divorce, which suit was filed yesterday evening.

WHEREABOUTS UNKNOWN.

The whereabouts of neither the clerical gentleman nor the lady is known, though the husband of Mrs. Benedict says that he put his spouse on the train on the 20th of this month and paid her passage to Orland in Glenn county in this State where she intended to visit her mother, who, she said, resided at that place.

HOAG LEAVES SAME DAY.

It is a coincidence, that it was on just the same date, Monday, June 20, that the Rev. Charles Wayland Hoag disappeared and, since then, has availed himself of no means of communication for the purpose of informing his wife and son and members of his flock as to what has befallen him.

DISAPPOINTED A PULPIT

Sunday last, he was to have occupied the pulpit of Rev. William Rader, of the Third Congregational Church in San Francisco, who has gone to Europe, but, when the time came for the gentleman to lead in prayer, the divine was missing. As a consequence, service had to be conducted by one of the lay members of the flock.

WIFE'S MORTIFICATION.

The failure of her husband to appear in the Third Church was a source of unspeakable pain to his wife and son, who, without informing him of their purpose, had gone to that place so as to be among the auditors, listen to his sermon and then surprise him after his effort in the strange pulpit.

They were amazed when informed that the husband and father had disappointed the expectant congregation. They knew that he had left home on the preceding Monday on a vacation of a month which was to be spent in the vicinity of Santa Cruz, save on Sunday, when Rev. Mr. Hoag for four weeks was to lead the devotions in Mr. Rader's stead.

SILENCE INEXPLICABLE.

They could not imagine what had become of him, save that he had fallen sick, as he had not been in robust health for some time, but they could not understand, why, if he had been smitten by sickness, why he had not written or wired for his wife to attend him, or, at least, to calm her fears as regards the malignancy of his ailment.

With sorrowing and heavy hearts, therefore, wife and son retraced their steps to this city and, since then wearily have waited for a word of light from the head of the family, but no such comfort has been vouchsafed.

MORE THAN COINCIDENCE.

The departure of Mrs. Benedict about the same time was noticed by members of the congregation and immediately the rumor got into circulation and grew as it advanced that there was more than coincidence in the disappearance of the two and, in fact, that both of them had gone on the same train.

KINDRED SPIRITS.

This latter suspicion, however, could not be confirmed, although members of Mr. Hoag's church declared that they would not have difficulty in believing that such a hegira had taken place. They base this presumption upon the known fact that, while Rev. Mr. Hoag has been here only a year, there was no member of his congregation with whom he was on more friendly terms than he was with Mrs. Benedict, who was a member of the choir. This relationship was the theme of comment and gossip, though the most uncharitable of the gossips could not believe that the attachment of one for the other was sufficient to impel the clerical gentleman to wreck his life, family and even the little church which was itself struggling to afford him a living.

SIMILAR AND DISSIMILAR.

They were buttressed in this belief because Rev. Mr. Hoag and Mrs. Benedict were physical antitheses. He was spare, weak, nervous, spiritual and somewhat ill-favored as to visage, while, on the other hand, she was attractive, vivacious and worldly.

BOND OF SYMPATHY.

There was, however, a bond of sympathy between them. It was, however, rather of the intellectual order. Mr. Hoag had been a Methodist but had changed to the Congregational creed shortly before accepting the call to Plymouth Church. He was even "advanced" in views for that society, more especially on the subject of divorce.

VIEWS ON DIVORCE.

Not long ago he read a paper before a number of divines in San Francisco in which he held that divorce should be pronounced twixt those who, after marital experience, has found a latent feeling of incompatibility in one or the other. In commenting upon this paper with some of his parishioners Mr. Hoag declared that he was surprised to see how many brothers of the cloth agreed with his marital radicalism.

LIBERAL MARITAL VIEWS.

Mrs. Benedict was known among her neighbors as one who held rather liberal views regarding the marriage relation. She was a student of many cults and took no pains to disguise her liking for display and for attention from divers members of the sterner sex.

COMMON GROUND.

It was here, it is believed, that Rev. Mr. Hoag and Mrs. Benedict could and did meet on common ground, although friends say that the minister has not been named as one of the people who may have impelled the bringing of the divorce suit.

The alleged ground of cruelty is assigned for the filing of the action by William N. Benedict, who will make no other admission in the premises.

NOT KNOWN IN ORLAND.

Whether or not the missing clergyman and dissatisfied wife have gone together, is unknown. THE TRIBUNE telephoned to Orland for the purpose of finding Mrs. Benedict, but word was received from the telephone exchange at that place that no such person was known there, neither was such a person known to be visiting there.

MINISTER' WIFE.

Mrs. Hoag is satisfied to declare that she believes her husband is sick somewhere, and that he will reappear when his month's vacation has expired. She does not state, however, why he should thus prefer to suffer unattended and among strangers.

TOOK MONEY OUT OF BANK.

Combating the idea of sickness, however, is the fact, as alleged by gossips that, before going away, Rev. Mr. Hoag drew $500 from a local bank in which he had something over $1000 on deposit. This latter sum is said to be the proceeds of the sale of some property in the East. The withdrawal of $500, people believe, would hardly have taken place if only a quiet vacation were contemplated.

Despite all these suspicions, however, there are members of the church who hold to the belief that the missing minister is sick in some resort and is concealing the fact for reasons best known to himself. They declare, however, that he can blame nobody but himself if his name is unpleasantly associated with that of any other person.

Rev. Mr. Hoag came here about a year ago from Pacific Grove. The trustees of Plymouth Church built an addition to that building for him to live in and it was in this structure, right under the shadow of the sanctuary, that he has left his despondent son and inconsolable spouse.

NO IDEA OF FOUL PLAY.

None of Mr. Hoag's flock consider for a moment the idea of violence, although, at first, when they learned that a minister, with the same name, viz. Hoge, had suicided at Salinas, they thought the victim might have been the Plymouth leader. They finally ascertained that the cleric who had taken his life was an old man, 20 years older than Hoag.

Plymouth Church will be served tomorrow by a clergyman from Berkeley.

WHAT THE WEEKLY PAPERS HAVE TO SAY.

Oxnard Stands Well in Washington —Metcalf in the Cabinet— Berkeley Society.

Another matter that continues to agitate politicians is the senatorship. Mr. Oxnard has gone East, and rumor has it that it is with intention to gain the support of Harriman and Herrin, who are also in New York. Senator Bard is being ably supported by Gen. Otis, of the Times, the practical results of which are seen in Bard's indorsement by the Los Angeles Fourth District Republican Club. The people of Arizona are somewhat aggrieved at the course of Senator Bard in refusing to vote for the admission of that Territory as a State, and are said to be using their influence against him with the business men of Los Angeles with whom they trade. An amusing—but still significant—feature of Bard's campaign is his unequivocal indorsement as a "man of sterling worth" at a meeting of Congregational ministers held in this city recently. Oxnard, on the other hand, is being recognized as having elements of strength through his acquaintance with strong men at Washington. Hamilton writes to the Examiner from Washington: "Don't think he doesn't know the men who run the party nationally. He is cheek by jowl with them. He can talk with the men who direct things, when our fellows, like Pardee and McKinley and Ruef, do not even know them by sight. Today he was getting the 'low-down' from men like Cullom and Hansborough Depew and Loeb. He'd be no green hand in Washington if he had the job."—The Argonaut.

Now that Victor Metcalf is a member of the President's Cabinet and Mrs. Metcalf is to become one of the Cabinet ladies, Oakland is beginning to preen itself for all the world like a peacock. The "arrival" of Mr. Metcalf affords another illustration of our inability to appraise at their true value people and things that are most familiar to us. The illusions that distance lends are not more certain than the short-sightedness of propinquity. Genius has ever been without appreciation in its home until discovered abroad. Mr. Metcalf has been rated in Oakland as an ordinary Congressman, a lawyer who needed the job. Oaklanders did not even stop to think that he might be equal to the part he took. If they had done so they would not have underrated him, for Victor Metcalf is one of the most distinguished looking men I ever saw. Now that he is in the President's Cabinet people that meet him will say, "Well, he looks the part." And he surely does. His is a face eloquent of character, dignity, intellect and polish. In Washington he is regarded as one of the brainiest of statesmen. By the way, it was not so many years ago that, when a Californian was mentioned as available for the Cabinet, the wise men of the State were greatly amused. The proposition was so absurd, California being such a small speck on the political map. Now we may boast of having had a Cabinet officer in two successive administrations. California is growing.

The Metcalfs gave a dinner last week in honor of Paymaster Richworth Nicholson, who will leave in a few days for Bremerton where he has been ordered to report for duty on the Philadelphia. The decorations were couleur de rose, suggestive, it was remarked, of the host's future. During the dinner a gentleman arose to drink to the hostess of the occasion. "What so rare as a day in June," he began, and hesitated as if for a reply. A young woman, sotto voce, thus: "Well, this is one more than rare; it is positively raw." The table was convulsed and the gentleman, very much embarrassed, dropped into his chair. He was begged to resume, but confessed that he had lost his continuity of thought.—Town Talk.

It is a very usual statement of good citizens that a man owes something to the community in which he makes his living. But somehow the men who are so glib in making this confession of faith are slow in carrying it out when they come to leave for good. Their wills don't take this for a text. So the Argonaut is glad to note one special instance of civic virtue. George Goodman, the pioneer stone-pavement builder of Oakland, made a will that recognizes his community. He has left to a dozen public institutions sums that show that he took a personal and social interest in his city, and all this when his estate was nothing magnificent. Most of our wealthy men look upon the taxpayer as an officious personage, upon the Assessor as an impertinent rascal, and openly announce that San Francisco is a municipality where the rich man is looked upon as fair prey for those who want a share of the fat things. Mr. Goodman had no such way of arguing. He had lived for many years among a kindly and familiar people; he had enjoyed the privileges of citizenship, and when he came to die he remembered it all very generously, and gave of his means to help on the place where he had earned his livelihood and gained his competence. Too many of this city's men pass over their debt to the community, and depart to regions uncharted without paying the interest on the capital supplied them by the society and commerce of their fellows. After all, a city is a monument. We live in an inheritance. Those who hand their portion back unimpaired and bettered, as did George Goodman, deserve our grateful remembrance.—The Argonaut.

As the Senatorial contest seems to have resolved itself into a Bard-Oxnard affair, I cannot understand why certain newspapers are so industriously engaged in engendering heat over it. Both candidates are very rich, and one has been tried and found wanting. That one is such a negative character, and so frigid of temperament that even his friends cannot simulate enthusiasm when espousing his cause. He has proved his virtue to their satisfaction by declining to supply the customary sinews of war. But I know hundreds of men ready to serve the people in the Senate providing they would not be required to pay for the honor. And they are better qualified than Bard for the job, too. Moreover, some of them would have a chance of being elected by the pople if the matter were submitted to popular vote. I do not believe that Bard has a friend in the State who would assert that the Hueneme statesman could win out in an election by the people. Nor do I think it will be disputed that Bard is being urged for re-election solely in the interest of politicians who expect to get some Federal patronage with his assistance. That he will not be able to do the State any good is the belief of everybody who knows anything about his standing in Washington. So why Bard?—Town Talk.

The scandal involving Mrs. Louise Tyler, the postmistress at Mill Valley, and Mr. John Wood, the paying teller of the Crocker-Woolworth Bank, has shed considerable light on the way Uncle Sam can be buncoed.

The story of how Mrs. Tyler's husband died and left her penniless at Mill Valley, how the Wood family befriended her, how Mr. Wood got her the postoffice, how he and she became intimate, how Mrs. Wood sued for divorce, and, finally, how Mr. Wood was given a vacation by the Crocker-Woolworth Bank, are already ancient history.

I am informed that the rating of the Mill Valley postoffice was fraudulently raised so that it paid a salary of $1700 a year. Friends of the postmistress and her protector, representing large firms on this side of the bay, purchased quantities of stamps from Mrs. Tyler and mailed the letters from Mill Valley instead of here. Mrs. Tylor states that she has forwarded her resignation to Washington, but she is circulating a petition for the appointment of her ward, Julia Maddern, for the place. The gentlemen who assisted in buncoing Uncle Sam are likely to be called upon to explain their conduct to the United States District Court.—The Wasp.

There is quite a flutter in the most fashionable set over the latest gambling incident. It shows how fierce is the passion for cards that possesses only too many of our society women. Two ladies occupying a most excellent social position sat down to a game for money, and one lost over $800—all the money she had with her. After her opponent had coolly raked in the amount she suggested that the unlucky lady should put up her diamond necklace in order to win back the money. After a moment's hesitation the lady agreed, only to lose it after a hotly contested game. The winning dowager snapped the diamonds around her own neck and smiled an adieu to the unfortunate friend, who was almost stunned by her loss. Next day her husband appeared at the residence of the winning lady and purchased his wife's necklace for a cash consideration.—The Wasp.

Two recent events have stirred Berkeley society to its social center. H. S. Brashfield, chef of the University of California Faculty Club, has quit his job. That's number one. Benjamin Ide Wheeler has been taken into the innermost circles of the Republican party at Chicago, and has assisted as a philologist in the preparation of the platform and other campaign documents. That's number two. The University faculty is divided upon the question of the relative importance of the two events—for events they are, not mere incidents. I am with those who are of the opinion that the withdrawal of Brashfield as purveyor for the learned epicures is fraught with more importance to the college in the foothills than the interjection of Wheeler into the Republican Party. For eight years past Brashfield has catered to the palates of the instructors at Berkeley, and well has he succeeded in his task. But success inflated him with some idea of his own importance, and when his salary of $60 was cut down to $55 a month or so ago, he really had the temerity to protest. Evidently he is one of those undeveloped souls who do not appreciate the honor of serving men of distinction. He prefers coin to culture. As his protest proved unavailing, he resigned. Now he has opened an eating house of his own, and hopes to get rich, because, says he, the professors were pampered by him for years; now they can't get along without him, and he intends making them pay heavy tolls for his toothsome dishes. He is a deep one, this Brashfield.—News Letter.

The selection of Tim Spellacy by the Democratic State Central Committee as its chairman was a coup of Lane's—Franklin K.—who suggested his name the morning he was selected. The country delegations came to see Lane and ask his advice as to whom should be chairman, as they did not want McGee, for some reason or other, so Lane suggested their taking Spellacy, and Spellacy was given the place. McNab thought the idea a good one as soon as it was called to his attention, and the result is that Mr. Spellacy has a chance to show whether he knows as much about politics as he undoubtedly does about oil. If he can carry this State for the Democratic nominee, he will be able to get the nomination for Governor, for from present appearances he has only fifty or sixty thousand to overcome, and a man who can do that can command anything the Democrats have to offer.—News Letter.

Many people have made journeys to Joaquin Miller's "Heights." A number of them are literary folk who have returned and written descriptions of their visits. But if Elbert Hubbard's book is a fair sample of his literature he is not to be classed among even the poorest of writers, despite his "Message to Garcia." Of all the "descriptions" which it has been my ill-fortune to read, however, not one has been within seventeen miles of a shadow of the truth. Just why the people who visit Miller cannot tell the truth about their visits is rather more than my limited intelligence can understand. Joaquin Miller and his "Heights" are interesting just as they are, without exaggerating them in the least. In dress, manner and speech, Miller is characteristic to the limit; and his home on the hill-side above Fruitvale is a romantic place without the necessity of trying to make it so. Both may be described with absolute truth, as far as one may know it, and the description be mighty good reading to even the illiterate—if they be not so illiterate but that they can read. It is true—and a blessing 'tis 'tis true—that we do not all see a thing exactly alike. But certainly men and women of wit and understanding must see things with some degree of similarity, and therefore should be able to tell of what they see with some degrees of uniformity. Yes, they should—but by the beard of the prophet, they don't—when it comes to the telling of a little journey to Joaquin Miller, whether they tell it on "hand-made" paper, bound into a freak book, or in the columns of a news journal.—Town Talk.

WANTS A BROAD PLATFORM.

FORMER CONGRESSMAN CANNON DOES NOT WANT TO CHASE RAINBOWS.

ST. LOUIS, July 2.—"I do not contend for a reaffirmation of the Kansas City platform," said Former Senator Cannon, chairman of the Utah delegation, who eight years ago in this city walked out of the Republican National convention because of its repudiation of bi-metallism. Continuing, he said:

"I have not changed my principles, and a failure of the Democratic party to specifically reindorse any one plank of any one platform does not indicate that the party has changed. I only say that we want a platform broad enough for all Democrats to stand on, and if we get that I shall be satisfied. Idealist though I am, I do not want any more rainbow chasing. Of that we have had enough. We want a candidate who can lead and with such a candidate and a platform dealing with the live questions of the day we will have a chance to put some of our doctrines into laws, which is more important than a century of abstract theorizing."

Mr. Cannon is a supporter of Senator Gorman, but his delegation is divided in their preferences.

SAY FOLEY IS ROBBER.

BELL AND THIRDS SAY HE IS THE MAN WHO BEAT AND ROBBED THEM.

Edward Foley, known among his intimates as "Chick" Foley, was taken into custody this morning on a charge of grand larceny growing out of the allegations made by James Thirds and W. H. Bell that they were beaten and robbed in broad daylight, near Third and Filbert streets yesterday.

The two men who allege that they were robbed admit to having taken several drinks. They positively identify Foley as the man who beat and robbed them. They further state that Foley was one of the men in the saloon who watched them closely while they were drinking.

Judge Geary suspended judgment in the cases of Thirds and Bell, who were charged with drunkenness.

Foley denies that he was engaged in the highway business. He is known to the police as a hard character, but not as a criminal.

FORFEITS ROETH'S BAIL.

FORMER SUPERVISOR AND COUNCILMAN PENDLETON WERE INTERESTED PARTIES.

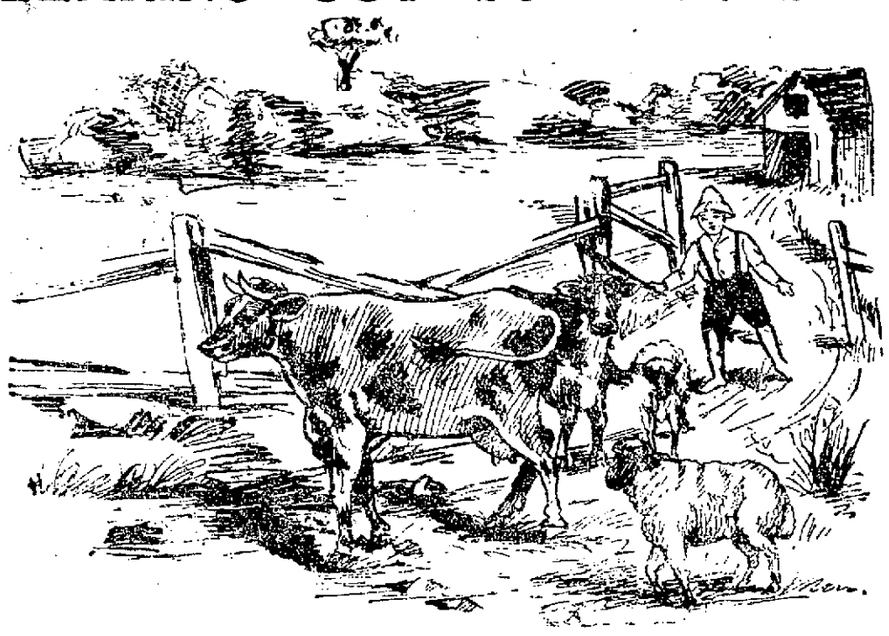

Charles Roeth, formerly a supervisor, but now following the more peaceful pursuit of a contractor, was before Judge Geary, sitting for Police Judge Smith, this morning, charged with failure to maintain a light on building material on Piedmont avenue. What made his case bad was the fact that Councilman Pendleton and his wife had driven over the aforesaid building material and were much interested in seeing the law enforced.

It was the intention of the former supervisor to fight the case to the bitter end.

Judge Geary dispatched justice so speedily, though, this morning that when the contractor arrived in court his case was disposed of. His bail had been forfeited.

Roeth said that his light had merely gone out and it was not his intention to break any one's neck by failure to comply with the ordinance.

WATER COMPANY SECURES RESTRAINING ORDER.

County Tax Collector Cannot Sell the Property of the Company for Taxes.

A temporary restraining order was served upon County Tax Collector James B. Barber this morning ordering him not to take steps towards selling any of the delinquent property of the Contra Costa Water Company until the matter can be heard in the courts. The order was issued by Superior Judge Thomas P. Graham of San Francisco and the Tax Collector is cited to appear in court on the 11th day of July, or as soon after as it is convenient to hear the matter, and show cause why this should not be made a permanent injunction.

In its complaint the Water Company states that it has not paid its taxes for the reason of the excessive and unfair valuation placed upon its property by Assessor Dalton who, this year has assessed the waters of Lake Chabot and the Temescal reservoirs at $945,000. It also states that money to the extent of $16,650 and solvent credits to the amount of $147,000 have been assessed, whereas on the first Monday in March it had no money and solvent credits not to exceed $120,000. It is set forth in the complaint that all reasonable action was taken by the company to have the amounts reduced, but that its request in this matter was refused.

Asked what he intended to do in the matter Tax Collector Barber said:

"I have turned the papers in the case over to the District Attorney and shall follow his advice in the matter. This, however, I take it, is a mere formality. I did not examine the papers but the order looked conclusive enough to me and I do not see that there is anything to do but to obey it."

In all there is $105,000 in taxes charged up against the Contra Costa Water Company which are now delinquent. The main cause of complaint the company has, is in the assessment of the water in its reservoirs. This it complains is a new departure and has raised its assessment nearly $1,000,000. It also makes the technical objection that the Assessor has assessed half the water in the San Leandro reservoir in Brooklyn Township for $450,000 and the other half in Eden Township for $450,000. While it admits that the lake is in both these townships it states that the dividing line does not go through the center of the lake and there was a mistake made in giving to each of the townships an equal share of the assessment.

In giving its reason for considering this assessment unjust the complaint sets forth that the San Leandro reservoir or Lake Chabot and the Temescal reservoirs were both made by damming up the bed of a creek; that water is flowing in and out of these reservoirs and that it is not standing water and cannot be assessed any more than the waters of a brook. It acknowledges that there might be a distinction where there is a lake of standing water which becomes a part of the realty upon which it stands but denies that the water in these reservoirs comes under the same heading.

The complaint and restraining order are drawn up by and presented by Attorneys Francis J. Henry, Garrett W. McEnerney and John Garber, the Water Company's attorneys.

ENGLISH LAD WINS THE DERBY

Moharib Came in Second and Elwood Was Third.

ST. LOUIS, July 2.—English Lad, at 7 to 20, won the Derby at the fair grounds today; Moharbit, 3 to 1, second; Elwood, 15 to 1, third. Time, 2:36¾.

The crowd began to arrive early at the fair grounds today to see the nineteenth renewal of the St. Louis Derby, the big mile and a half race for three-year-olds, who will compete for the $17,000 stake. A bright sky early gave way to a cloudy atmosphere, but the weather was pleasant and warm, and the indications long before the racing began were that the attendance would be record-breaking.

Following are the starters in weights, jockeys and betting:

English Lad, 127 (Dominick), even
Elwood, 127 (Henry), 5 to 1.
Moharib, 125 (W. Fisher), 3 to 1.
Bayland, 119 (Troxler), 10 to 1.
Prince Silver Wings, 115 (Watson), 6 to 1.

Just before the race Prince Silver Wings was scratched.

POPULISTS WILL MEET.

CONVENTION WILL BE CALLED TO ORDER NEXT MONDAY.

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., July 2.—For[illegible] of Georgia, who was Bryan's running mate on the Peoples party ticket in 1896, will not have the Presidential nomination by the National convention of the Peoples party which meets in this city next Monday, offered him as a gift. In fact, there seems to be good prospects of a lively contest for first place on the ticket.

From members of the National Committee and other leading Populists, who have arrived for the convention, it seems that former United States Senator William V. Allen of Nebraska may prove a strong candidate, though his State took no action toward endorsing him. Others who are spoken of as candidates for the nomination are Samuel A. Williams of Vincennes, Ind., who was endorsed by the Allied Peoples party, or middle of the road faction in the Indiana State convention, and S. H. Pierson of Parkersburg, W. Va., who was endorsed by the same faction of the West Virginia State convention.

AT THE POSTOFFICE.

There will be only one delivery of carriers at the postoffice on Monday it being a legal holiday.

RUSSIANS RUN AWAY.

Made a Short Fight and Then Beat a Retreat.

LIAO YANG (Headquarters of Gen Kuropatkin), 3 p. m., July 2.—A correspondent of the Associated Press, who has just returned from the headquarters of Count Keller's corps, reports on Wednesday a Japanese division advanced by a tortuous defile about thirty miles east of Liao Yang. Gen. Keller had no artillery posted, but had stationed three battalions of infantry along a crest commanding the pass.

An obstinate fight followed and lasted the whole night.

The Russians lost fifty men and the Japanese casualties were larger. On Thursday morning Gen. Keller retired successfully, withdrawing his men from the narrow defiles.

A most complete change of plans was displayed by the Japanese on Friday in retiring upon Hoi-Chan. Gen. Keller, in the meantime, had been reinforced by artillery and he harassed the Japanese rear. Owing to the heavy rains the movements of the guns and transport wagons were exceedingly difficult.

It is believed that the Japanese lost an opportunity for attack on Liao Yang by cutting the Russian lines of communication.

The rains render it imperative to suspend operations.

HARVARD WINS AT BASEBALL.

NEW YORK, July 2.—Harvard's baseball nine outplayed Yale at all points in the deciding game of their series, which was played at the polo grounds today. Each side had won a game, and today's victory by a score of 5 to 0 decided the tie in Harvard's favor.

Although the deciding game between the Harvard and Yale baseball teams was scheduled for an early hour today, there was a big gathering of spectators at the Polo grounds long before the collegians began their preliminary work.

The weather conditions were excellent and the grounds were in fine condition. The colors of the rival colleges seemed to be distributed among the enthusiasts in the grand stand, and the students aided by hundreds of graduates, kept up an almost continuous din, singing their college songs, interspersed with partisan cheers.

Score:

WILL BE SOLD AT AUCTION.

Final Decree is Entered Against Shipbuilding Company.

TRENTON, N. J., July 2.—Judge Lanning signed a final decree in the United States Circuit Court today ordering a sale of the United States Shipbuilding Company in the foreclosure proceedings instituted by the Mercantile Trust Company on two mortgages held by them for $16,000,000 and $10,000,000 respectively.

Accompanying the decree, he filed an order dismissing the appeal of Mrs. Ida E. Wood of New York, who asked to be admitted as a party defendant, that she might attack the validity of the mortgages with a view of entering a preference claim over the rights of the other bondholders. She holds $200,000 on bonds for which she paid $195,000.

The total amount due on the mortgage held by the Mercantile Trust Company as trustee for the bondholders is $16,153,162.

On that of the New York Security and Trust Company $10,706,943 is due.

In this decree Judge Lanning also fixed the minimum amount which the receiver is authorized to accept for the properties of the underlying companies in the trust. These amounts are as follows:

Three hundred thousand shares of the Bethlehem Steel Company, $7,500,000; Union Iron Works, California, $3,500,000; Hyde Windlass Company, Maine, $125,000; Bath Iron Works, limited, Maine, $300,000; Crescent Shipyard Company, New Jersey, $125,000.

Samuel L. Moore & Sons Company, New Jersey, $174,000; Eastern Shipbuilding Company, Connecticut, $125,000; Harlan & Hollingsworth Company, Delaware $550,000, Canada Mfg. Co., $200,000; patent rights, good will, book accounts and contracts, $50,000.

Mortgages, personal property of the Bath Iron Works $10,000; Crescent Shipyard Company, $75,000; Samuel L. Moore & Sons Company, $30,000; Eastern Shipbuilding Company $50,000; Harlan & Hollingsworth Company $135,000.

The shipbuilding company is ordered by the decree to turn over the total amount due on the two mortgages within ten days in default of which the receiver is authorized to advertise and proceed with the sale.

WHAT SCOTT SAYS.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 2.—Henry T. Scott, of the Union Iron Works says the decree of the Circuit Court will not in any manner affect the operation of the western plant. As yet no receiver has visited this property, but there has hardly been time for such action to be taken and further developments in regard to local interests are expected.

NO FUSION IS WANTED.

LOUISVILLE, July 2.—The State convention of the Peoples party set for today for the purpose of selecting delegates to the National convention, was not held but it was announced from the headquarters of J. O. Parker that the men who will represent Kentucky at the National gathering probably would be as announced before. Without the formality of a convention.

According to Mr. Parker, the delegation will be instructed for Hon. Thomas E. Watson of Georgia, if he will accept, and if not, they will vote for Judge Williams of Indiana, who is a candidate.

EBELL CLUB HAS SECURED THE LOT.

The Ebell Society has finally decided upon the location for its new home and yesterday consummated the purchase of a lot on Harrison street, near Fifteenth. The purchase price was $7380 and a deed transferring it from Mary Moody to the Ebell Society was filed for record today at the request of Mrs. Z. T. Gilpin.

In speaking of the purchase today, Mrs. Gilpin said: "This is the first step taken towards the erection of a permanent home for the club. When we can raise sufficient money I presume the building will be erected. At any rate, we now have the lot. The final details were adjusted yesterday and the deed drawn up."

The lot in question is a fine piece of property in a desirable part of the city. It is 82x150 feet and faces on Harrison street not far from the Episcopal Church.

ST. LOUIS, July 2.—Judge Elmer B. Adams, of the United States District Court, today granted United States Senator Joseph R. Burton, of Kansas, convicted of accepting money from a company under investigation by the postoffice department, an appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 2.—E. C. Drake, who had been identified with the business interests of San Francisco since 1852, died today. He was engaged in the clothing business in the early days and in 1878 established the Drake advertising agency, from which he realized a competence.

WOODLAND, Cal., July 2.—The jury in the Woods murder case returned a verdict today of manslaughter. The jury was out forty-eight hours. The verdict was a compromise, two or three having first held out for acquittal.

Woods shot Verne Rogers in the hills of Capay valley on February 20th last. Wood will appear on July 11th for sentence.

BUTCHER TAKES HIS LIFE.

AFTER TAKING A DRINK HE FIRES BULLET INTO HIS HEAD.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 2.—"Good-bye, old man. I'm going to Chicago," said Jacob Steiner, a butcher, employed at the Bay City Market at 2138 Market street, a few minutes before he ended his life. He had just taken a glass of beer in the saloon of Carpenter & Williams at 1016 Polk street. After saying these words, he shook hands with the bartender and handed him $5 to give to his wife. He then went into a room in the rear of the saloon, and placing a revolver to his ear, sent a bullet into his brain. When found he was sitting on a bench and a 38-calibre revolver lay near at hand.

Arthur Williams, one of the proprietors of the saloon where Steiner killed himself, said that the man acted queerly when he entered the place, but seemed to be in a happy frame of mind.

Mrs. Jacob Steiner, when seen at her home this morning, said that her husband left home early this morning, but returned at about 9 o'clock. He kissed his little ones an affectionate farewell, and when his wife asked the cause of his gloom, he replied, "Oh, it's my feet, they are wretched this morning."

KICKED IN HEAD BY A HORSE.

STOCKTON, Cal., July 2.—James Gillis, the pioneer farmer and steamboat men and president of the Union Transportation Company, was kicked in the head by a vicious horse early this morning at his ranch three and one-half miles east of Stockton, sustaining injuries from which he died about fifteen minute later.

The deceased, who was 77 years of age, came to California in 1851, and to this county in 1864. Previous to removing to this county he mined successfully about Columbia, and carried on a merchandising business at Sonora, amassing quite a fortune. During the early part of his residence in this town he was elected president of the California Navigation & Improvement Co., but later started a competing line of steamers known as the Union Transportation Company. Besides a widow, four daughters and a son are left. The deceased leaves quite a large estate.

DELAY IN OPENING "ARCADE" SHOP.

The new barber place, which is to be known as the Arcade, at 465 Eleventh street, and which was to have been inaugurated today, has not, as yet, been able to open its doors, but it will before long be ready to cater to the best trade in the business. The delay in opening has been occasioned by the elaborateness of the decoration and furnishing with which the enterprising proprietor, John Tisch of the Central Bank barber shop, is supplying the place. The opening day will be announced later.

Mr. Tisch's Central Bank shop will not be opened for business next Monday, July 4th. He has decided to close his place on that day and enable his men, under full pay, to celebrate the day as they may elect. This is the first time that this has been done in Oakland.

WHERE TO GO ON FOURTH OF JULY.

[illegible] them to look for some place outside of the city in which to spend the national holiday the railroads are offering unusual inducements this year in the way of reduced rates and extra service, all of them offering unusually [illegible]

The California Northwestern Railway over whose line many of the noted resorts of Sonoma, Lake and Mendocino counties are reached have some tempting offers in the way of rates to different points on their line. To accommodate patrons who wish to spend the Fourth at Camp Vacation or in that vicinity a special train will leave there at 7 p. m. on the evening of July 4th, arriving at San Francisco at 10:45 p. m. A special connecting with this train will leave Glen Ellen on the Sonoma Branch at 8:15 p. m.

The North Shore has arranged special rates to all points on their line which include such popular places as Lagunitas, Camp Taylor, Tocaloma, Camp Meeker, Monte Rio and Casadero. The regular Sunday schedule of this road will be followed also on Monday, July 4th, and a extra train will leave San Francisco 7:15 p. m. on Saturday for Point Reyes.

The lines of the Santa Fe and Southern Pacific Company, both offer many inducements to visit resorts reached over these railroads, and have arranged special rates for round-trip tickets for Friday until Tuesday.

BIG FOREST FIRE.

YOSEMITE, Cal., July 2.—A forest fire started last night at the foot of Mount Starr King. At first it was thought that it was only a camp fire but this morning it had spread over a considerable area. Guardian J. F. Stevens sent a gang of men up this morning and is getting a second crew together to send up later.

AN ACTOR BURIED.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 2.—The remains of C. P. Flockton, the veteran actor who died yesterday, were cremated today at Cypress Lawn Cemetery. The ashes will be sent to his old home on Prince Edward Island. Mrs. Leslie Carter and the others of the company with which he was playing attended the funeral.

FLYNN A CANDIDATE.

Morris Flynn of the Third Ward today made a formal announcement of his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Assemblyman for the Forty-ninth District. Mr. Flynn is at present employed in the United States Transport service in San Francisco. He was formerly employed in this city as a foreman painter for P. N. Kusa.

TRIED TO THRASH A POLICEMAN.

OFFICER ANDREWS USES A CLUB ON J. G. SHEILL'S HEAD.

J. G. Sheill of Seventh and Bay streets was brought to the Receiving Hospital this afternoon by Policeman D. Andrews to have a badly lacerated head sewn up and bandaged. Sheill was under the influence of liquor and raising a disturbance at his home. Mrs. Sheill came out of her house and called upon the police for protection. Answering her call, Andrews took Sheill into custody. The latter immediately took it into his head to thrash the policeman. He came out second best in the mix-up, but in order to subdue him Andrews had to use his club freely and made Sheill's scalp look like a chopping block.

A few stitches and some bandaging made Sheill ready to resume his travels and he was taken to the police station and charged with disturbing the peace and battery upon an officer.

KUROPATKIN IS HANDICAPPED.

TIEN TSIN, July 2.—It is reported here that in speed trials conducted recently outside of Port Arthur by the Russian battleships Czarevitch and Retvizan these vessels developed twenty knots, and this is taken to prove that the repairs made upon them were successful.

It is declared here that 32,000 Russian troops are engaged in guarding railroad communications and that the consequent scarcity of troops at the disposition of General Kuropatkin prevents him from taking active steps against the enemy. The possible fall of Port Arthur is considered to be of less importance than the guarding of railroad communications.

MARY L. CORBIT WANTS A DIVORCE.

Alleging that her husband deserted her a year ago, Mary L. Corbit had Attorney E. Trefethen begin an action for divorce this morning against John Corbit on the ground of desertion. She also asks that she be allowed to resume her maiden name of Mary L. Norman.

Just about a year ago John Corbit brought suit against his wife in order to recover a piece of property from her. He purchased a piece of improved realty on Eighteenth street, near West, for $2500 from a man by the name of Upson and Mrs. Corbit had the deed made out in her name.

In his complaint Corbit states that the money with which he bought the land was his own separate property and that he intended that the deed should be made out in both their names. Instead of this, however, he claims that she had it made out in her own name alone. The suit never came to trial but was afterwards dismissed. Corbit then left his wife. There are no children.

FIRED FIVE SHOTS.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 2.—Edward Giblen, who swore to the complaint charging the negroes Williams and Smith with the murder of Anthony Owen Gallagher, a union stableman striker, last Saturday night, also swore at the Gallagher inquest that he himself never carried a pistol. Today he fired five shots at a peanut vendor on Poly street, near Cedar avenue, because he was foiled in an attempt to rob the man.

LOS ANGELES, July 2.—A special to the Times from Yuma, says:

A brutal killing occurred within two miles of this city today. Eugene Tourtelotte emptied the contents of a double-barrelled shotgun into the body of Pat Devine, after breaking a rifle over his head. The trouble occurred during a discussion as to which was the better shot. Both had been driving. They are well known all over the territory. Devine had considerable money on his person, and it is now missing. The coroner's jury held Tourtelotte

JAPANESE CHARGED.

They Are Accused of Mutilating the Bodies of Russians.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 2.—The Journal de St. Petersburg, the semi-official organ of the Foreign Office, prints this morning one of its infrequent editorial articles dealing with official denial by the Japanese government of the reports of the mutilation of Russian wounded. The article says:

WOUNDED WELL TREATED.

"A simple denial is not exculpation. We do not deny that our wounded are well treated at Sasebo and other Japanese cities, where well organized hospitals are operated under the eyes of Europe; but on the field of battle, when the Russians are forced to abandon the wounded, a cruel fate awaits them, as their agonized cries cannot be heard in Europe.

MUTILATED RUSSIANS.

"A photograph has been taken by Dr. Stankovitch of General Misthenko's division, showing horribly mutilated Russians, with hands cut off and tongues cut out and pierced by thongs. An officer was found in a pitiable condition, but still breathing. He was restored to consciousness and said he had been fired upon deliberately by a Japanese soldier. His deposition, signed by the Russian authorities, and several military attaches, will soon be in our possession."

JAPANESE HONOR.

Gen. Romanoff has made a detailed report upon the subject to the Red Cross and Prince Jaime de Bourbon has furnished testimony regarding the battle at Vang Chow.

"In the face of such grave acts, we think an indignant denial will not suffice to give the Japanese honor.

"We have reason to believe that the Japanese massacre and mutilate the wounded, but treat well for the eyes of Europe those remaining after the massacres.

"The proportion of the dead to the wounded will prove much that it is hardly possible to determine, but sooner or later the truth will come out.

TURKISH ATROCITIES.

"During the Turko-Russian war the Turkish atrocities were incredible. When on the march, General Skobeleff came upon half naked and horribly mutilated Russians, who said to the English correspondents, 'Behold, gentlemen, an instructive spectacle. Let the people of your country know what they are sustaining.'

"In this dilemma the Japanese must prove, but not by affirmation or allegations made against them are false, or bear the indelible disgrace which would prove, but not by affirmation, allegation cannot pass suddenly from a state of cruel barbarism to one of civilization by means of purely technical skill without passing through the incomparable school of 1900 years of Christianity, which, perhaps, is the most valuable possession of Europe.

"In any case, the Japanese may be certain of one thing, that Russia will never have recourse to reprisals which would be against every instinct of our nation."

Signs of a Democratic Renaissance

Upon one point at least the Democrats can congratulate themselves. The convention that is to assemble in St. Louis next week shows a marked tendency to return to the dignity of former days and to a revival of the interest in those ideals for which the party stood for nearly a century and which commanded respect if not adhesion till they became a cloak for the sinister purposes of the slave oligarchy.

It is significant of this reaction in the party that Jefferson will be the only one of the great party leaders who will be paid the honor of having his picture displayed upon the walls of the convention. This is both fitting and proper, for Jefferson was the founder of the Democratic party and in the city in which the convention will assemble there is now in progress a great international exposition to commemorate the centennial anniversary of the most signal and far-reaching act of statesmanship of Thomas Jefferson's career.

Thus the party in honoring its founder and patron saint, delicately gives intimation of its abjuration of the paternal and socialistic heresies which have lately claimed its devotion.

While the Democrats have only a remote chance of winning the Presidency, they have by their changed attitude partially lifted the party from the degraded position to which it has sunk under the leadership of Bryan. Once more it can claim and command respect and be a positive force in the nation. By ceasing to be merely a discordant and incoherent negation it is in a fair way to become once again a united and influential opposition—a most necessary thing in a popular government.

It is a good thing for the country that the saner and more conservative elements in the Democratic party will be in control at St. Louis, for the temporary supremacy of the radical and revolutionary element was rapidly tending toward raising class rather than economic issues in politics.

So long as the sober sentiment of the country was united in the belief that the first duty was to prevent the forces of disorder and empiricism from getting the upper hand in the government, the Democratic party could not sustain the role of a respectable and reliable opposition. If it could not be trusted to be a balance wheel in legislation, a watchful critic of administration, still less could it be trusted with the task of governing. So pronounced was this feeling that great numbers of the ablest and clearest-headed members of the Democratic party refused to actively affiliate with it for several years. This class will be prominent at St. Louis and will impress their views on the convention. This will in turn impress the country.

It is odd that while the little bosses of Tammany are booming George B. McClellan for President, the big boss of Tammany is talking as hard as he can for Cleveland. It looks as if the McClellan boom is merely a hot air expansion arranged by a coterie of politicians in New York who have received patronage favors at the hands of the Mayor.

The suggestion that James D. Phelan be given the nomination for Vice-President by the Democrats is taken quite seriously in some quarters. It has evoked some highly commendatory articles in the newspapers, Republicans vieing with Democrats in saying a good word for San Francisco's ex-Mayor. The San Jose Mercury and the Santa Cruz Sentinel both warmly commend the proposition to give Mr Phelan the nomination. The Alameda Argus also passes the boost along. While Mr Phelan deserves the honor suggested for him, there is little likelihood of his getting it. The California delegation was elected primarily to work and vote for the nomination of William R. Hearst. By taking up a Vice-Presidential candidate from this State the delegates would be assisting in defeating their scheme to nominate Hearst. The nominees for President and Vice-President cannot come from the same State, and taking up Mr. Phelan would be equivalent to dropping Mr. Hearst.

Political Changes in Mexico

Almost simultaneously with the Presidential election in the United States, Mexico will choose General Diaz for another term. There is a far smaller element of doubt as to the outcome of the Mexican election than there is to the result in this country, as certain as Mr. Roosevelt appears to be of re-election.

There is practically no organized opposition to Diaz, who is now a candidate for a seventh term. Recent laws have lengthened the Presidential term from four to six years. The office of Vice-President has been created. This enables Diaz to practically name his own successor. His running mate is Ramon Corral, Minister of the Interior, a political confidant and protege of the veteran ruler of Mexico.

It was supposed for a time that Diaz designed his mantle to fall on Senor Limantour, the financial genius of the Mexican Cabinet, but Limantour is half a Frenchman and was bitterly opposed by many of the political chiefs of the Southern republic. Senor Corral, who is Spanish to the core, does not excite race prejudice nor has he inspired the antagonisms that Limantour has aroused. Hence, Diaz, who desires to perpetuate his policy rather than to secure the elevation of his friends, selected Corral to go on the ticket with him though personally he would probably have preferred Limantour.

It is reported that Diaz, who will enter upon his new term in December, will shortly retire from the active duties of administration leaving the Vice-President to be the real executive head of the government. The actual power of the government will be in Diaz' hands, however, and is likely to remain there till the end of his days. Another may appear to be acting as President, but he will only be ruling as the deputy of Diaz, who is by far the greatest constructive statesman Mexico has ever produced.

The Sacramento Bee says there is nothing to hinder Harriman and his associates from buying a majority of the stock of the Santa Fe, if they have the money and are willing to pay the price. Neither is there anything to hinder the Southern Pacific Company buying outright a controlling interest in the stock of the Santa Fe. The Pennsylvania Railroad a good while ago inaugurated the policy of buying up the control of competing lines and leaving them to be operated separately. By degrees the control of the Baltimore and Ohio, Chesapeake and Ohio and the Norfolk and Western were thus secured. No matter how much the stock of those roads may fluctuate in the market, the ownership and management never change. There is no merger, but the control is vested by stock interest in the Pennsylvania road.

Recently a woman died in the County Hospital at Denver, aged 86, who had the unique distinction of giving birth to fifteen pairs of twins. It is rather discouraging for the mother of thirty children to end her days as an indigent. Perhaps this poor woman was too busy bringing children into the world to rear them properly.

The Democrats are eager to amend the Republican platform. They evidently are nervous about going again st a pat hand.

Jones of Arkansas rises from the backseats to announce that Bryan will not bolt. Let's see, what was it that happened to Jones?

A Plea for Decency and Candor

We can heartily say amen to this from the Los Angeles Times:

"Every Presidential campaign ought to be a campaign of education, in which the principles and policies advocated by the contesting parties could be discussed in candor and good faith on both sides—on all sides. Those principles and those policies which are supported by the strongest arguments should win before the high tribunal of American public opinion. That many things will be said in the heat of a campaign which would better be left unsaid, is perhaps inevitable. But there is no more sense in dragging a campaign down to the level of a mere vulgar squabble for advantage, in which principles are almost wholly lost sight of, and lies and villification are indulged in indiscriminately. We have had such campaign in the past. Let us hope we shall have no more of them, for they are a disgrace to American politics and a reproach to the American name."

A campaign of dignity, cleanliness and intelligent discussion of the claims of opposing parties and candidates will tend not only to better feeling, but to the higher development of our political institutions. Claptrap, personal detraction and misrepresentation are only devices for deluding and misleading the voters and to confuse them as to the real issue they are called upon to settle, and are therefore inherently vicious and antagonistic to government of the highest type.

More than half the delegates to the St. Louis convention are uninstructed, but that by no means implies that they are without preferences or have formed no decided opinion as who should be nominated. The average convention correspondent writes of the uninstructed delegate as if he were a numbskull and an ignoramus. Among the uninstructed delegates are some of the shrewdest and most experienced politicians in the Democratic party.

SOME PASSING JESTS.

Not Quite Settled.

Miss Truesoe—Am I to understand, papa, trat everything is settled in regard to my wedding?

Mr. Truesoe—Yes, my dear, everything—but the bills.—Chicago Journal.

Beating the Audience.

"I see that you have the villain hissing defiance every two or three pages," said the stage manager.

"Yes," answered the playwright, wearily; "when it comes to hissing I want the villain to have a good start on the audience.—Washington Star.

Still Waiting.

"There's a girl who has had twelve offers of marriage."

"Mercy!"

"And she's been waiting five years for the thirteenth."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

CLOSE RACE.

Tom—And so you won on the last race?

Harry—Yes; but the finish was so close that I would have lost if the other horse had stuck out his tongue.—Kansas City Journal.

TOO STINGY.

"Why did you quit the Richleys, Jane?"

"It was the stinginess of 'em, mum. I was a-lookin' out me kitchen window one day, when the mistress comes in and says that she's give a penny for me thoughts—and them millionaires, mound you'"—Detroit Free Press.

CALLING CARDS.

Miss Kate—(In stationery store)—What kind of cards do you think are the best for calling?

The New Clerk (absently)—I prefer four aces.—Chicago Journal.

MEETING ADJOURNED.

"Who was it," shouted the suffrage leader, "who was it that did the most to elevate woman?" Far down the aisle a little chap blinked his eyes and drawled, "Why, the man that invented those high French heels." And then the meeting adjourned.—Chicago News.

WHY HE WAS CROSS-EYED.

Boggs—What makes Juggs cross-eyed?

Toggs—When he was a boy he used to go to three-ring circuses.—Princeton Tiger.

THE ANSWER.

A Rose, in tatters on the garden path,
Cried out to God and murmured 'gainst His wrath,
Because a sudden wind at twilight's hush
Had snapped her stem alone of all the bush,
And God, who hears both sun-dried dust and sun,
Had pity, whispering to that luckless one,
"Sister, in that thou sayest we did not well—
What voices heardst thou when thy petals fell?"
And the Rose answered, "In that evil hour
A voice said, 'Father, wherefore falls the flower?
For lo! the very gossamers are still!'
And a voice answered, 'Son, by Allah's will!'"

Then softly as a rain-mist on the sward,
Came to the Rose the answer of the Lord:
"Sister, before we smote the dark in twain,
Ere yet the stars saw one another plain,
Time, Tide and Space, We bound unto the task
That thou shouldst fall and such an one should ask."
Whereat the withered flower, all content,
Died as they die whose days are innocent,
While he who questioned why the flower fell
Caught hold of God and saved his soul from Hell.

—Kipling.

BOGUS ANTIQUES.

William Le Queux notes an amusing growth in Italy of the manufacture of counterfeit antiques.

He says he has stood in more than one sculptor's studio and seen "age" given to marble by a newly discovered process which in twelve hours will give to a statue five hundred times its true value. The greater part of his output is said to be shipped to New York.

According to Mr Le Queux, the largest profit is, however, made on arms and pictures. The armory where the greater part of the "ancient" arms sold by dealers in Italy is forged is in a back street in Leghorn. Here in a couple of tumble-down old blacksmith shops every conceivable kind of armor is made from the fourteenth century helmet or breastplate to "ancient" gauntlets, halberds, swords and daggers.

"I have watched those swords being stamped with the marks of monograms of the well known Spanish armorers of the sixteenth century," writes Mr. Le Queux, "the coronet in a shield of Domingo, the crossed scissors of Sanchez, the half moon of Juan Martin or the star of Gil de Alman, together with good 'selling' Latin inscriptions or owners' names with dates. I have stood by and seen how the steel is treated with acids, how the bronze hilts are painted with some solution to render them old, and how they are placed in troughs of damp earth to induce rust and patina before being sold to the dealers at so much a dozen assorted."

COULDN'T DISLOCATE HIS THEORY.

"Speaking of consistency," said Professor Royce, "there once was a Hindu sage who said everything was illusion, so one day when he was in the middle of a field his friends let a 'bad' elephant loose. The sage ran at the top of his speed and climbed a tree. When the elephant had been secured the wise man's friends gathered under the tree and said:

"'We thought you said everything was illusion?'

"'I did,' said the frightened but still true philosopher.

"'Ah but you ran fast enough when the real elephant pursued you.'

"'You are mistaken again,' said the sage. There was no elephant and I did not run. It was an illusion.'"

MR. TOBIN'S BLOOD CIRCULATED DEATH THROUGH HIS BODY.

Scrofulous Conditions Beyond Power of Physician to Check Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Mr. William Tobin, of No. 20 Smith's court, Newburyport, Massachusetts, a well known engineer, is very enthusiastic over the remarkable change which has occurred in his physical condition. "A few years ago," he says, "scrofula showed itself in the swelling of the glands of my neck and the disease gradually extended until my whole body was affected and I was covered with sores practically from head to foot, little watery puffs kept appearing, growing larger, and finally breaking and discharging a yellow fluid. After a while they would dry up in some places only to break out anew in other parts of my body.

"The physicians who attended me said I had scrofula in its worst form. Their treatment instead of arresting the spread of the disease only caused it to break out more extensively. After I had suffered in this way for four months, my misfortunes were increased by a severe attack of typhoid malaria. For some time I gave up all hope of recovery, but after five weeks the fever was checked and the doctors said the danger point was passed.

"I was still, however, affected as badly as ever with scrofula and it looked as if I never could get rid of that disease. A friend chanced to call on me one day and told me about the excellence of Dr Williams' Pink Pills as a blood remedy. I became interested and bought a box and began to take three doses a day of two pills each until the first box was used up. Then I bought a second box and increased the dose to three pills. At the end of the second box, I noticed that the old sores were healing some and that there were not so many fresh sores breaking out. I kept on using the pills until I had taken ten boxes, and then I was entirely cured. I have had no return of the disease since, and have not lost a day's work through sickness since I was cured by this wonderful medicine."

In cases of scrofula the blood becomes vitiated to such an extent that it is no longer able to build up the body. It carries to every part irritation and decay instead of renewal of life. Dr Williams' Pink Pills relieve in two ways. They stimulate the digestion, which increases proper nourishment, and they introduce into the blood elements that purify and strengthen it. They are sold by all druggists.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

Conceit may be only exaggerated humility.

A miserly man is one who refuses to lend you a few dollars.

Bachelors and spinsters marry because misery loves company.

Any man is willing to share your joys and let you share his sorrows.

Almost any man will accept free advice, but few are willing to utilize it.

The average man firmly believes it is his honesty that keeps him poor.

As a rule women are older than men, but that isn't saying much in their favor.

A lot of useless argument might be avoided if people would candidly admit their ignorance.

When of making books there is an end it appears that of making races there is an end also.

When the opportunity arrives for a man to break into the hero class he is usually taking a nap.

It may be better to be an old man's darling than a young man's slave—yet there are more slaves than darlings.—Chicago News.

SAYINGS OF ROOSEVELT.

We need to produce not genius, not brilliancy, but the homely, commonplace, elemental virtues. The reason we won in 1776, the reason that in the great trial from 1861 to 1865 this nation rang true metal, was because the average citizen had in him the stuff out of which good citizenship has been made from time immemorial, because he had in him courage, honesty, common sense. Brilliancy and genius? Yes, if we can have them in addition to the other virtues. If not, if brilliant genius comes with out the accompaniment of the substantial qualities of character and soul, then it is a menace to the nation. If it comes in addition to those qualities, then of course we get the great general leader, we got in Lincoln, we get the man who can do more than any common man can do. But without much can be done.

People who do us harm in the end are not the wrong-doers whom all execrate; they are the men who do not do quite as much wrong, but who are applauded instead of being execrated. The career of Benedict Arnold has done us no harm as a nation because of the universal horror it inspired. The men who have done us harm are those who have advocated disunion, but have done it so that they have been enabled to keep their political position; who have advocated repudiation of debts or other financial dishonesty, but have kept their standing in the community, who preach the doctrines of anarchy, but refrain from action that will bring them within the pale of the law. For these men lead thousands astray by the fact that they go unpunished or even are rewarded for their misdeeds.

Boasting and blustering are as objectionable among nations as among individuals and the public men of a great nation owe it to their sense of national self-respect to speak courteously of foreign powers, just as a brave and self-respecting man treats all around him courteously. But though to boast is bad, and is useless to insult another worse, yet worse than all is it to be guilty of boasting, even without insult, and when called to the proof to be unable to make such boasting good. There is a homely old adage which runs: "Speak softly and carry a big stick; you will go far." If the American nation will speak softly and yet build and keep at a pitch of the highest training a thoroughly efficient navy the Monroe doctrine will go far.

A Matter of Health

Modern scientific medicine recognizes (1) that disease is most frequently transmitted by dust and dirt, (2) that the ideal method of getting rid of disease germs is by removing them (asepsis) rather than trying to kill them (antisepsis). Fumigations attempt to destroy; the compressed air removes. The simplicity and efficiency of the method will recommend it not only for household purposes, but also where cleaning is necessary as a sanitary measure.

Once Again We Greet You With Our Annual July Sweep

365 days, 5 hours, 48 minutes, and 48 seconds (not including the extras during February) have passed to fill the pages of history, since our last July sweep—one year has spent its tickings upon the dials of our lives since our last distribution of dependable wares. A year—it seems but a month ago, so rapidly does time fly, doubly so during the remaining days of July, when our annual reductions will be in force—for at 8 o'clock a. m., on the morning of Tuesday, July 5th, we will be ready for you—ready as never before. Our wares improve as we keep pace with Father Time and grow older in experience and judgment—our stock this year is better and cleaner than ever before—our pricings are therefore made with a view of keeping up an established reputation than for the purpose of ridding our counters and shelves of merchandise as staple as square cut sugar.

Juvenile Department Reductions

Alameda County mothers have always found our Juvenile Department replete with all they have desired in proper attire for their boys. Constant selling, however, breaks many lines, so these reductions follow:

$2.15 we offer all boys' 2-piece Suits—in Scotch and fancy mixtures—all sizes—suits heretofore sold at $2.45 and up to $2.95, Ready next Tuesday at Two fifteen.

$3.45 gives you your choice of suits in boys' wear. Resisting qualities — beautiful suits, sold before Tuesday at $3.95 to $4.45 and all prices between— after Monday, three forty-five.

$4.35 for all fancy suits, plain shades Scotch Cheviots and everything except blues and blacks—suits sold up to tonight at $4.95 to $5.95 and at all prices between, after Monday at four thirty-five.

FOR BEAUTIFYING HOMES.

HILLSIDE CLUB OF BERKELEY WOULD DEVELOP SIMPLE ARCHITECTURE.

The following circulars have been issued by the Hillside Club of Berkeley:

"Berkeley, Cal., July 1, 1904. To the Improvement and Development Clubs of California:

"The Hillside Club of Berkeley extends greeting and proposes herewith a plan of co-operation for the architectural improvement of the cities and towns of California.

"The Hillside Club has met with encouraging success in developing a local appreciation of good, simple architecture. We suggest if this work does not come within the present field of activity of your association, that you appoint a committee to consider the matter.

"The plan of procedure is a simple one, namely to form a section for studying the art of making homes beautiful, without and within, through natural simple means, and then aiding to carry out this idea in home building in your community.

"The enclosed circular gives an outline of what we are striving for complish. We shall be pleased to send lists of books and magazines which may be helpful, and to assist in any way in our power to further this movement in your section. Respectfully submitted, Charles Keeler, President. Gurdon Bradley, Secretary, 1915 Walnut street:

HILLSIDE CLUB SUGGESTIONS.

"The Hillside Club of Berkeley has for its object the beautifying of the district north of the University grounds. The following suggestions embody the thought of many of its gardens and architecture.

"Streets winding up the hills on easy grades are preferable to streets laid out at right angles, regardless of natural contours. In laying out streets, the preservation of the natural beauties of stream beds and live-oaks is desirable, even at sacrifice of symmetry of the roadway.

"A uniformity in street tree planting is of great importance. No unit less than a block should be considered. Where foliage on the street obstructs the view from houses above, it is suggested that small trees such as hawthorns, birches, or palms, be planted fifty feet apart, and the intervening sidewalk space be uniformly planted in flowers, such as a block of geranium of one color, or of some flowering vine.

"The use of less than fifty feet by one hundred and twenty feet of land for a house is strongly deprecated. The placing of houses on a block of land may well be studied relatively, taking into consideration sunlight, view and general effect of grouping. Thus, if a block had six lots fronting a street, the houses on the two corners might be placed forward and the other four backward on the lot, making a hollow square in front, to be treated in effect like one garden.

"It is suggested that at least a portion of the garden be sequestered, giving the privacy of an open-air room. Japanese and Italian gardens are suggestive along these lines.

"The controlling thought in house building should be simplicity and genuineness. Avoid meaningless and insincere ornament. Build of simple, natural materials, and strive for beauty in mass and proportion, in the concentration and distribution of windows, and in the lines of the roof. A low house can more easily be made picturesque than a high one. Wide eaves are especially to be prized for their shadows.

"Much safer than the oil paint which generally looks hard and characterless in tone, is the natural material left without coating. Clinker-brick, dull stone, or wood left untreated, will all harmonize with the colors of nature, and form a picturesque composition with the surrounding landscape. Shingles are probably the best and safest covering for an inexpensive home, and if left unstained will darken to a soft, unobtrusive color. The house may then be gaily adorned with flowering vines, which can be kept off the walls by screens of wire mesh on timber frames. If plaster is used it may be toned to some warm harmonizing shade by the application of water-color paint. White trimmings unduly emphasize the whole from toning with the hills and the gardens.

"A lower-story southern porch, unroofed, or an eastern porch, sheltered with vines, and large enough to be used as an out-door sitting room, is a great addition to the comfort of the home.

"The use of wood for interior walls, and especially of broad slabs of redwood treated only with a wax dressing, and with more or less of the constructive timbers exposed, is strongly recommended. A large open fireplace of simple material, and without ornament, unless this be specially designed and hand-wrought, is a good keynote for the large living room.

"For general type of architecture, the Swiss chalets, old English, old Nuremberg, old Italian and old Spanish houses may well be studied for suggestion and inspiration.

"In house-planning it is well to consult a good architect, and the Hillside Club has a number of architects taste and ability among its members. But for those who cannot afford an architect, or who wish to plan their own home, the Club is collecting prints, pamphlets and books that will be helpful and suggestive. These books may be seen by consulting Mrs. Potwin, Principal of the Hillside School. The Club, both through its committees and through its individual members, will be glad to assist any one who may apply for co-operation in the matter of planning a home or a garden. The names of the chairmen of the various committees, or other information, will be given to any one who may apply to the Secretary, Mr. Gurdon Bradley, 1915 Walnut street, Berkeley. Charles Keeler, President."

PROMINENT MAN DEAD.

CHICAGO, July 2.—Daniel E. Brush, president of the Live Stock Commission Firm of Brush, Son and Hough Company, and a charter member of the Board of Trade, has died of heart failure in a billiard hall. He was 73 years old. Mr. Brush was stricken while playing billiards. A physician was summoned, but Mr. Brush died before his arrival.

CHOKED THE DOORKEEPER.

NEW YORK, July 2.—After choking the doorkeeper into submission and taking his keys a police captain and three detectives have accomplished an unusual raid on a gambling house in West Thirty-fourth street. Three attendants and four players were captured.

The house had been under police guard several weeks. Finally the captain moved his guard from view and the proprietors were reassured. Taking three trusted men, the captain rang the basement doorbell and was answered by a negro doorman. He was seized and throttled while a gag was slipped into his mouth and handcuffs slapped over his wrists. Then, with keys taken from the prisoner's pockets, the police carefully opened three steel doors and made their way to the upper floors.

So quietly had the work been done that the raiders stood in the darkened hall several minutes and watched the games in operation. Then the officers stepped into the brilliantly lighted rooms and placed every one there under arrest. The raid was the most successful here in some time.

NO DAMAGE DONE.

LONDON, July 2.—According to a dispatch from Tokio to the Central News, only three cruisers of the Vladivostok squadron appeared in Tsu Island channel and the torpedo boats belonging to the squadron had apparently returned to Vladivostok.

Heavy cannonading was heard ashore at half past eight yesterday evening, the dispatch says, but the nature and result of the fight are not known. The Russian ships, however, seem to have suffered no damage, as they were afterwards seen making in a northeasterly direction.

ENTERTAINING FOR MRS. LONG.

Later in the season, when people are home from the summer resorts, there will undoubtedly be a good deal of entertaining in honor of Mrs. Oscar Long who is at Highlands for the summer. Just now the young matron is thoroughly happy and entirely engrossed with her two little girls whom she has not seen since last fall. The two children, by the way, are wearing the prettiest of drooping white mull hats trimmed with wreaths of tiny pink baby roses, for Mrs. Regua has excellent taste in dressing them and they are always in spotless white. Mrs. Long is looking exceedingly well though somewhat thinner, but that is not unbecoming to California girls who are wont to be too stout, Heaven knows—there's something which fills out in this climate and we never realize that we are too plump until we see some svelte young matron return from a season in the East or South. There's Mrs. Richardson, for instance (formerly Elizabeth Gage). She comes home each year from Texas most fascinatingly slender, but, then, she says, the climate there doesn't agree with her.

Mrs. Long always gives a return entertainment at Highlands before she returns to Washington in the late fall, for few of us get so far as that in our wanderings.

LEFT FOR TAHITI.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Walter Scott left Saturday for Tahiti to spend the month of July, at least, and to stay possibly much longer, should Mrs. Scott find the climate agreeable. The steamers run but once a month so it is a case of return after ten days in the islands or stay forty days. Mrs. Scott has not been well and it is hoped that the sea voyage will improve her health. Mr. and Mrs. Scott were accompanied by their young daughter, Adele.

Last Saturday night a little farewell card party was given to Mrs. Scott by Mrs. R. C. Craft of East Oakland. Five hundred was played and there were but twelve guests, all intimate friends of Mrs. Scott. Supper was served afterwards at a large round table and Mrs. Scott, who had already won one of the prizes, was presented with a large jardiniere full of growing four-leaved shamrock for "good luck." The decorations were branches of currants very beautiful with the light shining through them.

HAVE RETURNED FROM TAHITI.

Mrs. A. L. White and Miss Florence White who left for Tahiti the first of May returned on the Mariposa this week. They enjoyed their stay there very much. It was very warm but the dolce far niente life suited them and Miss White for whose health the trip was undertaken, returns considerably stronger.

MRS. HOWARD ENTERTAINS.

Mrs. Ned Howard, who does not entertain very often, gave a delightful luncheon at the Piedmont Clubhouse last week, entertaining a small group of her friends including the Nicholsons Mrs. Rosenfeld and the members of that set. After a toothsome repast, a card game was enjoyed. The day was beautiful and the light gowns and hats of the guests harmonized perfectly with the charming settings of the pretty clubhouse.

THE COOLS TO ENTERTAIN.

Dr. and Mrs. Russell H. Cool have quite a crowd with them at their pretty country home, Dotswood, over the Fourth of July holiday. Mr. and Mrs. Henry K. Field also have a small number of guests at their beautiful fitted camp on the Russian river, the number being limited, however, on account of the rather delicate state of Mr. Field's health. He has not been very robust for some time.

ENTERTAINMENT FOR MRS. BIRMINGHAM.

Mrs. Birmingham, the contralto, has been the motif for at least two luncheons, prior to her departure for St. Louis where she is to sing. At one Mrs. L. L. Dunbar, the wife of the dentist, and an ex-president of Sorosis, was the hostess, at her home in Belvedere and at the other, Mrs. Lester Herrick did the honors. Both ladies are intimate friends of Mrs. Birmingham who has lent her voice, always, to charity and to her friends. After leaving St. Louis, whither she will be accompanied by Mr. Birmingham, Mrs. Birmingham, with her small daughter, will visit Canada, which is Mrs. Birmingham's birthplace for at least a year.

She expects, now, to proceed at once to Bayreuth where she will be under the skillful tuition of Frau Cosima Wagner, to whom she carries letters of introduction from Madam Schumann-Heinck. Mrs. Birmingham has many bright hopes as to her success in the heavy German operas. This is by no means her first trip to Europe. She has been there twice before, each time to study music.

Miss Gertrude Wheeler left this week also for Europe and also on Madame Schumann-Heinck's suggestion. Miss Wheeler, like Mrs. Birmingham, is a contralto and has had experience only in church and concert singing. She will go to Dresden to study under the teacher who brought Schumann-Heinck's wonderful voice to perfection. Both of these contraltos leave large and flourishing classes of music pupils behind them. What a responsibility a successful prima donna assumes when she advises singers to leave their homes and classes to study in Europe. Miss Wheeler will visit friends in New Hampshire for a month and will then be joined by her brother who will chaperone her during her stay abroad. They will set up a little home in Dresden though Schumann-Heinck will be their hostess for a while.

MRS. DANFORTH'S SHOCKING DEATH.

The shocking accident which resulted in the death of Mrs. Eva Danforth, the youngest daughter of Charles Reed, has cast a gloom over her group of friends and was the saddest of news to her elder sister, Mrs. Olive Reed Cushman, the well known New York contralto. Mrs. Danforth was the youngest of the three pretty Reed girls and was always her father's standby and housekeeper. Since her marriage she has lived at home and kept house for him just the same.

How it all happened can never be known, as Mrs. Danforth was alone at the time. It was, however, a thing which might happen to anyone, if it were an explosion, as everyone seems to think. If the lamp was accidentally overturned, that is, of course, a different thing. Everyone sympathizes with the bereaved husband and father, the two sisters and the only and much-loved brother, who is now in Alaska.

Mrs. Danforth was the quietest one of the Reed sisters and the homekeeper, so is not as well known as her older sisters, Olive and Aimee, both of whom are married and have forsaken Oakland as a residence place.

SOME CALIFORNIA WRITERS.

The current magazines of the better class are hospitable to California writers. Margaret Cameron, who evidently intends to keep the name under which she made her first hit, has a story in this month's Harper's, entitled "When the Turtle Turned Loose." This story is honored by having the frontispiece of the July Harper's. It is a light, fluffy, society story, all about a dinner party, with a clever little plot and the sparkling conversation for which Margaret Cameron is noted in real life as well as in her stories. Personally, I do not think the complication so clever as in "The Price of the Past Participle," though the story is of the same order. As usual, the illustrator appears not to have read the story as he dresses the hostess in pink when she was expressly said to have worn white and an amethyst and the guest wears the white frock. However, this is a mere detail and does not matter, though one grows so tired of never having the illustrator follow the author's directions.

Gelett Burgess also appears in the July Harper's with a perfectly impossible and stupid story called "Mrs. Noah's Ark." Gelett Burgess would like to be Frank Stockton, but he cannot be and this particular story fails to carry with it any credence at all. I always think when I read a story like that how much there must be in a name, when Burgess' will carry acceptance for so poor a yarn. Some of the things Burgess has done I like immensely, but this is poor stuff.

In the July Century Miriam Michelson, a San Francisco woman, a sister-in-law of Arthur McEwen and a former Bulletin reporter, has a very clever story of child life, the second of a series, called "The Stories of the Navada Madigans." Miss Michelson evidently knows her Nevada, after the Comstock days, thoroughly, and the stories are interesting, as well done stories of child life invariably are. Miss Michelson has just made something of a hit with her "In the Bishop's Carriage," and seems to have "arrived."

I hear, too, that Mrs. Fremont Older is hard at work on another novel and that Alice Prescott Smith, author of "The Legatee," has one just ready for the press. The Olders, by the way, have left the California Hotel and have taken up their residence at the Palace Hotel. Mrs. Older is very methodical about her work. She works for three hours every morning, spends her afternoons in walking and calling and her evenings in recreation. Her first book, "The Socialist and the Prince," was a good seller. For the present one, I believe, she obtained the material, or at least the local color, during the Olders' recent European trip.

THE JACK WILSONS ENTERTAIN.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wilson gave a very pretty little dinner this week at the red room of the Bohemian Club, which was something of an oasis in the social desert across the bay. The dinner was in honor of Miss Mazie Callaghan of Boston, a friend of Mrs. Wilson's who has been visiting the Wilsons at the St. Dunstan and who was their guest in Yosemite and was Mr. Edward Greenway's guest at a Tamalpais trip recently which Mrs. Wilson chaperoned. The Wilson dinner was small, as everyone is out of town, but among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Cluff, Miss Helen Wagner, Miss Jennie Blair, George Field and Mr. Greenway. The Wilsons have had a charming summer, having made trips to the Grand Canyon of the Colorado and to Yosemite. The injury to his knee which sent Mr. Wilson home from the valley is now happily a thing of the past.

Mr. Wilson, as usual, has the principal part in the Bohemian Club midsummer jinks, but I fancy that he will not spend many days away from his charming wife, to whom he is properly devoted.

GO AWAY FOR THE FOURTH.

Every little country cottage has its visitors for over the Fourth of July. And the stories that will be told when the summer is over and our friends return to civilization. For about the summer guest centers many an interesting tale.

"You can't tell anything about people till they have lived in your household," says the wise little hostess.

There are some summer guests who never under any circumstances would be asked again. They give so much trouble. They are a care to the hostess from the time they arrive till the fortunate hour when they take their departure. How relieved the hostess is when she sees the last of them. They are the people who have no consideration for the hostess. It is up to her to entertain them, that is all. They never for a minute consider her side of the question and that they might reasonably be expected to bring a little entertainment with them.

There is the girl who can sing, and who gets cranky and won't sing, and who requires as much coaxing as a prima donna—you are tired out long before she finally favors the company.

The question of the laundry is a complicated one, and sometimes the hostess has as her guests people who simply pile up linens and dimities till the size of the laundry bill makes her wish for a bonanza.

And there is the man who will persist in using the telephone, communicating with all his friends in town, when a two-cent stamp would serve his purpose exactly as well. He is just the man who would not do that sort of thing, if he had to pay for his own switches. And the telephone bill at the end of the month is a great trial to the poor little hostess.

But she is repaid sometimes by the cheerful guest—the one who knows by intuition when to be in evidence, and when to efface herself—the one who quietly goes about with consideration for others, and making the household the happier because she is there.

The country hostess has troubles of her own in planning for her friends. But sometimes she is repaid, and at the many country homes are formed friendships which last a life time—for at the country home you have lived with your friend—you make no mistake about her—you know her.

VISITORS AT SANTA CRUZ.

More people than usual this year have gone out of town for the Fourth of July holidays, and one wonders where each little country home manages to tuck away all the guests. Santa Cruz has a big boom this year, even though there is little change from our own climate, and along the coast there has been a great deal of fog this month.

One hears a great deal about the tented city on the beach, and it adds immensely to the crowd. Tents are only two dollars and a half a week, so there is plenty of call for them, and they are well managed. An orchestra adds to the gay scene and Santa Cruz seems once more to have come into its own.

The E. J. Cottons and the Frederick Stolps have made up a party, which will spend the Fourth of July holidays at Santa Cruz. All the Corders are at Ocean Villa, and they go on many fishing expeditions in the launch.

Mrs. Corder caught the largest salmon of the season and she is immensely proud of the feat.

Walter Corder joined the family this week, and he will spend some days at Santa Cruz.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee Stephenson, Mrs. Hetty Stephenson and Miss Margaret Sinclair make up a party which will spend some time at the Sea Beach Hotel.

Mrs. Robert Duncan and her children are at Capitola, but they are often seen on the beach at Santa Cruz since the electric car has brought the two places much nearer.

IN COTTAGES AND AT HOTELS.

Ben Lomond is not far from Santa Cruz and a road that is immensely picturesque connects the two cities. It is such a safe road that one may drive over it in comfort, for all the bad places are fenced, and the road has been made wide enough for teams to pass in safety.

Almost every day merry parties from Rowardennan drive down to the beach. And by the way, Ben Lomond and Rowardennan are not used in the correct sense. "Ben Lomond" is the place—meaning of course Mount Lomond—and "Rowardennan" is the hotel, named from a place in Scotland.

Mrs. Horace Hussey is entertaining guests over the holidays. Mrs. Edgar Bishop will have her cottage full of guests, and Miss Cordie Bishop will have with her Miss Anita Oliver and Miss Jones of Honolulu.

At the hotel will be the Clays, the Moseleys, and the Edward Walshes.

One of the largest cottages at Ben Lomond belongs to the E. A. Herons, and the picturesque country home will be crowded with guests for the Fourth of July.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Whenton will go to Rowardennan next week to remain some days.

In the heart of the Santa Cruz mountains is Brookdale, and here are the cottages of the Breeds and the Woodwards.

Mrs. William High and her children have gone to Brookdale and they expect to spend some weeks away.

Mrs. A. L. Adams and her children left town this week and expect to spend the next three weeks at Glenwood in the Santa Cruz mountains.

ON THE RUSSIAN RIVER.

Up in the Russian River district may be found many Oakland people. At Kenwood the John A. Brittons have established a very picturesque camp. They will entertain for the Fourth of July Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kellogg and other relatives.

Mrs. Mauvais and Miss Lulette Mauvais will spend seven weeks this summer at Kenwood.

MRS. KLEEMAN AT HOME.

Mrs. Kleeman and Miss Estelle Kleeman have returned to their Madison street home, after a pleasant stay at Palo Alto. Miss Kleeman spent some years at the Convent of Notre Dame in San Jose, and made many dear friends there. Later years were spent at Mills Seminary, so Miss Kleeman is usually entertaining friends in her home, or visiting them in theirs.

DINNER AT A COUNTRY HOME.

The Frank Havens will start for the East in a few days and they were entertained this week by a sort of farewell dinner by the Wickham Havens. The latter simply love their country home, "Thorndale," and are not among those who sigh for a home in large cities. The large dinner at Thorndale this week was planned with happy effect. The gathering represented a family party and a few intimate friends.

The Wickham Havens are planning to stay at home this year—though indeed you can hardly call it staying at home, when you take long trips to the neighboring towns in an automobile that can be trusted to make time.

MRS. KIMBLE IS BACK.

Mrs. J. C. Kimble and Miss Elsie Kimble have returned from Denver and Los Angeles, and are at the Plymouth in San Francisco. They will make short trips away during the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Chanselor have gone to Santa Cruz for the Fourth of July holidays, and they have taken Miss Elsie Kimble with them.

The Chanselors are entertaining in superb style in San Francisco and this week they entertained a party of old friends at one of the most elaborate dinners of the year.

MISS MILLS TO WRITE A BOOK.

Miss Bessie Mills has given up all social life in San Francisco and has taken herself off to Berkeley, where she is planning to spend a very quiet summer.

Her engagement to Charlie Tripler was recently announced, but as it promises to be a long engagement, she is devoting herself to literature, and is to finish a book this summer.

It is not a novel, but a learned dissertation—something requiring a lot of reading and studying. Well, there isn't much else to do at Berkeley in the summer-time, so the book will probably get itself finished on time.

MRS. CHAPMAN TO GO AWAY.

Mrs. Melvin Chapman and Master Chapman leave early in the week for Rowardennan, where they have taken a cottage for the month of July.

MENDENHALLS AT SAN JOSE.

Mr. and Mrs. Asa Mendenhall, formerly Miss Florence Hatch, have been at the Hotel Vendome, and they have also been among the recent visitors at the Lick Observatory on Mount Hamilton.

After a brief visit to Livermore they will return to town and take up their residence at the Hatch family home on Harrison street.

MRS. CARL S. HORSMAN, BRIDE OF THIS WEEK.

MAGEES TO GO TO DEL MONTE.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Magee leave the latter part of this week for Del Monte, where they will spend the Fourth of July holidays. Mr. Magee will drive down in the famous four-in-hand, and there will be coaching trips over the lovely roads about beautiful Del Monte.

AN INFORMAL TEA.

Mrs. Walter Scott and Mrs. Rynders entertained many friends on Thursday afternoon at a very informal tea—their friends calling to say good-by.

Mrs. Rynders will spend some days in Santa Rosa while the Scotts are away. Their trip to Tahiti will take a month, and they expect to be home early in August.

WILL GO AWAY FOR SUMMER.

Judge and Mrs. Garber and Miss Juliet Garber expect to spend most of the summer away from Berkeley. They will be at Del Monte for the Fourth of July holidays.

Mrs. Charles Houghton and Miss Ruth Houghton will go on Wednesday to Blithedale, where they will spend some time.

Miss Ruth Houghton, who is a very young girl, and a very charming one, too, will probably not make her debut this coming winter. She is a very pretty girl, a sweet, dear girl, very true to her friends, and very few girls are fortunate enough to have so many.

MISS HANLEY IS ENTERTAINED.

Miss Loretta Hanley's visit to Oakland is the motif for many unusually happy gatherings. The series began with an informal dance, at which bright Miss Katherine Brown was the hostess. Miss Brown is another of the very young girls who are scoring honors as successful hostesses, even though they have not yet come out formally in the older society sets. Miss Katherine Brown is regarded as a very stunning girl, but she is something a great deal better than that. She has a great, generous heart—just brimming over with kindness for her friends.

Miss Katherine Brown has been in the East three years, and did all the required work for entrance to Smith College.

But with all the Eastern influences of the three years, she never forgot the friends of her childhood, such friends as Bessie Coghill, Ruth Houghton and Anita Thomson. And so when the latter brought home a school friend, Miss Katherine Brown, promptly planned a unique entertainment, a hop at the Encinal Boat Club.

It was a great success. The boat house was immensely picturesque with palms and Chinese lanterns, and merriment was the order of the hour from the time the orchestra struck up the Virginia Reel till the young people said good night to their generous hostess.

The party was chaperoned by Mrs. Frank L. Brown, who looked exceedingly well in a gown of white linen.

Among the young girls who have grown up together who were invited to the hop, were Miss Ruth Houghton, Miss Ruth Kales, Miss Else Schilling, Miss Pansy Perkins, Miss Lillie Reed, Miss Noelle De Golia, Miss Clarisse Lohse, Miss Arline and Miss Josephine Johnson.

The young girls all wore yachting costumes both appropriate and picturesque.

Late in the evening refreshments were served, and the whole affair was delightful and informal.

LUNCHEON AT PALM KNOLL.

One of the most superbly appointed homes on the coast is "Palm Knoll," the home of Senator Perkins. Some homes lack books, some lack pictures, and some artistic effects—but none of that is true of Senator Perkins' home. The fine old library is a most beautiful room, full of rare books. The pictures represent the highest type of art, and during his recent trip abroad Senator Perkins purchased some very valuable ones. He brought home some exquisite inlaid tables from Venice, and other works of art. The beautiful home makes an exquisite setting for social gatherings.

On all sides you hear of the ease and grace with which Miss Pansy Perkins takes the part of presiding hostess. It is really more than that—she is really a very thoughtful girl, and she personally sees to it that every girl in her home has a good time.

Miss Pansy Perkins gave a most enjoyable luncheon in honor of Miss Loretta Hanley. The large reception room showed superb decorations of American Beauty roses, and the dining room was a fine study in sweet peas, the center piece for the dining room showing a great bowl of pink and red sweet peas.

Miss Perkins wore a handsome French gown in tones of yellow brown; Miss Hanley wore a superb gown of hand-embroidered white chiffon, very beautifully trimmed in superb lace.

Miss Noelle De Golia has had some exceedingly handsome gowns this year, and she looked very pretty indeed in a dainty gown of flowered effect, very beautifully trimmed in lace.

Miss Katherine Brown wore a handsome gown of a white effect, the skirt showing a fine arrangement of Valenciennes lace.

After the luncheon there was an animated game of five hundred, and the pretty prizes were won by Miss Louise Langford and Miss Loretta Hanley.

Miss Maude Henderson has been the guest of Miss Pansy Perkins for some days at Palm Knoll.

Miss Perkins is planning a delightful trip in honor of Miss Henderson and of Miss Loretta Hanley. After the Fourth of July holidays, when some of the young people have returned to town, she will give a yachting party, taking her guests on a most interesting trip to Mare Island.

ROMANTIC MARRIAGE.

In the dailies' story of the romantic marriage of Hortense Steinhart with Hugh Russell of Oakland, it was said that the ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's parents, and was a quiet celebration owing to the Russells' dislike to their son's marrying one of a different religion, says Town Talk. As a matter of fact, the bride's parents were as much astonished as were the bridegroom's people when they heard of the marriage. It was a runaway match, and the young couple did not see it to announce it until six weeks after the event. Miss Beatrice Bromfield, of San Mateo, who was a fellow dramatic pupil of Miss Steinhart at Paul Gerson's school, and later with her in the Neill company, assisted in the ceremony as sole bridesmaid. Mrs. Russell, who is only just out of her teens, is an only daughter. When she went on the stage it was against her parents' will, but as she possessed genuine talent they finally acceded to her wish for a dramatic career. Her latest step seems to have cut that career short. The Joseph Steinhats formerly lived in Stockton, where the main branch of the family still resides. Hortense's mother was a Miss Marks, and is a beautiful woman of rare mental endowments.

AL FRESCO AFFAIRS.

Al fresco affairs are really the order of the hour. The climate makes possible all sorts of out of door affairs, and one does not have to reckon with the rain, as a hostess may safely make dates.

The Tuesday Five Hundred Club is the only card club which is keeping up its meetings this summer. Only each card game is also a picnic outing.

Mrs. J. T. Wright has her niece, Miss Guernsey as her guest, and Mrs. Thomas Pheby entertained in honor of the latter. There was an al fresco luncheon on the wide veranda, and an interesting game of "Bridge" in the picturesque boat house, the whole program making up an ideal summer day.

Mrs. George Rodolph is planning a "picnic tea" in honor of Mrs. George Martin of Berlin, who used to be her schoolmate. There will be an interesting gathering of old friends in the Rodolph garden, where afternoon tea will be served.

SPENDING SUMMER AT HOME.

The Wallace Everrons are spending the summer at home this year, and are much enjoying the charming bungalow in their pretty garden, where tea is served every afternoon.

Mrs. John Roberts is spending the summer at the Everson home, and Mr. and Mrs. Roberts do not intend to return to Alaska.

Mrs. Charles Egbert and her children are at San Leandro for the summer. Mrs. Egbert has taken a cottage there, and is making her many friends welcome at afternoon tea.

MRS. HOWARD IS HOME.

The John L. Howards have returned from abroad and Mrs. Howard has opened the family home on Vernon Heights. Mrs. Howard went abroad nearly a year ago, accompanied by Miss Jean Howard and Master Sydney Howard. They spent a great deal of time in France and Germany, especially in the musical centers of Europe. Mrs. Howard is very musical, being an accomplished pianiste, and a fine organist, and she much enjoys music and art, as one finds them abroad.

MRS. WETHERBEE TO GO AWAY.

Mrs. Henry Wetherbee is planning to go to Eureka for a few days' outing. She has been entertaining at her home in Fruitvale Mrs. Henry Reed of Chico and Mrs. Louis Risdon Mead of Byron Springs.

For many years Mrs. Wetherbee and Mrs. Reed have been very dear friends, and Mrs. Wetherbee always goes to Chico at least twice each year.

WILL JOIN A HOUSE PARTY.

Miss Grace and Miss Laura Sanborn will join a house party at Ben Lomond, and will spend a few days there next week.

Early in July, Miss Grace Sanborn will go out to Southern Colorado, to spend some weeks with relatives there.

MANY WILL GO EAST.

A number of our friends will be eastward bound this summer. Mr. A. A. Moore and Miss Ethel Moore are about to leave for the St. Louis Exposition, and will go farther eastward before returning to this coast.

Mrs. Homer Craig and Mrs. Frederick Morse will leave in the near future for a visit to Eastern relatives and to the St. Louis Exposition.

Senator Perkins and Miss Pansy Perkins are also to visit the St. Louis Exposition before going on to Washington this year.

MISS BERTHA AHNEFELDT, WHO ENTERTAINED RECENTLY AT HER BERKELEY HOME.

WEDDING TOOK PLACE.

This reads like a pretty bit of old-fashioned romance: There was to have been a wedding in the college town last Thursday, that of Emily Norton of Berkeley and Charles W. Coleman of Los Angeles. All the preparations were complete when word came that Mr. Coleman was ill and would be unable to attend his own marriage. Not everyone knows what a wedding put off means, and Miss Norton declared that she would take no chances. She declared she would journey to Los Angeles and have the ceremony performed there. This program was carried out, the bride's family accompanying her to the South. The wedding took place according to schedule, and as soon as the bridegroom is able to travel, the happy pair will journey to St. Louis.—Town Talk.

AN ENGAGEMENT IS BROKEN.

It is the current report in San Francisco society that another engagement is broken. The engagement was denied when it was first announced about a year ago and it was stated that the girl's father, who is one of the wealthy men of the city, was opposed to the match. Later the young man inherited a quarter of a million by the death of his grandmother in San Jose and the formal announcement of the engagement followed. It was to have been a June wedding but the bride-to-have-been was attacked with nervous prostration and sent to a sanitarium where no one was permitted to see her and the wedding day was postponed to September. Now it is announced that the young lady will travel in Europe for a year and it is understood that the engagement is definitely broken.

JOINS THE SALVATION ARMY.

A prominent San Francisco family who formerly resided in Oakland are greatly perturbed over the actions of their son. That young, hopeful is attending an Eastern university and has taken the remarkable step of joining the Salvation Army. Whether it is another case of the "Belle of New York" or not is a matter of conjecture. His parents have gone East in an endeavor to rescue him from his rescue work.

IS A WOMAN SAFE ALONE.

The question is often bruited whether a woman is safe alone on the streets of San Francisco after dark and it is generally conceded that she is if attending to her own business. An exception has recently come to my attention. A young society matron who was calling on some friends stayed for dinner and several hours later left unattended for her hotel. As the distance was not great she took a notion to walk and while crossing through the lower portion of town was stopped by a policeman and put through a most humiliating course of questions in spite of her protests. He finally allowed her to proceed and now nothing could induce her to be abroad after dark unless with her husband or in her carriage.

PROMOTION OF GENERAL LONG.

The promotion of General Long will mean that Longs in the future will remain permanently on this coast. The promotion was expected, and before Mrs. Long left Washington, she closed the home in which they had been entertaining all winter.

General Long graduated from West Point with the class of 1876, and he has steadily climbed the military ladder, till he retires with the highest honors, and with the title of Brigadier General.

The climate of the East does not agree with General Long, and Mrs. Long's family interests are all on this coast, so they welcome the promotion which brings with it also a chance to remain here permanently.

Mrs. Long is at Highlands, but General Long was detained in New York, looking up matters in regard to the recent disaster of the Slocum.

MRS. MOLLER IS IN CISCO.

Mrs. William Moller and the children are at Cisco, where they expect to spend several weeks of the summer.

The date of Miss Lillie Moller's wedding will probably be set for the late autumn.

CHICKERINGS AT THE BUNGALOW.

All the Chickerings are to gather for the Fourth of July at the "Bungalow", the Chickering home near Los Gatos.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Chickering went to Los Gatos some time ago, and Mr. Chickering is greatly improving in health there. Mr. and Mrs. Allen Chickering are going down for some pleasant vacation days, and Roger Chickering has come from Alaska.

They will have a family reunion on the Fourth of July, and with them will be Miss Emily Chickering who recently returned to California, after a year of study in Germany.

WILL RIDE IN AUTOS.

The choo-choo of the merry automobile will be heard in the land, for many trips are being planned for the holidays.

Miss Georgie Strong is planning an automobile party, and so is Mrs. Wickham Havens.

Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Bowles are planning a Del Monte trip. P. E. Bowles Jr. is one of the most expert automobilists in the city.

MANY ARE IN THE SIERRAS.

From now on, there will be many of our well known people in the Sierras. It is much too cold to go to the mountains before July.

The Sierra Club has chosen this year to climb the mountains around Yosemite Valley, and I shudder when I think of the daring things they will be sure to attempt.

Just fancy a crowd of picnickers on Glacier Point!

The expedition is led this year by Mr. and Mrs. William Colby, formerly Rachael Vrooman, and many prominent University graduates are in the party.

Mr. and Mrs. Montell Taylor are spending the summer in the Sierras, and they have lately been at Shasta Springs.

The Frederick Strattons are also in the Sierras, and Miss Cornelia Stratton was recently at Crag View.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Clay were also in the Sierras this summer, having spent some time with the Will Prathers in the mountains of Siskiyou county.

VISITING IS THE ORDER OF HOUR.

One hears at Brookdale and Ben Lomond, visiting is the order of the hour, since the guests all know each other so very well. You hear of evening parties, where there is a jolly supper, entertainments on the wide verandas with singing the order of the hour.

One of the large Brookdale teas was given by Mrs. Richard Lyman, who entertained for her sister, Miss Alice Flint, who is spending some time this year in the Santa Cruz Mountains. Miss Elizabeth Sherman, Mrs. E. A. Heron, and Mrs. Kate Bulkeley were among the guests.

THE LONDON COMPLAINT.

Mr. Jack London has returned from the wars with a tale to tell that is not a moving narrative of hair-breadth escapes or peril in the imminent deadly breach, but is a complaint of the way the wily Japs kept him away from the front and prevented him from telegraphing to the world all about their plans and operations. He might a round unvarnished tale deliver, however, about his relations with a certain Desdemona—his wife, who is now suing for divorce. If common gossip be not a hardened liar, he could create something of a sensation by printing the allegations in her complaint, which by the way is withheld from the public. According to rumor, it reads, not like "The Call of the Wild," but like an echo from the tenderloin.

PIERCES COMING TO OAKLAND.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Pierce are coming to Oakland this summer, and will bring with them the Misses Hazel and Mabel Pierce. The latter has just graduated from Wellesley, taking the degree of Bachelor of Arts. She was prepared for Wellesley at the Horton School and has made an exceedingly fine college record.

Miss Hazel Pierce is an undergraduate at Wellesley.

AT HOME FOR THE FOURTH.

While of course there are a great many people out of town, a large number of our most prominent people will be at home for the Fourth of July holidays. There are always short trips that one may take, but really on this special Fourth of July Oakland ought to be good enough for anybody, and it is up to everybody to be patriotic, enthusiastic, and to have a very good time. There are plenty of things to make up the good time—fireworks, for instance. For even if one's progress is impeded by wild hops in the air at intervals, as the small boy shoots off a fire cracker, the situation is not without interest.

There is to be a parade—all sorts of things on Lake Merritt—and fireworks in the heart of the city. It is a Fourth of July with a great many things doing, and those of us who stay at home ought to be pretty proud of Oakland.

THE MEDDLER.

VISIT YOSEMITE.

Mrs. Raymond A. Terry and niece Miss June Conner, have gone with the Sierra Club to the Yosemite, where they will spend a couple of months.

AT WORK ONCE MORE.

After having a two weeks' vacation at Cornell-By-the-Sea and Del Monte, Charles H. Wood, the optician, has returned and is once more the busy man that he always is.

K. OF P. MEETING.

Thursday evening, June 30, Liberty Lodge No. 35, K. of P., had a very interesting meeting. The rank of Esquire was conferred on Page Ed Smith, and the rank of Knight will be conferred next Thursday evening. District Deputy G. C., Willis W. Whitmore, made an official visit to the lodge and exemplified the secret work. P. C. Charles B. Des Cormiers, who had just returned from the St. Louis Fair, entertained the members with the sights that he saw on the "Pike." Captain Partello of Liberty No. 11, entertained the members with remarks on the Uniform Rank. P. C. Emil C. Hahn spoke on Pythian bonds. Brother H. C. Coleman agreeably entertained those present with song and recitations, after which all adjourned to the banquet hall.

REMEMBERED BIRTHDAY.

Mr. Louis Burbank was surprised by a party of his old friends calling on him on the anniversary of his birthday. He received many presents, showing the esteem he is held in by them. The evening was spent pleasantly, refreshments were served and all enjoyed themselves agreeably.

CHRISMAN-CURDTS.

A quiet wedding took place Thursday evening at the Curdts residence on Merrimac street, when Miss Blanche Chrisman became the bride of Otto A. Curdts. The nuptial knot was tied by Judge Quinn and an enjoyable informal reception followed the marriage service. The bride is a beautiful San Jose girl and has many friends in this city.

Among those who witnessed the ceremony were Dr. and Mrs. H. B. Mehrmann, Mr. and Mrs. Abe Leach and Dr. Carl E. Curdts, the latter officiating as best man. Miss Eda Curdts attended the bride.

The groom is a successful young contractor and builder of this city. He and his bride will make their home here.

MUSICIANS TO MARRY.

An announcement of interest to a wide circle of friends is that of the engagement of Miss Nathelle Rogers of Visalia to F. W. Larmbee of this city. Miss Rogers is a singer of ability and her fiance is the well-known pianist and teacher. The marriage will take place Wednesday, July 6, at Sacramento.

FORMATION AND LINE OF MARCH OF PARADE.

Grand Marshal H. N. Gard Issues His Orders for Monday's Celebration.

A. JONAS, PRESIDENT OF THE MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE.

There is no member of the Merchants' Exchange who has done better or more faithful work to make the big Fourth of July celebration next Monday a success than has Mr. Jonas. Besides being president of the Merchants' Exchange Mr. Jonas is treasurer of the Finance Committee as well as acting chairman of the same committee. He is chairman of the Decoration Committee and also chairman of the Reception Committee. He has worked night and day to make the celebration a success. Mr. Jonas is one of Oakland's leading business men, being proprietor of the Hub Clothing Store at the corner of Eleventh and Broadway.

Everything is now in readiness for the Fourth of July parade and Grand Marshal H. N. Gard has issued the following orders in regard to formation and line of march:

In order that all concerned may be fully informed relative to the parade which will occur in this city upon the morning of July 4, 1904, in commemoration of the one hundred and twenty-eighth anniversary of our country, it devolves upon the Grand Marshal to make the following announcement:

Marshals of Divisions and Aides will report mounted, to the Chief of Staff at 9 a. m., corner of Fourteenth street and Broadway.

Invited guests will assemble at the Mayor's office, City Hall, at 9 a. m., where they will be received by the Reception Committee.

The various divisions are expected to be in their assigned positions at 9:30 o'clock a. m. Marshals of divisions will report promptly to the Chief of Staff, through an aide, when their divisions are formed.

The order to advance will be given at 10:05 o'clock sharp. Organization not prepared to move at that time will fall in on the left of line.

Headquarters of the grand marshal during the formation will be at the southeast corner of Broadway and Second street.

ROUTE OF PROCESSION.

The line of march will be from Second street and Broadway to Seventh street, to Washington street, to Fourteenth street, to San Pablo avenue, to Twentieth street, to Broadway, to Seventh street; countermarch on Broadway to Durant street.

The reviewing stand will be on the east side of Broadway, between Fifteenth and Seventeenth streets.

The divisions will be dismissed after they have passed in review.

The military and uniform rank of civic societies will pass off of Broadway via Durant street to the right; civic societies and carriages to the left.

FORMATION OF PARADE.

The Police will form on Broadway, right resting on Second street, facing west.

First Division—On Second street, right resting on Broadway, facing north.

Second Division—On Second street, right resting on Broadway, facing south.

COMPLAINTS MADE IN THE DIVORCE COURT.

John Rohan Granted a Decree—John R. Wood Has Lost His Position in a Bank.

Otto Streit has been granted an interlocutory decree of divorce by Judge Greene on the ground of extreme cruelty. He accused his wife of drinking freely with other men causing him great mental anguish. By stipulation their five children are placed in the custody of Mrs. Barbara Streit, mother of the plaintiff. Streit also agreed to allow his wife $ a month.

JOHN ROHAN DIVORCED.

The interlocutory decree of divorce granted John Rohan, the coal merchant a year ago was made final yesterday by Judge Greene. The statutory year having elapsed since the granting of the interlocutory decree.

FINAL DECREE.

Nels Christopherson was granted a final decree from Onsa Christopherson. He had been granted an interlocutory decree a year ago on the ground that his wife had deserted him and gone back to Norway.

SHE WANTS ALIMONY.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 2.—John R. Wood, who was sued for a divorce by Ada M. Wood on account of his alleged intimacy with Mrs. Tyer, the Postmistress of Mill Valley, had the alimony which he must pay reduced by Judge Graham yesterday to $30 per month on the ground that he was discharged from his position in the Crocker-Woolworth Bank on the day following the commencement of the divorce suit and was unable to pay the amounts originally allowed Mrs. Wood. He had been ordered to give her $150 a month as alimony, $300 for counsel fees and $100 for the costs of her suit. His salary at the bank was $275 per month.

An affidavit in which he told how he had suddenly dropped into the abyss of poverty was read yesterday in court by his attorney, Charles J. Heggerty. He said that he was living with his parents and was dependent on their charity since his dismissal from the bank. He stated that he owed Charles H. Athearn $4760.59 owed money borrowed and that Athearn had attached his Mill Valley property for the amount. He owed the Crocker-Woolworth Bank over $3400 for borrowed money, the Italian-American Bank $200, and a tailor $99 50. His assets consisted of the Mill Valley residence and lots, which he valued at $5300 and which were mortgaged for $2550; a saddle horse, $125; three saddles, $50, and jewelry, $75. When the divorce suit was begun he had $150 in cash, but he had spent all except $25, he said.

He asserted in the affidavit that his wife sought to ruin him. Their Mill Valley house was rented for $60, furnished, he said, and as soon as the suit was begun she went there and removed the piano and all the furniture which was of substantial value. He stated that he had to buy new furniture for the tenant, to replace that taken.

Attorney Durbrow, who remarked that he was willing to waive his fee for the present if Wood was so poor, filed an affidavit on Mrs. Wood's behalf, she stating in it that at least half of the furniture in the house was owned by her, and that she took only what she owned in order to furnish the apartments at her mother's residence which she now occupied. She denied that she intended to destroy the rental value of the Mill Valley home.

Robert Gilmer Hanford, the millionaire, who has been sued for a divorce by Marguerite Hanford on account of his infatuation for Mrs. Gabrielle Cavalsky, has been directed to show cause, on July 15th, in Department 1 of the Superior Court, why he should not pay his wife $400 at once, $400 a month as alimony and $250 for costs of her suit. Mrs. Hanford is still residing at 2207 Clay street.

CRUELTY CHARGED.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 2.—Amelia A. Butler applied for a divorce from Peter C. Butler yesterday, for cruelty. On Christmas day in 1896, she says, he beat her terribly. On Christmas day in 1897, she having left him, he went to the house where she was living and, being unable to find her, cut the carpet, window shades and other articles in the room, including her clothing, to pieces with a razor.

The following divorce suits were begun yesterday: Frank Bilyeu against Frances Bilyeu, for desertion; Albert E. Bartlett against Josephine E. Bartlett, for desertion; Doris D. Benton against John C. Benton, for failure to provide; Bernard F. Alfs against Anna Alfs, for desertion, he asking that she be allowed to resume her maiden name of Wagner.

The following divorces were granted yesterday: Alice L. Adlis from H. W. Aldis, for failure to provide. Ida E. Renfro from Edward H. Renfro, for desertion; Bertha M. Merrell from Edward L. Merrell, for desertion.

TO BUILD UNION HIGH SCHOOL.

COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION WILL TEST SENTIMENT IN DISTRICTS.

The County Board of Education met this morning and reorganized itself, this being the first meeting in the new fiscal year begun yesterday. P M. Fisher, principal of the Polytechnic High School, was re-elected president of the Board, with Superintendent T. D. Crawford ex-officio secretary. The other members are John Gamble, C. L Biedenbach and Wm. McDonald.

An important decision was arrived at by the Board, which has concluded to have petitions circulated through the Melrose, Bay, Fruitvale Lockwood and Elmhurst school districts, for the purpose of getting the signatures of the residents of these districts who are willing to join in building a union high school. It is believed that these districts are in need of one and can support it, and this is the first step taken with this end in view.

The course of study for this year has been adopted by the Board and after a week's work found it necessary to make but very slight change in it. The study of elementary agriculture was substituted in the place of nature study and this was the most important change made. The course as adopted is in the hands of the printer and will soon be ready for circulation

The following action was taken in regards to teachers' certificates:

Grace Bliss was recommended to the State Board of Education for a grammar grade life diploma.

Alice E. Davis and Anna Graham were granted grammar grade certificates.

DISMISSES CASE.

E. J. Smith, a contractor, accused of having taken 1000 brick without the due process of the law from S Livingston, was dismissed this morning in the Police Court on motion of the Prosecuting Attorney.

LOVE OF FINERY HER RUIN.

MISS NORAH JORDAN IS IN JAIL A SECOND TIME FOR THEFT.

Because she has an inordinate fancy for clothes and trinkets, Miss Norah Jordan for a second time occupies a cell in the city prison as a result of taking things which did not belong to her. She had been employed by Mrs. E. J. Brandon, who conducts a millinery establishment at 564 Fourteenth street. The young girl performed her duties faithfully until a ring and a breast pin attracted her fancy. She was unable to resist the temptation and took the things. The next day she did not come to work as usual and when the jewelry was missed, suspicion attached itself to her.

When the police were notified relative to the affair they at once remembered Miss Jordan's previous record when she stole dress goods and money amounting to $17.50 from Mrs. Mollie Edelstein, 62 Fifth street. A search was instituted with the result that the property was soon found in the possession of Miss Jordan.

It is not definitely settled whether or not Miss Jordan will be prosecuted for the theft of the goods. Mrs. Brandon and Miss Ethel Carney, both of whom missed articles have been advised to prosecute the young lady but have not yet sworn to a complaint.

Jewelry comes in all sorts of queer forms and the department stores are showing brooches in the shape of roosters, peacocks, swans and flying storks. While these are not in the expensive pins they are artistic and very cleverly designed.

PAINTERS' UNION ELECTS.

MEETINGS OF IMPORTANCE—MILLMEN INSTALL OFFICERS.

At the last meeting of the Painters' Union officers were elected after a spirited contest as follows: President, F. Jewell; vice-president, C. J. Williams; trustee, E. Coleman; conductor, T. Merves, warden, W. E. Colegate; business agent, W. W. Morris, delegates to the Building Trades Council, W. E. Scully, H. E. Hebenington, F. T. Pratt, Frank Demar; delegates to District Council of Painters, San Francisco, F. H. Masher, W. E. Scully, F. H. Pratt, W. W. Norris, C. J. Williams, J. H. Pulsifer.

MINERAL WATER DRIVERS.

The Soda and Mineral Water Drivers' Union met last night and transacted routine business.

BARBERS TO CLOSE.

The committee on Fourth of July closing movement visited the various barber shops and presented the following agreement, which was signed by the shops named below:

"We, the undersigned proprietors of barber shops, have concluded to not open our places of business on Monday, July 4th. We believe that such action will aid the effort to celebrate our national anniversary without inconveniencing our patrons, and is the duty of every American citizen."

The committee was unable to visit all shops as the movement was not started till late yesterday, but it is safe to say all shops will close.

Those who signed are as follows:

E. Pugh, 474 Tenth street; G. W Pezet, Eighth and Broadway; Machado & George, 463 Eighth street; G. W. Solomon, 506 Seventh street; T. Vierra, 522 Seventh street; M. J. Crow, 871 Washington street; L. Seliaggi, 461 Seventh street; George H. Crow, 504 Ninth street; Phil Journal, 421½ Twelfth street; John Tisch, Fourteenth and Broadway; Borg & Nielson, 468 Ninth street; W. S McKenzie, 452 Ninth street; Billie Towns, 984 Broadway, C. Monzo, 467 Tenth street, J. L. Fine, 479 Ninth street, James Washington, 1168 Broadway; John Hubbard, 424 Eleventh street; Richardson & Woolside, 1152 Washington street; S. Plente, 477 Eighth street; J. B. Ritler, 506 Thirteenth street.

MILLMEN'S UNION.

At the meeting of the Millmen's Union last night, retiring President D. C. Crawford was presented with a handsome silver tea set in recognition of his past services. The speech of presentation was made by R. M. Hamb, the new president. D. C. Crawford and R. W. Hamb were elected delegates to the International convention in Milwaukee during September.

The following officers were installed; President, R. M. Hamb, vice-president, H. K. Sorensen, recording secretary, J G. Lewis; financial secretary, C. Walberg, treasurer W. W Farwell; warden, F. Petersen; conductor, H. E. Smith; delegates to District Council of Carpenters, Messrs. Walberg, Hamb, Farwell, Pearson; delegates to Central Labor Council, Messrs Gartner and Crawford.

CENTRAL COUNCIL CONFERENCE.

The conference held last night by the Central Council for the formation of a Building Trades Department Council was largely attended Six unions of the Building Trades Council were represented.

It was recommended that the resolution of the Central Council making the Building Trades Council the basis for the new Building Trades Department of the Central Labor Council be acted upon.

It is the desire of those concerned in the movement to have it understood that this new department is not an opposition council to the present Building Trades Council.

ETHEL BARRYMORE, A GIRL OF LONDON FAME.

THE Drew family of stage players, runs back into the mists of histrionic antiquity. John Drew's mother was for many years director of a leading Philadelphia theatre. Less than two decades ago the world, swayed by Uncle Sam, was talking of the brilliant actor, Maurice Barrymore, and his beautiful wife, Georgia Drew Barrymore, sister of John Drew.

To-day Maurice Barrymore, a modern Horace, in epigrammatic talent, is by a malevolent irade of Fate, a living, intellect-wrecked King Lear, and it was not so long ago that Georgia Barrymore, mother of Ethel Barrymore, died while tarrying at Santa Barbara.

Ethel Barrymore, she of the sweet face and dainty ways, will soon be a lure at a San Francisco drama-temple. Already a thespian star, it was but recently she gained much prestige by her essay in a boy's role, and by her indisposition to gratify wooing lords in London.

WHEN David Belasco was call-boy at the California theatre in San Francisco, there was a child somewhere who was destined to be a bride and divorced spouse of Leslie Carter, a Chicago lawyer now.

It was the decree of Kismet that Belasco should migrate to New York City and there win distinction as a pedagogue in the school of Roscius and Aesopus, and the pupil who bestowed national renown to the Belasco Academy was the Leslie Carter, who was to evoke the plaudits of legions of auditors.

That Belasco imparted wisdom to Leslie Carter by dragging her to and fro on the floor in her student lessons, will not be gainsaid. One can conceive a picture of the future actress in that practice, her long and luxurious tresses in Belasco's towering clutch; and tint of those locks, then, an opulent Titanesque.

OAKLAND IS FORGING TO THE FRONT.

Large Demand for Real Estate—Renting is Excellent—Many Improvements in Progress.

There is more activity on the streets of Oakland and there are more buildings in course of erection in this city at the present time than there was ever noticed at this season of the year This is due to the fact that there are more people here and that more business is being transacted than was ever known in the history of this community

All of these things tend to make people cheerful provident and inspire them to think of establishing homes and when homes are being established there is business done in the real estate world

MANY INQUIRIES

There is not a dealer in realty in this city who is not responding to more inquiries at this time than he ever did at this season in any preceding year Choice sites for homes are in demand and good prices are always offered and it must be said that the dealers have accurately gauged the situation and are giving every encouragement for the investment of money by those who desire to obtain a place of permanent abode

SUCCESSFUL SALE

An illustration of this hearty reciprocal feeling between buyer and seller was witnessed in the sale one week ago today at the intersection of Shattuck avenue and Sixty fifth street by the Realty Bonds and Finance Company It was unquestionably one of the most successful sales ever held in this city The lots were actually bought with activity Fifty of the lots were disposed of in an hour Some purchasers bought two lots some three and some took as many as five Good prices prevailed The sellers were satisfactorily remunerated and the purchasers will have ample opportunity to realize on their investment if they wish to indulge in speculation or to establish homes in a growing community if they should desire to utilize their purchase for that purpose

HOLD STIFF PRICES

While there has been quite a satisfactory movement in realty some dealers say that there would be much greater activity if people who hold desirable property placed much more reasonable values upon their holdings Of course it is natural for people who own property to strive to get even the ultimate nickel for it but this disposition it is claimed by some realty dealers is carried to extreme in some instances and as a consequence property which could readily be disposed of under other circumstances and improved and thus become a benefit surrounding territory is held at prices which are considered too steep for this stage of the proceedings Despite the fact the Recorder's office is kept busy recording sales and it is gratifying to know that most of these sales are made to actual settlers

EVIDENCE OF GROWTH

Than this fact no greater evidence of the growth of Oakland could be desired People are coming to reside here who for years have had their homes on the other side of the bay as well as others who have heretofore resided in other parts of the country To accommodate this incursion new homes are in course of construction in every section of the city Greatest activity however is noted in the northern and eastern parts in both of which directions there is at least one new home going up in almost every block

This gives employment to artisans of every kind and as a consequence there are no idle people to be found in Oakland and that is among people who are anxious and willing to work

RENTING HOMES

Of course every new comer cannot afford to build a home when he decides to locate in Oakland Many are compelled to seek houses while they lease Great however has been the influx of new residents that the supply of vacant houses has been exhausted and real estate men and housekeepers are at their wits end to provide places with which to satisfy the demand Hundreds of people who cannot find houses to rent are compelled to take possession of rooms in downtown buildings or in flats with the hope of locating more congenial surroundings as time passes

PUBLIC IMPROVEMENTS

No is his evidence of growth confined to the incoming of people from without It is demonstrated in a hundred places in work done in behalf of the city Old residents under the patronage of the municipality for all of the improvement However the people are paying and standards of living section are securing all the accommodations which are enjoyed by the residents in the older and well settled parts of the municipality Wherever one goes one finds streets being laid with water and gas pipe curbed guttered and paved either with macadam or bitumen trenches being dug sewers constructed electric lights erected and all this with a celerity which sends the blood tingling through the veins The amount of public work provided for by the Council is almost incredible and can be realized only by those who look over the published proceedings of that body or travel through the city where the work is being actually carried out

RAILWAY EXTENSION

In the development of the various sections of the city great assistance is found in the extension of street railways into hitherto sparsely settled districts and the rebuilding of the lines in the more thickly settled districts where modern appliances and material are considered required So much attention has been paid to this feature of development that there is now no section of the city which is not adequately supplied with local transportation for a generation

The most notable improvement in this direction is in the northwest section of the city which has heretofore been unsupplied with direct means of communication with the heart of town Recently this section has been placed on connecting rails with the heart of the city and will soon witness a development which will increase the population by hundreds of people

PIEDMONT

Piedmont has always enjoyed good street railway connection with the business district and is now more than ever satisfactorily supplied in this regard because the local connection has been supplemented by a twenty minutes connection with San Francisco by means of the train of the Key Route ferry which runs to the corner of Piedmont avenue and Forty first street This new accommodation will end to the building up of that suburb with palatial structures of business and professional men who now reside in San Francisco

East Oakland has felt the stimulus of advancement in an exceeding degree during the past six months She has no reason to feel envious of the advancement displayed by other sections of the city because both in manufactures and residences and street improvement she has eclipsed the record of any preceding season In the Fourth avenue section there is a march of improvement in which thousands of dollars have been expended and when the work in progress shall have been completed no more beautiful section may be found in the city

The same may be said of the section of the city farther east in the vicinity of Independence Square the Cottom Mills and Commerce street In all of which thousands of dollars have been expended and more are yet to be put into good use in the same direction

The grading of Commerce street which has been so long required is not only a herculean undertaking but it has been accomplished in a manner which exhibited progressiveness and energy It brings directly to the business district a section of country which may be utilized for beautiful homes and which is even now dotted by some of the most attractive homes in this city

The progress which is noticeable in the outlying districts is forced upon the attention of the people in the business district because wherever one goes one finds new stores in course of erection or older ones undergoing changes which make them more attractive and serviceable to people who want to do business in modern structures

Stimulation to this activity has been received from the discussion of the project of a commercial and tourist hotel on Twelfth street near Lake Merritt which is fostered by all the banks and all the leading public spirited business men in the city Such a hotel means money to every merchant in the city and the perpetuation of the fame of Oakland as a home for people who wish to enjoy rest and recreation where those may be experienced among the most congenial surroundings available on the coast

Next month it is expected that the bond issue by means of which nearly two million dollars is to be provided for public improvement will be submitted to the people There is no doubt that the question will be enthusiastically supported and the money thus made available will undoubtedly tend to the further and unexampled advancement of this progressive city

Petition for the guardianship of Lillie Harold Edward and Violet Crewe was filed today by Edward B Windrom of Berkeley He states that both the father and mother of the children are dead and that he virtually has the care of them There is an estate of $1000 each and several pieces of realty in Berkeley.

WILL VOTE FOR BONDS

Council Will Submit Matters to the People on August 1.

The matters pertaining to the proposed bond issue are in shape as far as the offices of the City Attorney and the City Engineer are concerned This is the information that a question from Mayor Olney drew forth at a meeting of the Board of Public Works yesterday afternoon

City Attorney McElroy said that all of the preliminary resolutions in his office had been drawn and that his work was complete unless the Council should change its mind as to certain specifications A chief Galen Howard of the University of California was the only person who was to go through with the preliminary work Plans for the new City Hall were yet to be submitted by Mr Howard but these plans were already in shape for the inspection of the Council

The opinion of the members of the Board of Works was that the bond election could be held on August 1 if no unforseen complications arose

PREPARED FOR LARGE BUSINESS.

AN IMPORTANT CORRECTION.

An Error Often Made by People but Without Malice.

Editor Tribune—In your last Saturday's issue you gave a lengthy description of the good work done by the San Francisco and Suburban Home Building Society in building up Beautiful Berkeley but your article is wrong in one respect

As residents of the University City and beautiful hillside town we are duly appreciative of the good work done by the San Francisco and Suburban Building Society and have great confidence in its able corps of directors but wish to call your attention to the fact that the State institution established here is not the Deaf Dumb and Blind Asylum but Institute There is a radical difference between an asylum and an institute—and when your readers are informed that here one here is the most complete and afforis the best facilities for educating those less fortunate than ourselves you will readily appreciate why the beautiful Plumeria tract and all contiguous tracts have been selected as the most suitable for residence purposes

In fact many of the homes adjoining this institute which have been built by the above mentioned society are occupied by instructors in this institution who have nation l reputation

While we have no objections to the extensive operations of this society in this tract since they are erecting such high grade houses and we prefer that the public be set right on this question of title of that State institution

Since nothing serious results from the confusion of names we can overlook the error especially since we are stockholders in the San Francisco and Suburban Society and have received our 10 per cent dividend for more than two years A little coin here is the wound Yours respectfully

EASTERN CITIES WELL PLEASED.

The enterprise of the Pure Water Company located at Sanford & Lowell streets North Oakland is commendable this company has successfully shipped a large invoice of California orange cider and Utopia ginger ale to Kansas City and St Louis

At the World's Fair these goods are very popular and expressions from those returning to Oakland are receptive to a pure palatable California drink

The factory is working a large corps nigh and day to fill an extensive order for Indianapolis and Kansas City

The goods put up under the Pure Water Company's brand are honest and pure The great fault with most California drinks sent east is their impurity and inability to keep in that climate

THE ARGONAUT

There are few periodicals of note that can boast of a more varied assortment of interesting correspondents from trained writers than that afforded to the readers of the Argonaut the most dignified and the brightest political literary and society weekly on the Pacific Slope In the issue of July 4th Jerome Hart writing from England describes graphically the great English race meet Derby day at Epsom Downs Helen Hyde the well known California artist contributes another letter The Short Sword of Japan from Tokio This time she writes mostly of the soldiers who are home from the war and his much to say of their disposition to suicide The letter is interesting and pathetic and presents a vivid picture of present day life in the Mikado's capital

Lionel Josaphine who is winning fresh laurels in the East with his verses sends a letter from New York He speculates on what would happen if the ice in that town should melt and gives much information regarding how Gothamites keep cool during the summer

Other notable features in the Argonaut for July 4th are The Margin on Fate an amusing and exciting story by Rufus M Steele who has succeeded Will Irwin as editor of the Sunday supplement of the Chronicle a review of and extracts from the biography of Herbert Spencer and a criticism of White Whittlesey at the Alcazar and the performance at the Orpheum by Josephine Hart Phelps.

New Resort to be Opened Across Bay--Good Story on Col. Brady

The KNAVE

Actor M'Dowell's Tale of Woe--A Story of Two Alleged Burglars

SAN FRANCISCO, July 2.—Tonight a new place of entertainment makes its debut in San Francisco at 8 o'clock. The Belvedere, a music hall based on the old Koster & Bial idea, will be thrown open to the public.

The Belvedere will be more or less an innovation. The management plans to give a first-class show. There is to be no admission fee.

In addition to the performance there will be all sorts of liquid amusements

Incidentally, there will be palm gardens, tamale grottos, and, I am told, sobrosa, a "cork-room." Now, in San Francisco a corkroom is practically unknown. They had one in Koster & Bials' music hall in New York. It made a fortune. The idea of the thing is to permit everyone who buys a bottle of wine to place the cork of the bottle on a peg in the wall. In time the entire room becomes lined with wine corks.

Jimmy Cofforth, the prize fight promoter; Eddie Graney, the "honest blacksmith" and referee, and a number of other well known sporting characters have control of the Belvedere. With such a bunch of managers it is safe to predict that the Belvedere will be the headquarters of the lively citizens of San Francisco.

* * *

I am told that Martin Brady, better known as "Colonel" Brady, is to be one of the advisors in the management of the Belvedere.

As the Colonel is now a wine agent, there is every indication that they will not only be able to cover the walls with the grape juice corks, but will in a very short time be in a position to pave O'Farrell street, on which the Belvedere is located, with "pop."

* * *

Colonel Brady is probably the most unique character in San Francisco. In addition to his affability and good fellowship he is a wit. He began life as a switch tender in Arizona. A heroic act while performing the duties of that job has perpetuated his name throughout the cowboy territory.

One night a crowded passenger train came whirling along at full speed. An order had come from the dispatcher at the other station telling Brady what to do in the switch way. He opened the switch; stood alongside of the track and waved his lantern in an effort to flag the train.

Getting no response from the engineer he realized that that gentleman was asleep at his post. Brady's actions are usually as quick as his alert mind. So, not taking any chances, he threw the switch into place and waited for the train. As the engine whizzed by, he threw his lantern in the cab, striking the engineer in the head. The blow awoke the sleeping man, who, realizing that something serious had happened, stopped his engine. Brady had him back up; reopened the switch and side-tracked the train. By so doing he prevented a head-on collision.

* * *

One night a man asked Colonel Brady to define love.

"Love," he said, "is an invisible means of support." That is the best definition of the mystic word I have ever heard.

* * *

One evening in Harry Corbett's cafe, a Southern "Colonel" dilated upon the magnitude of the army of his father's slaves before the war. As the speaker was considerably up in the air, Colonel Brady sought an introduction in the hopes of getting a bit of fun out of the fellow.

"Colonel Brady," said Harry Corbett, "I want you to meet my friend, 'Colonel' Johnson, whose father was a slave owner of high degree before Lincoln's time."

"Indeed, he was," said Colonel Johnson, as he shook hands with Colonel Brady.

After a few minutes Colonel Johnson turned to Colonel Brady and said:

"Colonel Brady, did your father own any slaves during the war?"

"Only 5000," replied Colonel Brady.

"Five thousand," gasped Colonel Johnson.

"Yes, 5000," answered Brady, "and when they were not picking cotton we used to send them out to pick pockets."

* * *

One night Colonel Brady met the other Colonel Harry Brady of the Bohemian Club.

Said Bohemian Club Colonel Harry Brady, "I got my title of 'Colonel' on the field of Fredricksburg. Where did you get yours?"

"On the field of Anheuser Bush," replied the only real Colonel.

* * *

I remember four years ago when Brady was elected to the Legislature from the tenderloin district of San Francisco. He was the most picturesque character of that session. He had fun with everybody and made as good speeches in the House as Charlie Shortridge made in the Senate. The last night of the session Brady was made Speaker pro tem. While occupying the chair he set a livelier pace than ever was known in this history of the State Capitol.

During his "josh" session, Clio Lloyd, clerk of the House, made a remark to the Colonel. Without a word in reply Brady drew a six-shooter from his pocket and aiming it directly at Lloyd, pulled the trigger. Six shots rang out and Lloyd fell in a faint under his desk. For a moment there was terror in the House.

Colonel Brady was the only man who knew the revolver was loaded with blank cartridges.

Now the Colonel is out for the nomination for State Senator on the Republican ticket. If he gets the nomination it is safe to predict that he will spend another four years as a statesman.

The return of Talby Clifton has revived the story of the day he rode a pony in a gentleman's race at Ingleside. Caesar Young, the bookmaker Nan Randolph is suspected of murdering, on that day took all the money offered and gave odds of 5 to 1 that Clifton would finish last and the peculer won quite a sum on the proposition, for Talby did run "absolutely." Johnnie Coleman, another bookie tried to do business on the race by offering even money that Clifton would fall off his horse. The public thought Coleman had Clifton "fixed" and refused to nibble.

Of all the sorry theatrical stars that ever went without "coffee and" in the morning Melbourne McDowell is the sorriest. Big enough to pitch hay and earn an honest dollar he prefers to simper over his tipple and think of suicide. He has been helpless since the death of his wife and has become gray trying to find out why the public doesn't agree with him that he is truly great. He thinks his handsomeness, if nothing else, ought to keep him in a place of importance, and when he realizes that male beauty cannot always be made to win dollars he orders another glass and then, womanlike, thinks of carbolic acid.

If what one of the young women who "supported" McDowell and got nothing for it tells me is true, he has succeeded in making some of the men who were with him pattern after him. The young woman I refer to rather liked one of the young men of McDowell's company. A ride to the Seal Rocks was proposed by the actorette. The actor said yea. They boarded a car.

"You'll have to pay the fares," said the actor to the lady, "I really cannot spare the money."

Speaking of the incident the young woman remarked:

"McDowell thinks you are well paid for your work simply because he allows you on the same stage with him. This member of McDowell's starving band thought I ought to pay the car fare because I was allowed to enjoy the company of such a fine fellow."

If all actors were all McDowells the stage would be sadly in need of cleansing.

Every time Police Chief Wittman takes a vacation and goes a-traveling he comes back with new ideas with respect to the dress of the members of the department.

In fact, Wittman seems to be a chief who thinks more of having his men look pretty than he does of taking thieves.

This time he has a new cap for the corporals, sergeants, lieutenants and captains. And, of course, for the chief as well. It is intended to displace the present cap and the cork helmets that have been the feature of the annual police parade since Wittman was elevated to the first place in the department. The new cap is roomy of crown, the circumference at the top being an inch or two greater than at the bottom and the visor being a short one with a sharply downward angle. It is strictly a military cap and will add a smartness to the men that the present clumsy top-piece does not lend. Wittman's cap is to have a band of golden oak leaves and when the chief appears in full regalia he will look just as important as Dewey on the bridge or General MacArthur reviewing a brigade at the Presidio.

The Sherlock Holmes corpuscles that help to make my blood red began to circulate very lively the other night when I observed two young men stealing over a housetop in that section of San Francisco known as "The Panhandle."

"Burglars," I thought, as I stood in the shade of a telegraph pole and figured out a scheme to catch the pair of porch-climbers. I had resolved to yell "police!" and keep behind the pole, so the desperadoes would have little chance to riddle my person with pistol balls.

Just as I was clearing my pipes to yell, one of the burglars reached the edge of the roof. I noticed he carried a bucket and was nonplussed when he spilled a gallon or two of water upon the front steps beneath.

"That's a foolish thing for a burglar to do," I said to myself.

At that moment a young woman and a young man got up, walked to the middle of the sidewalk and brushed some of the moisture from their garments. Then they withdrew from the scene. I waited for the burglars and soon they appeared. They were laughing over their little joke. I asked about it and one of them said:

"That's Bill's best girl and we had to throw a little cold water on the attentions that other fellow is paying her."

Politics finds the way even into affairs charitable. Last Sunday teams representing the Police and Fire Departments of this city played a game of baseball to a crowd that turned more than $5000 into the funds of the finest and the bravest maintain to help their widows and orprans. The firemen lost a contest that was hard-fought from beginning to end. They appeared to accept defeat gracefully and said they certainly expected to do better next time. I had almost forgotten the event when a letter from one of the fire laddies reached me. My correspondent claims that the politicians of the department had all to do with the selection of the team and that there wasn't a Civil Service man in the line-up.

"The men who like to call themselves 'old-timers,'" writes my acquaintance, "insisted upon having all of the lime light and newspaper space and wouldn't allow better hitters and fielders to play on the team, simply because they weren't made firemen per the 'pull' route and got their jobs fairly and squarely through the Civil Service channel."

If a certain manager of a certain automobile company talks as convincingly to the Supervisors of this city and county as he talked to me yesterday, those of this community who like a whirl will be able to get it in a whizzy wagon for the same money they now pay for an early-morning dash in a coupe to their flats in the Western Addition.

For several weeks the Supervisors have been trying to settle upon a fair and square rate for machine transportation. Some owners of autos claim that anything less than $5 an hour will retire them. Others argue they can make money by asking what cabby asks—no more, no less.

Hackmen would like to see the rate for gasoline propension made the same as for horse-power. The gents of the carriage and coupe say that wheels propelled by gasoline cannot compete with them unless the chauffeur is permitted to ask $5 the hour at the lowest. This week the Supervisors will analyze both sides of the question and pass an ordinance to establish the price for a jaunt in a buzz-car.

THE KNAVE.

PREPARE FOR FINAL STAND.

RUSSIAN TROOPS IN PORT ARTHUR TO MAKE DESPERATE FIGHT.

CHE FOO, July 2, 11:30 a. m.—Affairs are, it is asserted, reaching a crisis at Port Arthur and the Russians are ready to meet it with all the forces at their command. The few foreigners remaining at Port Arthur, with the exception of several, who are under suspicion, have been ordered to leave. A number arrived here today. They included the managers and clerks of large firms, who continued in business during the siege. The Russians sealed the premises and gave the merchants receipts for their stocks of goods.

The Norwegian steamer Scotia is in the harbor ready to bring out the women and children. Every Russian subject, it is reported, has been ordered to take a place in the ranks and join the forces facing the invaders or the hills back of the town.

Four battleships, gunboats and torpedo boats are kept in the harbor while two battleships, five cruisers and torpedo boats make excursions to sea. One torpedo boat, it is claimed, has succeeded in making three trips to Yinkow and it is reported that on her last trip Admiral Skrydloff was taken to Port Arthur on her.

A number of junks, loaded with fresh provisions, has succeeded in passing the Japanese blockading fleet, one junk landed 5000 sacks of flour. A cargo of coal is also said to have been landed.

Chinese who arrived today say the Japanese have increased their blockading fleet to forty vessels.

The ships which have been under repair have rejoined the squadron. Foreigners, who have arrived, are reticent but they contend that since the disaster to the battleship Petropavlovsk the Russian fleet has sustained no damage beyond the seven-foot hole in the battleship Sevastopol, which has already been repaired. They claim to know nothing of a vessel previously reported ashore southwest of Liaotieshan promontory.

ARRESTED ON SUSPICION.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., July 2.—A special to the Gazette from Victor, Colo., says: John Young, who claims to be representing a New York paper, has been arrested by the militia and is being held for investigation. Young had gained admission to the private offices of the militia and sheriff by representing himself as a newspaper man. When arrested he could produce nothing to show that he was connected with any paper.

THUGS KILL POLICE OFFICER.

BILLINGS, Mont., July 2.—Sergeant of Police Robert J. Hanna was instantly killed by two hold-ups this morning while he was attempting to capture them. Sheriff George Hubbard was shot through the hand. The shooting followed the hold-up of the Owl saloon and gambling resort at about 1 o'clock when about twelve men were compelled to throw up their hands. The robbers contented themselves with taking all the cash in sight on the tables, amounting to about $200. A gambler in the rear of the saloon, hearing the command of the robbers, slipped out through a rear door and notified the police. One of the robbers' accomplices was captured.

Posses are now in pursuit of the two escaped robbers.

OFFICES FOR THE PRESIDENT.

NEW YORK, July 2.—Arrangements have been made at Oyster Bay for President Roosevelt's executive offices in the same quarters he occupied last summer. The rooms are in a business block of the town and there the President will transact all official business during the stay at his summer home. Direct telegraphic communication will be maintained with Washington.

Plans have been made to give the President a rousing welcome when he arrives at Oyster Bay this evening. The streets have been decorated and the school children from miles around will gather at the railway station where they will greet the Presidential party with songs and waving of flags.

PRECIOUS JEWELS FOUND.

NEW YORK July 2.—The value of the jewels found by the auctioneers in Anglesey Castle is now estimated at $200,000 says a Herald dispatch from London.

In addition, however, the Marquis has sent over from Paris jewelry valued at from $300,000 to $500,000, while at Beaudesert, Staffordshire, the seat of the family, gems worth $250,000 were discovered. In round figures, therefore, the value of the jewelry which will go to pay off the creditors of the Marquis is about $850,000.

GRAND MARSHAL FOR THE FOURTH.

DAVE M'DONALD.

Mr. McDonald has been appointed Grand Marshal for the big parade to be held at Livermore on Monday. Mr. McDonald is an old resident of the Livermore valley and, no doubt, he will marshal the Fourth of July forces in grand style.

FATAL RUNAWAY.

CHICAGO, July 2.—A dispatch to the Tribune from Madison, Wis., says:

In a runaway on University Drive Mrs Josiah Jackson of Pittsfield, Mass., mother of Professor D. C. Jackson head of the Department of Electrical Engineering, has been killed. Professor Jackson had an arm broken, as did also his wife, and Mrs. Erastus Milo, widow of the former president of Fiske University, who was visiting them, was badly hurt. Professor Jackson is subject to heart trouble and fainted while driving, causing the team to run away. The carriage struck a tree.

AN INSPECTOR APPOINTED.

ROUTINE GRIND OF THE BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS.

After canvassing the field very thoroughly, Mayor Olney has chosen William B. Blair, a teamster in the employ of the Mountain View Cemetery, as a successor to Former Street Inspector Denton, who was removed from office on account of alleged "pernicious activity."

The office of Street Inspector is under the direct control of the Mayor. The Board of Works has nothing to do with the appointment of its occupant. The position has been vacant for about six weeks.

The Board of Works passed a resolution asking the City Council to appropriate the sum of $499 to put a culvert in the Harrison street extension.

The Southern Pacific was requested to fill in between the rails of its tracks recently laid on Webster street.

Patrolman Merrick, who three weeks ago lost his star on account of alleged drunkenness while on duty was returned to his old position yesterday by the Board of Police and Fire Commissioners.

At the first hearing of the case it was thought that a clear case had been made against Merrick. The dismissed man was unwilling to let the matter rest there and sought to have it reopened.

The board at length consented to take additional testimony with the result that it was shown that Merrick was using drugs on the day of his alleged downfall under the orders of his physician. This went a long way toward excusing his offense.

At the last meeting of the board it was resolved to give Merrick his old position in event of the foremn policeman taking the pledge not to drink. Merrick took the pledge and as a result is back in his old position again.

DIVER DROWNED.

CHESTER, Pa., July 2.—Captain G. H. Metcalf, of Philadelphia, who was in charge of the divers engaged in deepening the Delaware river channel off Chester, has been drowned in his diving suit. He went down to the river bed because of trouble the men were having with a drill. In a few minutes he gave the alarm signal and two minutes later was pulled on the deck dead. In some unaccountable manner the helmet of his diving apparatus had become displaced.

REMEMBERS FORMER FRIENDS IN WILL.

The will of the late Georgia Dobbs was admitted to probate yesterday and in it there was provision for the entire amount of her estate to be held in trust to be used at any time to aid friends who had helped her in time of need. She leaves money to the amount of $2600 to A. E. Bolton, a San Francisco attorney, to keep until such time as it should become necessary to succor her former benefactors.

Mrs. Dobbs was deserted by her husband, Gilbert Dobbs, in Sacramento four years ago. She was left penniless. In her desperate circumstances she came to Oakland, where friends loaned her small amounts and enabled her to begin business as a dressmaker. Hard work and thrift brought success to her, and when she died on June 6th she had a comfortable balance in the bank.

A few months ago, wishing to be entirely freed from the man who had left her to starve, she applied for a divorce on the ground of desertion. A few days after her testimony had been taken she was stricken with typhoid fever. The decree of divorce was granted May 12th of this year, but Mrs. Dobbs never learned of her freedom. In her critical condition the attendants were afraid to cause her a shock and she died on June 6th ignorant of the success of her suit.

TOWN TALK.

The regular monthly household number of Town Talk is this week devoted to education, that subject being treated by Arthur H. Dutton, an Annapolis graduate; Irene Connell, a teacher in the San Francisco public schools; an instructor in Santa Clara College; Dr. Orlow, of the Crafts and Arts; W. H. Meredith, of a famous boys' boarding school, and others. Harry Cowells' essay, poems by Louis Robertson, stories by W. O. McGeehan and Lionel Josephanc, sketches and verse, with the departments, constitute the lighter features. The Saunterer tells something about Cortelyou and his great tact; the Bard-Oxnard Senate chances; the Princess Mathilde's salon; how Burlingame celebrates its weddings; doings in society, out of it, and at the clubs. This number is equal to the best magazines of the East.

Over in Germany they have evolved a system of curing baldness by means of continous piano playing. That's the way a good deal of the baldness in this country is acquired.—Sioux City Journal.

FALLS BUT IS UNHURT

Walter Prescott Has Lively Experience on Building.

BERKELEY, July 2.—Walter Prescott, a plumber, fell from the roof of Professor Price's new residence on University Terrace this morning, and although he dropped a distance of 30 feet he escaped with but a few bruises. The accident was caused by the young man stepping on a loose board.

Prescott fell on hard ground and miraculously escaped broken limbs. In a half hour he had revived and was at work again.

ALVARADO PERSONALS.

ALVARADO, July 2.—A. B. Nauert and sister of San Francisco spent last Saturday and Sunday with their parents.

Mrs. P. Joyce entertained a friend from the city over Sunday.

Miss Kate Mathews is spending a couple of weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. Mathews.

The "500" club were entertained at the home of Miss Dyer on Friday last. Prizes were won by Dr. Eastland and Miss Jackson.

Miss Florence Burk of San Francisco is spending the week with Mrs. A. Lawsen.

Herbert Young is at the Lane Hospital, where he has undergone an operation. He is doing nicely and is expected home in about two weeks.

The California Salt Company entertained a crowd of visitors from the city Saturday evening. Dancing and a banquet were indulged in.

Miss Sue and Anne Butterworth of San Francisco are spending the week with the Richmond family.

BERKELEY SUBURBAN NEWS UNIVERSITY

BERKELEY CANNOT HAVE NATIONAL GUARD.

Adjutant-General J. B. Lauck Forwards His Decision to Assemblyman William H. Waste.

BERKELEY, July 2.—Although a strong effort has been made to secure permission to organize a local company of the National Guard, the concession cannot be secured, according to the decision of Adjutant-General J. B. Lauck.

It was some time ago that a number of veterans of the Spanish War and other young men decided to form, if possible, a National Guard company in this city. They laid their ambitions before Assemblyman William H. Waste, who in turn presented the request to Governor Pardee.

The chief executive of the State referred the matter to Adjutant-General Lauck, who has just forwarded his decision to Mr. Waste. His letter is as follows:

"I have the honor to inform you that your letter of the 15th instant, to Governor Pardee, concerning the organization of a military company in Berkeley, has been referred to this office for answer.

"In reply thereto, I will say that it will be impossible to establish another company of the National Guard at your place at the present time. The full number of companies as provided for by law was not organized until recently when a company was mustered out at Santa Ana. This company, however, belonged to the Seventh Regiment of Infantry, located in the southern part of the State; and it is the policy of this department to keep the number of companies evenly balanced in order to form regiments in proper localities. Therefore the company to take the place of the one above mentioned will be mustered in some place within the limits fixed for the Seventh regiment.

"Regretting that your request can not be complied with, I am,

Very respectfully
J. B. LAUCK,
Adjutant-General.

LEAVES TO CLAIM BRIDE IN YERKA.

BERKELEY, July 2.—Harry Hoffman, a popular young man of this city, departed this afternoon for Yreka, where he will wed Miss Eleanor O'Neill, a former Berkeley girl and a graduate of the Berkeley High School on the Fourth of July. The nuptials will be the culmination of a long acquaintance and are to be celebrated at the home of the bride's parents, Judge and Mrs J. M. O'Neill.

The maid of honor is to be Miss Angie O'Neill, a sister of the bride-to-be, and Harry Nichols will be the best man. Both young people are well and favorably know here. Miss O'Neill was a member of the class of 1904 at the High School and since his graduation from the same institution in 1900, Mr. Hoffman has been engaged in business. At the present time he is one of the trusted clerks of the American-Hawaiian Steamship Company

After a honeymoon trip the happy pair will return to this city where they have been given a home by the father of the bride.

CHICO APPOINTS COLLEGE GRADUATES.

BERKELEY, June 2.—Two graduates of the State University were appointed to positions in the Chico High School last week by the Chico Board of Education. Miss Flora B. Wepfer was elected teacher in German and Latin at a salary of $00. Miss Faith Shoup of Berkeley was selected as teacher of history and commercial training at a salary of $900.

TEACHER DROWNED.

PORT JERVIS, N. Y., July 2.—Dr. Rollin H. Burr, a graduate of Yale and an instructor in the Yale Forestry School at Milford, Pa., has been drowned in the Delaware river. He was canoeing with some boys when his boat capsized with its three occupants. In attempting to save one of his companions Dr. Burr was drowned. His body has not been recovered.

CHAPTER OF ACCIDENTS.

Two Youths Hurt While Preparing for the Fourth.

BERKELEY, July 2.—While engaged in preparing some of the decorations in Concordia Hall for the "Kids" party, which will be given on July 15 by the Delta Chapter of the Omega Chi Fraternity, this morning, Fred Bonkofsky, a well known young man of West Berkeley, had his thumb on his right hand severed by a saw. As it was, the member only hung by a thread from his hand and had it not been for prompt medical assistance in sewing it back in place, Bonkofsky would have lost it for good.

Bonkofsky was preparing some supports to put around the stage at the end of the hall, upon which to place some of the unique decorations being planned for the affair. As he was sawing a heavy piece of wood, the large saw he was using suddenly slipped on its downward stroke and before he could stop it, had cut through his thumb.

Realizing that it was a serious cut, Bonkofsky grabbed his right wrist with his left hand to prevent serious bleeding and started on a run for the nearest drug store. There the thumb was sewed on and then Bonkofsky went to his home at 2148 Sacramento street. The doctor who dressed the wound declared that it was one of the worse cuts he had ever had anything to do with, but he believed that it would be all right.

PREMATURE FOURTH OF JULY

Walter Weidinger, the son of George Weidinger of 623 Bristol street, West Berkeley, is nursing a badly burned pair of hands as the result of experimenting with some fireworks this morning. Walter was investigating a bunch of fireworks in a box when suddenly the whole exploded, scattering bursting firecrackers for a hundred feet or more.

It is considered miraculous that the boy did not lose his eyes, but as it was his face was uninjured, only his hands. These were very badly burned, especially his right hand, from which pieces of skin were torn. The injured members were quickly bandaged and the pain of the burns assuaged. It is probable that Walter will be unable to celebrate the Fourth any more this year.

COLLEGE TO CLOSE ON EVERY SATURDAY.

BERKELEY, July 2.—In accordance with the rule prevailing at the summer school, no class exercises were held at the University today. The library will also remain closed on Saturdays.

TRACES MANKIND.

Existence of Primitive People Discovered By College Savants.

BERKELEY, July 2 — Evidences of the existence of primitive man as far back as the Quaternary age have been unearthed in the famous limestone cave at Potter Creek in Shasta County by the anthropologists of the University of California, who have been working steadily on the task of excavating the cavern and studying its contents for the last two years. A very thorough account of the exploration of this remarkable cave has been written by Dr. William J. Sinclair, one of the students of the geological wonder and this has just been published as a bulletin of the University's series in American archaeology and ethnology. By far the most interesting portion of the paper is the careful description of the great mass of bones that were dug out of the floor of the cavern and the specimens in this hoard that are of the greatest significance to the scientific world are the splinters of bone that seem to indicate the agency of prehistoric savages.

Over 4000 determinable specimens, aside from multitudes of fragments, were collected from the limestone strata and in this immense pile of organic matter there were found thirty-two species of animals now extant, and twenty-one species that are extinct. The majority of the specimens were disassociated limb bones, jaws, teeth, etc. Complete skeletons were not common. Associated parts of the skeletons of a few common animals were unearthed, but the greatest find of this nature was the complete limb structure of the huge "Arctotherium simum," the gigantic cave bear, of antiquity. All the elements were in their natural positions lying imbedded in soft clay in the main chamber of the cave, where the beast had lain down to die. Other notable discoveries were fragments of the skeletons of the mastedon, bison, prehistoric horse, wolves, bears, lynxes and foxes.

The most pronounced specimens look like the rude implements that have been taken from different California shell mounds and identified beyond a doubt as primitive tools and ornaments of early Indians. The typical bones are pointed, sometimes at both ends; beveled on one or two edges; often rounded and always polished. The depth at which they were found in the case, and the presence of remains of extinct species of animals above them, indicate clearly that they are not of recent origin. Hence, if the bones are really the work of man, they point to his existence thousands of years ago in the dim dawn of the Quaternary age, possibly before the appearance of ancient man in Europe.

LIVELY BLAZE.

Grass Fire Threatens Residences in Berkeley.

BERKELEY, July 2.—What threatened to be one of the most serious conflagrations that this city ever experienced started late yesterday afternoon at the corner of Channing way and College way and it was only after a fierce fight by the people of the neighborhood that it was put out.

It was the same old tale—two boys, some matches and a vacant lot full of dry grass. On two sides of the lot handsome frame residences were built, with no fences between them and the lot, so that if a fire once gained headway in the dry grass nothing could have saved them from going up especially as there was a high wind blowing directly towards the houses.

Two little boys had been noticed playing on the lot during the afternoon and suddenly the residents in the neighborhood saw them start running down Channing way yelling fire. Looking at the vacant lot they discovered that over a quarter of it was in flames which were advancing rapidly towards the houses.

With quick presence of mind, one of the young men in the houses seized a garden hose and began playing on the flames. His example was quickly followed and in a few moments several streams of water were playing on the fire, while others, with sacks and brooms, were endeavoring to beat it out around the edges. For a time it looked as though the fire would be the victor, but at the end of fifteen minutes the fire-fighters won and the danger was over. Who the small boys were is unknown.

DISCOVERY BY UNIVERSITY GARDENER.

Scientists Are Interested in the Revelations Brought to Light By William Wolters.

BERKELEY, July 2.—William Wolters, the gardener in the Botany Gardens at Berkeley, has just surprised the botanists of the State University by discovering an explanation for the curious botanical phenomenon of fasciation. This problem in plant life has puzzled the scientists for years and it was not until recently that an explanation has been found for it. Even this explanation of the scientists is still faulty and does not entirely explain, but such as it is it has been worked out by Wolters from his own observation and without ever looking into a text book.

Wolters' explanation is as follows:

"I went through the botanical gardens in the month of June when the wild flowers were at their best. To my astonishment, I noticed that some of the plants were deformed flattened and bent. I determined to find some explanation for this curious phenomenon. So I went to a learned doctor of botany, but he could not explain it. However he said that the botanical term for the phenomenon was fasciation. It occurred to me that fasciation might be something akin to sickness in the animal kingdom. I was so interested that I determined to experiment, and carefully watched the growth of some of the fasciated plants. After they died I gatheded their seed and planted it in order to discover whether the new plant would have the same malformation. That I might make a thorough test, I planted some of the seed in rich, well fertilized soil, and some I planted at random in ordinary soil. Both varieties grew. I watered and hoed the young plants frequently, especially those which were planted in the rich soil. I could discover no sign of fasciation until the end of May, just a year after I had begun my experiment. Then, after I had watered them carefully, they suddenly exhibited unmistakable symptoms of fasciation. Evidently the plants had been fertilized and were watered at the wrong time, and had thus become misshapen and stunted, just as the horse, after eating and drinking too much while overheated, is apt to founder. The plants became fasciated at the period when they were commencing to bud.

"It is probably well known to every botanist at least, that plants apparently lose the power of circulation during the flowering period and that their growth is checked, as they devote all their energy to budding. The other plants, which I had not watered or fertilized, developed normally. I thus came to the conclusion that fasciation is not the result of evolution, but the mistake of the gardener in watering and fertilizing the plants in the wrong season."

PROFESSOR EXPLAINS DISCOVERY.

In speaking of the observation made by Gardener Wolters and his ingenious explanation of the same, a prominent member of the Botanical Department of the University said today:

"Among the abnormalities which occur in the plant kingdom few have received so much attention as fasciation. By fasciation we understand a broadening and flattening of the whole or part of the plant axis. A well known instance of this is the common coxcomb (celosia cristata) of the florist. While formally it was held that fasciation could not be inherited, observations made during the last ten years, especially by that eminent botanist Hugo De Vries, have caused scientists to assume an entirely different attitude toward the phenomenon. It is now generally conceded that fasciation may be inherited, but to a varying extent. Frequently the descendants of a fasciated individual will not show a broadening in any of its parts, but its descendants will, in parts at least, show all the characteristics of the grand parent.

Gardener Wolters has also put his discovery into verse; but Professor de Vries has said that when a gardener descends into poetry his days of usefulness are over, so the disciple of the eminent botanist is chary about passing the verses around.

MSSES SHORK TENDERED A SURPRISE PARTY.

BERKELEY, July 2.—A very enjoyable surprise party was tendered the Misses Lila and Olive Shirk at their home, 1719 Hearst avenue, Wednesday evening.

Music and singing were the features of the evening, the Misses Mabel Gerrine and Manola and Helen Luchard rendering several selections.

Games and dancing were indulged in until shortly after midnight, when refreshments were served. It was long into the small hours of morning before the guests departed.

Those present were the Misses Mabel Gerrine, Hazel Cole, Fannie Bowers, Edith Coxhead, Shepard, Jessie, Helen and Maola Luckard, May Behm, Lila and Olive Shirk, Mrs. Behm, Mr. and Mrs. Shirk, Messrs. Gus. Behm, Roy Shirk, Reverly Rush, Peterson, Williams, Will Turner and Chester Marliave.

HAYWARDS, SAN LEANDRO, EMERYVILLE, FRUITVALE, GOLDEN GATE

HIRAM PIERCE IS VISITOR.

STOPS OFF FROM TRAIN A FEW HOURS AND THEN DEPARTS FOR NORTH.

EMERYVILLE, July 2.—Jockey J. Bullman, who has been traveling in the East during the racing season in that part of the country, and who has not been in this part of the United States since the closing of the Emeryville track, was in town yesterday making a flying trip with his manager, Hiram T. Pierce, the well known horseman. Bullman will leave the coast for the North enroute for the East, and is scheduled to ride in the Brighton races at New York. The popular jockey, who has had some domestic trouble of late is game to the core, and will not state anything about his sorrows. He simply says that he is going East as soon as his business in the North has been completed.

THE FORESTERS.

The Foresters of America Camp No. 218 of Emeryville will meet Tuesday night in their regular convocation. There will be a good list of candidates up for initiation.

BOARD POSTPONES.

The regular meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Town of Emeryville will be postponed from the regular meeting night. The Board usually meets on Mondays, but on account of that day falling on the Fourth of July the meeting will probably take place on the following day. This night not being satisfactory the meeting will be postponed until the next regular weekly meeting, which will be next Monday, a week.

SANTA FE WORK.

The work of the Santa Fe Company in oiling the roads which leads to the station has been much commended by the citizens of the town. The company has been of late oiling every road that leads to the entrances of the station and then covering the way with sand. The dust is laid in this way and the experiment has proven to be very successful.

AT THE CROSSING.

There has been little progress with the new crossing which is now being worked upon where the Transit Company's tracks and those of the Santa Fe cross. Work is going ahead rapidly and everything that can be done for the benefit of the public highway is being attended to with great care. The crossing will probably be completed in a very few days.

HAYWARDS SCHOOL GETS BELL.

GIFT OF THE BANK RECEIVED AND WILL BE PLACED IN POSITION.

HAYWARDS, July 2.—The bell for the school house, which was presented by the Bank of Haywards, has arrived and will be hung in the belfry shortly. The bell measures 32 inches in diameter and possesses a deep, rich tone. The bank gave the Castro Valley district a bell last year. The Haywards school trustees have passed resolutions expressive of their gratitude for the handsome gift.

RUNAWAY ACCIDENT.

Yesterday morning Deputy Assessor J. W. McCoy was driving with his young son, on Castro street, in a buggy pulled by a team of fractious colts. One of the colts became frightened at a passing car and started to run away, breaking the breast band and turning so suddenly as to almost upset the rig. With rare presence of mind, Mr. McCoy turned the frightened team toward a buggy shed near the Villa Hotel and they ran into it, driving the pole through the rear end of the shed. They were stopped, however, and Mr. McCoy and his son were enabled to escape from the buggy unhurt. The vehicle was badly smashed, but the team was uninjured.

HAYWARDS NOT TO CELEBRATE.

For various reasons there has been no Fourth of July celebration planned here for this year. The majority of the people will probably go to Livermore, where provision has been made for an elaborate celebration, and others will doubtless visit Oakland, so that Haywards will be rather quiet during the day. Nearly all stores will close.

REALTY NOTES.

The place on upper B street, formerly occupied by T. Moran, the architect, has been sold to Mrs. McKarrow. The deal was consummated by Agent Warren.

Agent Prowse has sold two pieces of land in the Culp tract, one of 3.8 acres to J. S. Cattral, for $1137; the other, 4.5 acres to W. N. Souza, for the sum of $1600.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

Tomorrow at the Congregational church Rev. B. Dent Naylor will deliver a sermon in the forenoon, entitled "Has the World Outgrown the Preacher?" This will mark the opening of his third year as pastor of the church.

The evening will be devoted to patriotic services and an address by the pastor. The following vocal selections will be rendered by the choir: "Sweet Sabbath Eve," "Red, White and Blue," "Israel's Battle Cry," "The Star Spangled Banner," and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic."

The public is cordially invited to attend what will doubtless be one of the most interesting and beautiful services of the year.

ORDER OF PENDO.

Last night the Order of Pendo met and transacted regular business. Following the meeting the evening was devoted to social amusements and a good time indulged. The local lodge of this order is growing rapidly.

Poverty may be the best preparatory school for life, but if so, most of us would prefer to skip all schooling below the freshman class.—Atlanta Journal.

TO RENDER GRAND LECTURE.

REV. J. P. CURRIN WILL DELIVER A SPECIAL SERMON TOMORROW.

GOLDEN GATE, July 2.—Rev. J. P. Currin will hold Lord's Supper services tomorrow at the Golden Gate Baptist Church. At the conclusion of these impressive ceremonies the Sunday School services will begin its third quarter's work. The study which has been selected by the pastor will be "The Kingdom of David." The sermon will be in the usual line of the Rev. Currin's most excellent talks, and the congregation will without doubt be large and will closely follow the life lectures of the well known local divine. The evening subject is under the head of the "Watch." Rev. Currin has prepared a most excellent discourse for the evening sermon and gives a special invitation to all who are interested in life work to be present. The new schedule of the Key Route, which stops at Fifty-fifth street will enable all who desire to hear these popular lectures to stop off near the church.

PRESBYTERIANS.

Rev. Everett M. Hill will preach tomorrow at the Methodist church and will as usual give his interesting talks on life and the application thereof. The sermon for tomorrow is especially prepared and will, without doubt, bring the largest congregation that the Rev. Hill has ever had to talk to regarding the usefulness of the following of an upright life and steady conduct.

MISS DILLON LEAVES.

Miss Gertrude Dillon, who has been employed for some time as a clerk for the meat company of Band & Co., the well known butchers, has left for her vacation. She has left for Shasta Retreat, and will be absent for about three weeks.

M'INTOSHES AWAY.

Mrs. McIntosh and family left for Vallejo yesterday. The family will be gone about two weeks and will then return to their Fremont street residence.

HARRINGTONS RETURN.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrington, residing on Vallejo street, have returned from a trip to the St. Louis Fair. They have been absent for about one month. They report a most enjoyable trip, but yet they state that they are glad to again see the welcome of Golden Gate.

MISSES NICHOLS' VACATION.

Miss Emily Nichols, and her sister, Miss Edith Nichols, have departed for Santa Rosa, where they will spend a two week's holiday. They will then return to their home on Santa Fe avenue.

NEW LIBRARIAN.

Miss Estella Mincher who has for a long time been the popular librarian at the Golden Gate Free Reading Room left Thursday for the Shasta Retreat. During her absence her sister, Miss Della Mincher, will officiate in her stead. Miss Mincher has been one of the most popular of the librarians in this vicinity and her absence will be greatly felt. She will probably be gone for about two weeks and will then return to resume her duties at the library. Miss Mincher has been most faithful in the discharge of her duties and the people of Golden Gate are highly satisfied with her attention to duty. The family lives at 1011 Fifty-third street and is well known as one of the most social of the town.

MALCOLM'S BUILDING.

Mr. F. Malcolm is building a new two story residence on Fifty-fourth street. The building will be devoted to flats and will without doubt soon be occupied.

LOMBARD HOUSE.

Charles Lombard is building a new house next door to the Du Rome residence on Fifty-fourth street. The house will be a two story affair and will contain nine rooms. The edifice will be offered for rent as soon as completed.

SMITH FOR UKIAH.

W. J. Smith, one of the best known contractors will leave shortly for Ukiah, where he will be absent for about a fortnight. Mr. Smith is a well known character in this district.

AUTO AND CAR IN COLLISION.

NEW YORK, July 2.—Two women and a man, occupants of an automobile which crashed into a Brighton Beach motor train at Ocean Parkway early today were badly hurt. The woman may die.

The injured:
Edward Schoteel.
Irene Shayne.
Laura O'Donnell.

The train into which the machine crashed was filled with passengers bound home from Coney Island. The crowd became greatly excited and the train was nearly emptied of its load in a few minutes. The members of the automobile party were thrown headlong to the hard surface of the boulevard. Both women sustained fractured skulls, and at the hospital to which they were hastily carried, it was feared they would not recover.

Schoteel, who was handling the automobile, was not seriously injured.

MOTHER BADLY FRIGHTENED.

FRUITVALE WOMAN FEARED HER CHILD HAD SWALLOWED POISON.

FRUITVALE, July 2.—Mrs. William Mullen, of Fruitvale, received a bad fright Thursday when she found her year-old boy playing with a bottle of tartar emetic, which had been kept in the house for killing rats, and which the child had in some manner secured. It had a spoon dipped in the powder and was about to swallow a mouthfull, when the horrified mother came in the room. She feared the child had already taken some, and became greatly frightened, sending hurriedly for Dr. Huntington, who on arriving found that the child had not eaten any of the poison, or if it had was not harmed by it. He left an antidote, however, and no evil effects have resulted.

A FLYING TRIP.

Dr. Daniel Crosby paid a flying visit to his home here Thursday, returning at once to Pacific Grove, where he is sojourning for his health.

MRS. WIE ILL.

Mrs. Wie, of Prospect avenue, is reported dangerously ill. She is attended by Dr. Callen.

Mrs. O. W. Carson is suffering greatly from a felon on her finger, being almost unable to attend to her work on account of the pain it causes her.

STUDENTS ENJOY THEIR FIRST OUTING.

BERKELEY, July 2.—The first of a number of field trips that will be held during the summer school session was taken today to Wildcat Canyon. The large number of college people who participated in the walk were led by J. W. Rhodes.

The party started from the main entrance of the gymnasium at 9 o'clock and will not return until late this afternoon.

NEW SCIENTIFIC PROCESS.

A Preparation Discovered That Will Destroy the Dandruff Germ.

For some time it has been known that dandruff is caused by a germ that digs up the scalp into little white flakes, and by sapping the vitality of the hair at the root, causes falling hair, and, of course, finally baldness. For years there have been all kinds of hair stimulants and scalp tonics on the market, but there has been no permanent cure for dandruff until the discovery of a preparation called Newbro's Herpicide, which destroys the dandruff germ. Destroy the cause, the effect will cease to exist. Kill the dandruff germ and you'll have no dandruff, no itching scalp, no falling hair. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Bowman & Co., Special Agents.

WILL WED AT ELMHURST.

MISS FREDA MUNK AND WM. D. HOSTETTER TO BE MARRIED IN CHURCH.

ELMHURST, July 2.—Tomorrow evening at the Presbyterian Church here, the wedding of Miss Freda Munk and Wm. D. Hostetter will take place. Rev. E. E. Cark will officiate and the moneymoon will be spent in the South. The young couple will then probably go East to reside.

DRUIDS'S PICNIC TOMORROW.

It is expected that large crowds will attend the picnic of the Elmhurst Grove of Druids tomorrow at San Lorenzo Grove. All the Haywards line cars will run to the grove that day and every endeavor will be made to insure the comfort of those attending the picnic. A union band of eight pieces has been secured by the committee on music, to play for the dancing and the various other committees have made all arrangements, so that the affair will undoubtedly be a great success. This is the first picnic of Elmhurst Grove and no efforts are being spared that will add to the pleasures of the day.

RUSSIAN PAPER MAKES CHARGES.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 2.—The Journal De St. Petersburg, the semi-official organ of the Foreign Office, prints this morning one of its infrequent editorial articles dealing with official denial by the Japanese Government of the reports of the mutilation of Russian wounded. The article says:

"A simple denial is not exculpation. We do not deny that our wounded are well treated at Sasebo and other Japanese cities where well-organized hospitals are operated, under the eyes of Europe; but on the field of battle, when the Russians are forced to abandon the wounded, a cruel fate awaits them as their agonized cries there can not be heard in Europe.

"A photograph has been taken by Dr. Stankevitch of General Mistchenko's division showing horrible mutilated Russians with hands cut off and tongues cut out and pieced by thongs. An officer was found in a pitiable condition, but still breathing. He was restored to consciousness and said he had been fired upon deliberately by a Japanese soldier. His deposition, signed by the Russian authorities and several military attaches, will soon be in our possession."

HELP LAID OFF.

CHICAGO, July 2.—Nearly 1500 employes of the Pullman Company have been "laid off" at the Pullman car shops. All trades are effected. Officials of the company assert that it is necessary to cut down expenses and that orders on hand do not require so large a force.

IRON WORKS FOR SAN LEANDRO.

CHICAGO FIRM WILL PROBABLY LOCATE THERE IN NEAR FUTURE.

SAN LEANDRO, July 1.—In all probability a $100,000 iron works will be located here in a short time. A representative of a Chicago firm was in town Thursday to look about for an available site. The Board of Trade has agreed to grant the company five acres of ground on which to erect their plant and the representative was taken over the ground by Messrs. S. Huff, D. McCarthy, and L. Godchaux. He seemed very much pleased with the prospect and was favorably impressed with the Ward tract as a suitable spot whereon to erect the factory. He has telegraphed to the president of the firm which he represents, who is at present in Kansas City, telling him that he is satisfied with the proposition and stating that maps and detailed information will be forwarded later by mail. It is expected that the president will arrive inside of two weeks to look over the ground and complete arrangements. The works would employ at least one hundred men at the start.

REMOVALS.

F. Rodgers will shortly move his fruit business to the store now occupied by "The Standard," which will, in turn, move to the bank building, in the store now used by Mr. McArdle as an office. Mr. Critchlow, editor of "The Standard," will make numerous improvements in his plant and will have an up-to-date office in every respect. Mr. McArdle will remain in his present quarters.

INTEREST IS PAID.

NEW YORK, July 2.—Announcement is made that the semi-annual interest on the Mexican Central's $66,578,000 consolidated mortgage four per cent bonds has been paid. This, according to the Herald, will prevent a re-organization of the property by interest opposing the present management for six months at least.

The subsidy fund originally consisted of about $14,000,000 Mexican currency. Enough of the company's priority five per cent bonds were sold it is understood, to provide the funds that were lacking for the interest payment.

Just what step will be taken by the bankers who wish to reorganize the property and the stockholders protective committee has not been determined.

J. B. SMITH DEAD.

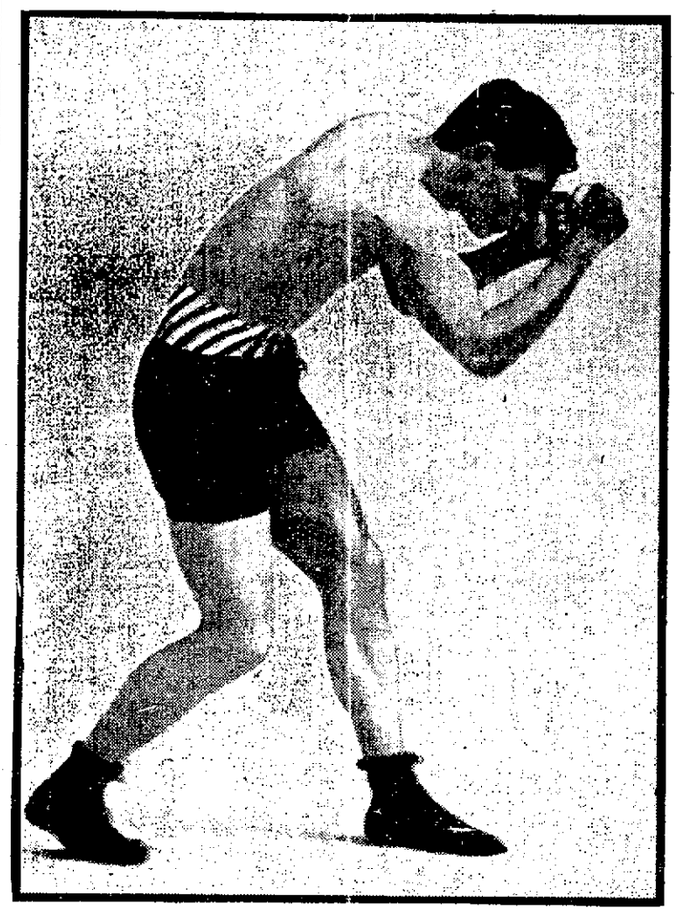

LIVERMORE, July 2.—Julius Paul Smith, a pioneer winemaker of Livermore, died here last Wednesday night from a stroke of paralysis suffered six months ago. Since his illness commenced he has been constantly under the care of physicians. Though at times he appeared to rally he never passed out of danger.

Smith was the owner of the Olivina vineyard, said to be the largest one in California devoted to winemaking. He was a persistent promoter of the wine interests of the Livermore valley and one of the largest shippers of wines in California. He was born in Wisconsin sixty-two years ago and leaves a wife. He was a brother of F. M. Smith.

AGAIN PORTLAND IS WINNER.

FOURTH STRAIGHT GAME FOR WEBFOOTERS WITH SEALS.

For four consecutive times have the Portlands piled the victory on the Seals and it looks as if there was nothing more for the latter to do than to go way back and sit down on the hard bench. The score yesterday was 5 to 3 in favor of the Browns. Both pitchers, Yerkes and Iberg, were hit hard, the former presenting twelve and the latter putting ten in the bang column. The Seals were unable to score until the sixth inning, when they brought in a pair, and in the inning following added another which was enough. The Dugdalers did not make an error and the Seals only had a pair of bad lookers in the wrong column. The score:

MUSICAL COMEDY AT IDORA PARK.

Commencing at the matinee tomorrow the bill at the Idora Park Theater will be a new musical comedy "Topsy Turvy," by Fred L. Griffiths. It is full of fun, and is said to be one of the best shows yet put on at the park.

The musical features will include "Ma Marshmellow Queen," "My Own United States," and other new songs, together with a splendid chorus.

The vaudeville portion of the program will include exhibitions of fire eating, feats of ventriloquism and illustrated songs and moving pictures.

The new style of ticket entitles the purchaser to admission into the grounds and one of the various attractions on the grounds for 10c.

On Monday next, July 4th, a special list of extra attractions will be presented, including a baseball game between the Eagles and Elks, open air concerts on Sunday and Monday afternoons and Monday night by the Boys' Band of the Hebrew Orphans Asylum of San Francisco, and a grand exhibition of fireworks in the evening.

CLAUDE KERN, CALIFORNIA'S BRILLIANT HALF-BACK IN A STATE OF INDECISION.

BERKELEY, July 2.—It is possible that Claude Kern, the plucky half-back of the University of California may not re-enter college next term. If he does resume his university work it is probable that he may attend one of the Eastern colleges.

"I have not decided as to just what I will do," said Kern this morning at the Theta Delta Chi house. I am seriously thinking of not going to college at all next term."

If Kern does not play under the Blue and Gold colors this year his loss will be keenly felt. Last year he was barred from the game through a bad knee.

MISS KIRK IS IN CHICAGO.

Reports of a delightful visit are coming from Miss Loretta Kirk, the East Oakland girl who is spending this summer in Chicago as the guest of relatives. She has been entertained by several of the leading hostesses of the city and one evening recently she was a guest in Governor Pardee's box at a performance of the "Wizard of Oz."

Miss Kirk is planning to visit the St. Louis Fair with a party from Chicago and an enjoyable term of sight seeing is anticipated. After her visit to the Fair Miss Kirk will join her brother, Henry Kirk, the successful young playwright who is now in New York. The young people will return to spend Christmas at their home in East Oakland and a delightful family reunion is in prospect for Henry Kirk's work and study have kept him for some time past in the Eastern metropolis.

A New Yorker who took legal advice on the subject has discovered he has no right to shoot a young man next door who is learning to play on the violin. It appears the unwritten law applies only to wind instruments.—Sioux City Journal.

BARRY-FOLEY TO BATTLE.

HAWAIIAN CHAMPION MATCHED TO MEET OLD TIME RIVAL HARRY FOLEY.

Dave Barry and Harry Foley have been matched to fight twenty rounds before the Century Athletic Club of Los Angeles July 15th. Foley has beaten Barry, but owing to the great improvement that Barry has made during the last year the concensus of opinion is that Barry should make a stronger showing and possibly defeat Foley.

Barry, it is true, has not been seen around this part of the world for about two years, but from reports received from Honolulu, where he has been winning victory after victory and comes home without a defeat, show in a measure, that the lad is in far better boxing shape than he ever was before.

Another thing might be said about Barry and that is that his opponents in the islands have not been actually in his class from a matter of science. Barry has disposed of his antagonists easily down there. When he meets Foley he will not only have an old-time rival to defeat who has defeated him, but a far cleverer fellow to handle than he has had during his absence.

As a preliminary Joe Angell and Frank Rafael will probably furnish a most interesting go. There will be more betting on this bout than on the main event.

Spider Kelly, it is said, wants to bet $500 that Rafael can defeat Angell and Angell's manager has already put up $500 to tease the wily Spider. There is no good feeling between the lads and the contest should be a fast and furious affair.

NEW ATHLETIC FIELD WILL BE READY FOR FALL GAMES.

BERKELEY, July 2.—A large force of graders are busy rushing the excavation of the new gridiron in the Hillegas tract. A depth of several feet has already been made in the effort to level the sloping hillside.

The earth that is removed is banked on either side of the field to be used later in supporting tiers of cement seats. The field will be ready for the fall practice games and the annual contest with Stanford in November.

SAYS JOCKEY CLUB OWES HIM MONEY.

ST. LOUIS, July 2.—Judge Moses N. Sale, of the Circuit Court, issued an order returnable July 5 requiring the Union Jockey Club to show cause why a restraining order should not be made and a receiver appointed for the club. The action was taken on the application of Judge Bond, for John P. Collins, a member of the board of managers, who declares the club owes him several thousand dollars. He alleges mismanagement.

THE NEWS LETTER.

Sparkling with the spirit of the woods, fragrant with the air of the country, the song of birds and the scent of flowers is the Outing Number of the San Francisco News Letter. It is a guide-post to the city-wearied, who seek a haven of rest and enjoyment.

In addition to the outing features the News Letter has not neglected its usual duty as the metropolis' mentor and guardian of morality. The departments are handled in an able manner by the highest salaried writers. Caustic criticism graces the pages of the sterling weekly, and the news of the week is given public utterance in a way that must please all readers.

The college professor, who conveniently trims his political sails and becomes a Republican to suit the taste of his personal friends, is most properly lampooned. The candidate for Presidential honors, who preaches the gospel of temperance and the anti-horse racing crusade, is exposed through the utterance of his own newspaper and a hundred other evils are given just castigation at the hands of the bright young men on the News Letter staff.

FOURTH OF JULY EXCURSIONS.

The boats and trains of the North Shore Railroad (Sausalito Ferry) will run on Sunday schedule both July 3d and 4th. There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

WILL BE BOXING IN OPEN.

COLMA ATHLETIC CLUB HAS PREPARED GOOD CARD FOR FOURTH.

The out-of-door boxing contests that will take place at Colma under the auspices of the Colma Athletic Club on the Fourth of July are attracting considerable attention. There will be a main event between George and Jack Sullivan, who will meet at 185 pounds. Jack McMullen and Eddie Coyne will meet in the arena at 125 pounds and should put up a good showing. Billy Henry and Will O'Brien will meet at 110 pounds. Tony Flores and Joe Larkin at 133 pounds and Chiefy Johnsy and Eli Campbell at 110 pounds.

The first bout will be pulled off at 2 o'clock and all efforts to prevent delays will be made by the management. The admission is 50 cents. There will be no reserved seats and it is a case of the one who gets there first gets the choice of seats.

AT THE PLAY

Commencing Fourth of July matinee Bronson Howard's great war play, "Shenandoah," will be produced for the first time in Oakland. Manager Bishop has spared no money in getting up this production and has augmented his company of players by adding Mina C. Gleason, the cleverest character actress in America, and will play her original part, Mrs. Haverhill, which she played for twenty-eight months.

Ozar Waldorp, the cleverest soubrette the coast has yet seen will also make her first appearance before Oakland play goers in the part of Jennie Buckthorn U. S. A.

Stage Manager W. L. Gleason was stage manager for the first production of Shenandoah and played the original part of Sergeant Basket. The balance of the caste will be in capable hands of Bishop's company of players.

Every theater-goer in Oakland will welcome the presentation of Bronson Howard's master-piece of stage realism, the great war play "Shenandoah," which will be given next week, beginning quite properly with two performances on Monday, the Fourth of July, a matinee being given in the afternoon. No play of modern times has such a tremendous hold upon the American people as "Shenandoah." It is a play that secures the unanimous endorsement of the press and the pulpit, educators, parents and the public in general. The rising generation attend the play and go away impressed in a most vivid manner with one of the greatest incidents in American history. There is no play in the English language, which can create, hold and receive such interests as "Shenandoah."

The story centers around two young officers, both graduates of West Point, who at the breaking out of the Civil War are stationed in Charleston. When Sumter is fired upon Captain West returns to the North to command a regiment while Captain Ellingham resigns and joins the forces in Virginia, his native State, as colonel. West's sister is in love with Ellingham and the latter's sister is betrothed to West. Although the two friends are on opposite sides they maintain their interest in each other, and the two girls find that their love of country and their love for the men divide their sympathies. The first act is located in Charleston. The great war is imminent. Here the lovers part, the Wests to the North and the Ellinghams to the South. The second act shows the Ellingham home in the valley of the Shenandoah. Here comes West with his regiment. The place becomes the headquarters of General Haverhill. Other high officers appear on the scene which becomes one of intense interest. The Ellingham home is directly in the line of action and in the third act it sees the most exciting scenes of the great fight. The northern forces are attacked by the southerners. The victory seems to be complete but they do not know. "Sheridan is coming." The retreating Northerners stop, turn and follow the dashing figure. "Come on boys, we're going back." The roul becomes a charge, the Southerners see victory slip away and they in turn are driven back in complete defeat. Sheridan's Ride becomes history. This great scene is faithfull re-enacted upon the stage and will be see on a sumptuous scale at Ye Liberty. Scores of soldiers will be used in the great fight.

The last act of the play is located in Washington at the hame of General Buckthorn. The war is over, the lovers are united and there is "Peace at Last."

THE NOVELTY.

The bill at the Novelty is gilt edged and gives the utmost satisfaction to the many patrons of this popular theater. Nevertheless, the artists now appearing have to make room next Monday for an entire new lot of vaudeville people now on their way here from the East to tour the Novelty circuit, beginning their engagement at Col. Lubelski's Novelty in this city, the headquarters of the circuit on this coast.

The attendance this week has been exceedingly large—one of the best weeks in the history of this house, and what accounts for it, is because the class of people appearing at this theatre is among the best in the business. All this show is given for the nominal admission of one dime, with positively no extras.

There is something inviting about this pretty little theater that seems to meet with the approbation of its patrons—it has every semblance of an up-to-date place of amusement, with every convenience, and the seats are of the chair order, and spacious, with a graduating floor that gives every one in the house a full view of the stage. The galleries are also well appointed, besides which everyone visiting the theater is given every attention by a courteous corps of attaches. The feature act of this week is by all means the De Laceys, a duo composed of a bright little girl 8 years of age and a young man yet in his teens. They are far above the average and their singing and dancing is great. They are encored at every performance, until almost exhausted. The moving pictures are exceptionally fine, some of the best seen in this city.

Monday next will witness another grand aggregation of Star vaudeville performers who come direct from the East, making their initial bow on the coast.

THE BELL.

The Bell is reaping a harvest this week, as in former weeks, because it gives a program that warrants all the prosperity it is enjoying. At the beginning of each performance, there is never a vacant seat in the house with several hundred people awaiting outside to witness the next show. This is an indication that the program is an excellent one and proves that the best is the cheapest. It is always the best with the Bell management. They secure the leaders in vaudeville, never stopping at the cost, and as a consequence, when you contemplate attending this theatre a splendid entertainment invariably awaits you. This week Mlle Emma Cotrely and Prof. A. Van Gofre are head liners in their attraction. They introduce some unrivaled specialties in balancing and scientific posturing, showing unequalled feats of strength of the most startling acts hereabouts. The whole bill is a "top-notcher," every number most acceptably rendered and generously encored by the large audiences. Miss Susie Lehman, the favorite illustrated singer is becoming more popular every day. She has a splendid voice, which she uses to advantage and by long odds is the best lady illustrated warbler heard in this city. She is a prominent feature at the Bell. Another thing in favor of this theater is the superb music rendered by the orchestra, Leader Barnett and his able assistants give the greatest satisfaction to the management and public. The motion pictures for next week are on a par with the former ones seen at this house. It means the very latest and best to be had. The bill will be entirely changed next Monday, the weekly custom, and some of the vaudeville people who have climbed the ladder of fame will be on the program.

EDWARD A. HOMAN, GENERAL MANAGER OF THE BELL THEATER

THE EMPIRE.

The second week of the Empire Theater under the new management has demonstrated the fact that the present owners intend to give the public the best possible show for their money. The ten cent vaudeville program now being presented, is equal in quality to any seen here for some time, and deserves to be well patronized by the public. The bill is changed every Monday and some of the new people to appear next week are very clever, including several high class artists that have just finished engagements on Eastern circuits. One thing is sure, and that is that the management tries to please their patrons, and in this regard they succeed. If the same class of people are booked for this house in the future, as the last two weeks, it is a guarantee that there will be no cause for complaint from its patrons.

AT THE ALCAZAR.

White Whittlesey, supported by that reliable organization, the Alcazar Stock Company, will present for the second week of his annual summer engagement, commencing with a special Independence Day matineee Monday, July 4th, the delightful and dainty comedy "One Summer's Day." R. V. Esmond, the prolific English dramatist who wrote "When We Were Twenty-one," is the author of this play. It was originally produced in England with pronounced success and the impression it made in this country when presented by John Drew was even more emphatic. The theme of the story is decidedly English and the action of the play takes place during a picnic on the banks of the Thames river. The gentility of the British nation are brought in contact with a band of Gypsies through a reckless marriage of one of the sons of a noble family with a beautiful girl of the tribe.

NEILL AT THE GRAND.

Mr. James Neill, supported by Edythe Chapman, and the original Neill company, will begin a season tomorrow (Sunday) matinee at the Grand Opera House, in Clyde Fitch's celebrated American play, "Barbara Frietchie." The immense resources of the Grand Opera House stage will be utilized for this production, which will undoubtedly be the most effective and complete ever given "Barbara Frietchie" in San Francisco.

The selection of this patriotic play is particularly appropriate at this season of the year when we celebrate the anniversary of the independence of our beloved country. Mr. Neill, who is now acknowledged to be the best romantic leading actor on the American stage, will repeat a former triumph as the brave young Northern Captain Trumbull, and the announcement that Edythe Chapman is again to impersonate Barbara Frietchie should be sufficient to draw crowded houses.

The other characters are allotted to John W. Burton, Donald Bowles, George Bloomquest, W. H. Harkness, Reginald Travers, J. D. Harrington, Scott Seaton, George D. Berrell, Philip Lord, Katherine Gilman, Francis Slosson, Page Wallace, Alice Entzman and Lillian Andrews. During Mr. Neill's engagement special summer prices, 15c, 25c and 50c, will prevail, the very best seat in the orchestra being obtainable at 50 cents. This is the first time "Barbara Frietchie" has been offered at these prices, and the inducement should and probably will be too strong for the public to resist. There will be a special matinee Monday next, July 4th.

THE COTRELY-VAN GOFRE TEAM AT THE BELL THEATER THIS WEEK.

FISCHER'S THEATER.

"The Mormons" will be continued up to and including Friday night, July 8, and commencing with Saturday, July 9th, Fischer's Theater will go straight back to the German comedians and one Hebrew actor, and for that purpose have secured the three best known people who impersonate these characters in America. They are Rice and Cady, who for several years have appeared in all the Weber & Field's plays, and have been "star" liners in vaudeville. They come direct from a successful tour of fifty-two weeks ending in Seattle. They will be seen in "A Lucky Stone," a very funny play written expressly for the new company at this house. The play is in two acts, the first scene the Board of Trade Building, Chicago, the second, one night on Market street in San Francisco, and the last in front of the museum in Golden Gate Park. The libretto is by Collin Davis, and the music by Frank M. Whitmark, two of the best known collaborators of musical productions in America. In selecting "A Lucky Stone" for their opening with the new company (which also includes the popular queen of burlesque, Dorothy Morton, and Nora Bayes, a great comedienne) they wished to place befor their patrons, the newest, and most original, up-to-date burlesque. The piece will be studded with new songs, music and specialties, picturesque scenery, striking light effects and handsome costumes will be features. That admirable singer and actor, Edwin Clark, and Roy Alton will contribute song numbers, and popular Ben Dillon remains as one of the best in the cast among this splendid corerie of artists.

The Garrity Sisters have been rehearsing something new in dances to offer the audiences. It is predicted that the change at Fischer's will be a most welcome and successful one and that crowded houses will again rule at this popular place of amusement. Seats are now on sale for "The Mormons" and for "A Lucky Stone," which begins on July 9th. There will be a special matinee on July 4th of "The Mormons."

NEW BOOKS JUST PUBLISHED.

Lovers of fiction wherein are mingled business, politics and love, will find a novel suited to their taste in "The Grafters" by Francis Lynde. Unquestionably it is one of the best books of the year and will prove dry reading to no one—if the reader cares at all for a story of human interest. The scene is laid in a Western State, which is at the mercy of a gang of officials who are corruptible and alternately at swords points or "standing in" with a corrupting railway company. The hero is a young attorney and legal representative of the Western Pacific Railway, in which corporation the entire fortunes of the heroine and her mother and sister are invested. That the hero is often "between the devil and the deep sea" can be easily understood. Space will not permit of a lengthy review and the best advice that can be given the reader is to get "The Grafters" and read it. Published by The Bobbs-Merrill Company, Indianapolis. Illustrated. Price $1.50.

HULDAH.

The story of a woman—brave—unflinching—great-hearted; a Texan woman of the plains. Such is "Huldah," one of the recent bits of fiction that it has been our pleasure to read. "Huldah" is described as "one of the Lord's own people," and as such she disseminates sunshine throughout the pages of the book—her optimistic nature and her every word is a reminder of the strength and freedom of the plains.

The story tells how she helped those who needed help out there in the cattle country and can be recommended as amusing, interesting and inspiring from beginning to end. "Huldah" is written in collaboration by Alice MacGowan and Grace MacGowan Cooke; illustrated. Published by Bobbs-Merrill Company, Indianapolis. Price $1.50.

THE SINGULAR MISS SMITH.

"The Singular Miss Smith" is a bright, breezy story of a beautiful heiress who thought she would find out how working women live. Partly, Mrs. Florence Morse Kingsley is poking fun at some of the solemn undertakings of women's clubs; but chiefly she tells a charming love story of the old-fashioned sort. Miss Smith suddenly gives up her investigations as to why girls would rather work in factories than in private houses, because she finds herself confronted with a problem of very much more pressing interest. This is a typical light summer novel, by the author of "Titus: A Comrade of the Cross," "Stephen," "Paul," and other famous historico-religious novels; but it is also a book to be read, laughed over, and then carefully considered by the feminine population of the United States. Mrs. Kingsley's novel is a notable among the summer stories on account of the help it gives to women in managing their servants. Yet it is pure romance, simple, tender, lively, entertaining, and deliciously humorous. Published by the Macmillan Company, New York.

THE LURE OF GOLD.

Bailey Millard, in "The Lure of Gold," has given a pen picture of life in the mining regions of the Arctic equal to any which has been painted by the distinguished men who have essayed to describe the modus vivendi of that section of the country. His story opens with a directness which attracts the attention and retains it to the close. There is a short picture of a stirring scene in a mining camp at Nome, and the toiling after gold of a number of Argonauts and the illluck which comes to those who are in the tail of the treasure-seekers. Then comes the announcement of the discovery of gold in another diggings, which occasions a hegira of a large number of the disappointed ones to the new El Dorado. Among these gold-seekers are the hero and his father. They reach the "diggings" and find them promising of everything but gold. They "wash the sand" on the beach, however, and the first pan yields six dollars in gold. This is encouraging and, continued effort, brings more gratifying reward until, at length the father is taken sick and is compelled to return to San Francisco. The son continues at the diggings and secures $40,000 worth of gold dust, which he says is ample for his purposes. He bids goodbye to his claim and starts for home to enjoy the pleasure which his gold dust assures him.

The author describes the difficulties attending the shipment of treasure, the harpies continually on the alert to despoil the returning miner of his hard-bought treasure. Into the hands of a brace of these thieves, the hero falls and is despoiled of his treasure. Then follows a graphic description of the effort to regain the golden sand and the delineation of character which is to be found in that section of the country which is done with remarkable fidelity and a skill of the highest order. There is not a dull line in the book and Mr. Millard's work will undoubtedly enjoy the wide sale which it deserves. The book is illustrated, and is published by Edward J. Clode, Fifth avenue, New York.

THE PILLAR OF LIGHT.

In "The Pillar of Light," by Louis Tracy, is to be found a story just as exciting and fascinating as "The Wings of the Morning," which is also from the pen of Mr. Tracy. Thousands of people reveled in Mr. Tracy's great Malay Island romance and the hearts of these will beat faster when their owners are made captive by the witchery of this charming writer. The "Pillar of Light" is a lighthouse known as the Gulf Rock Light, and in and around it centers incidents and adventure of the most engrossing and exciting character. The subject is not a new one but it is handled in a masterful manner by Mr. Tracy, so much so, that the reader will feel well repaid for his perusal of what may, at some time or other, have previously received attention from him. Mr. Tracy is a pleasant writer. He has a masterful knowledge of his subject and invests his characters with a sympathetic interest which survives till the close. The book is published by Edward J. Clode, Fifth avenue, New York.

THE SIGN OF TRIUMPH.

"The Sign of Triumph" is a romance of the children's crusade, by Sheppard Stevens, who is also author of "I Am King," "In the Eagle's Talons," etc. It is highly illustrated by Harry C. Edwards. The author is inspired to his best efforts by the manner in which historians have allowed the events in the children's crusades to drop completely out of sight, or at best to be dismissed with only a few lines. So utterly inconceivable was the whole movement from the standpoint of today, that one would be justified in doubting its truth were there not some nineteen or twenty authorities on the subject, five of the chroniclers having lived at the time, and several others having drawn their information from chronicles since destroyed. Aside from the interest which this crusade holds in itself, a crusade which lost to the homes of France and Germany nearly one hundred thousand children, it is interesting to the student, showing as nothing else does, the strong religious feeling of the Middle Ages. From materials taken from the thrilling historical event, the author has fashioned a story which will be read with unwonted interest because of its extreme unlikeness to nothing of the kind, to the knowledge of the writer having been given to the public for several generations. The book is published by L. C. Page & Co., of Boston.

UNCLE BOB AND AUNT BECKY.

This book details the strange adventures of Uncle Bob and Aunt Becky at the World's Exposition. The quaint old couple leave home in an ox-cart and return in an automobile. The book is a journey of exciting experiences bubbling over with sparkling fun. It tells how the ancient couple witnessed the gorgeous sights and wonderful displays. There are 105 striking pen and ink sketches especially drawn from the work. It is published by Laird & Lee, Chicago.

WHERE NO DIVORCE IS LEGALIZED.

Augusta had what the Chronicle termed a "big divorce day," on Monday last. Seven suits were disposed of in short order, and then a "sensational" case interrupted the smoothly running divorce mill for a time. Poor South Carolina! How lonely she is in her married happiness!—Columbia (S. C.) State.

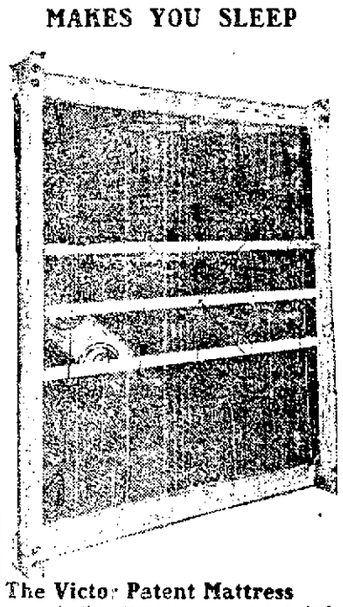

This is base ingratitude. Two-thirds of the cases on Augusta's divorce docket are furnished by South Carolinians who move over here to seek the relief they cannot find in their own State. Now, don't attempt to deny it, because the records show it.—Augusta Chronicle.

KILLED ON THE TRACK.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., July 2.—Struck by the flying body of her eight-year-old son, who was instantly killed by an express train, Mrs. Alva Williamson escaped the fate of her boy.

Mrs. Williamson and her son were on the way to visit Mrs. Williamson's mother and were walking on the track. They stepped from in front of an approaching freight train and did not see the swift running express. The boy was ahead. His body was thrown back with great violence and knocked his mother off the track. Mrs. Williamson's mother saw the accident from a window of her home.

NOTES FOR THE WOMEN

AT THE VANDERBILT CAMP.

Mrs. Alfred Vanderbilt, who has a very luxurious camp in the Adirondack Mountains, uses something quite new in the way of table decorations. She has had leather mats made to be used under the plates and glasses, as well as a large centerpiece, for her bare table. These mats are made round, the large ones for the plates and the smaller ones to go under the glasses. The leather is burnt to form an artistic design, and used on a large, well-polished mahogany table, the whole effect is most attractive. These mats are most useful for a country house, and particularly in the mountains, where one is obliged to lead a rough outdoor existence during the summer months. Some of Mrs. Vanderbilt's leather mats are not only burnt but painted. She has one set which is ornamented with pink roses, the roses first burnt and then colored with oil paints; they are beautifully shaded, and the work is very finely done.

SPATS ARE NOW WORN.

The most popular fad which has struck New York for many years is the wearing of colored spats. Men have worn spats for the last three seasons, but this is the first summer that spats for women have really become very fashionable. Spats are usually worn with low shoes, and are made of cloth, kid or heavy corded silk. The very newest ones are heavily stitched, and the buttons are the same color as the material of which the spats are made. To be thoroughly well gowned, you must have spats to match all your summer muslins and linens. Spats made of white duck and buttoned with large white pearl buttons are very new. These are serviceable as they can be easily washed, and they are very inexpensive to buy. A fashionable bootmaker in New York has had so many orders this summer that he has been unable to fill them.

USES WHITE DRIVING REINS.

Mrs. Keene has attracted a great deal of attention this spring by driving her horses about the country with white reins. Mr. and Mrs. Keene have a very handsome place near New York, where they keep their stable full of valuable horses. Mrs. Keene is a very fine horsewoman herself, and she drives a great deal. The white reins which she has been using of late are made of white leather, and at the end Mrs. Keene's initials are burnt in. Seated in a basket phaeton, with two spirited white horses, and holding these white reins, Mrs. Keene looks remarkably well.

SANDALS ARE THE THING.

For women who are blessed with very small feet, there is nothing more becoming than sandals. Mrs. Joseph Widener, of Philadelphia, who is a remarkably beautiful woman, wears them almost entirely in the house. She has them made to match all her rainers and tea-gowns. Some are made of silk, others of satin, some of kid, and she has two pairs made of white linen and embroidered in white silk. They are very comfortable and restful for the feet. You can slip them on in a minute, and they are most becoming. Several of Mrs. Widener's friends have followed her example and they now wearing nothing else in the house.

ANNUAL-HEAD PARASOLS.

One of the most beautiful parasols ever seen in New York belongs to Miss Marian Fish, the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish. The parasol is made of red silk, covered with full ruffles of red chiffon. Between the ruffles are wreaths of tiny red apples and green velvet leaves. At even distances on the parasol are small owl's heads nestling among the chiffon and apples. The handle is of red enameled wood surmounted by a beautifully carved owl's head. This parasol was made in Vienna for Miss Fish, and was brought over to this country this spring. The parasol is known as an "animal-head parasol," and many more like it have been seen on the other side this season. There is another attractive one trimmed with tiny swallows.

THE VEIL OF THE MOMENT.

The veil of the moment is very beautiful, and likewise very costly, ranging all the way from $2.25 to $5, and sometimes more. These are mostly of the big floating order that greatly enhance the looks of the wearer. There are other veilings less expensive that are dainty and becoming as well; but whether the veil is of the high class or cheaper grade, it is perishable, and due regard must be given to its preservation, since nothing looks quite so untidy as a wrinkled or rusty veil. The dainty woman with an eye to economy keeps a box especially for her veils when not in use, large enough to fold them folded loosely. She never puts her hat away with the veil still on, but takes the veil off, shakes it lightly, then folds it, and never under any circumstances pins it together before putting in the box. If the weather has been damp, and there is any indication of moisture in the veil, she hangs it up to dry before putting it away. Veils when wrinkled must be pressed carefully, and chiffon veils can be freshened by dipping them in tepid water, then squeezing the veil between the hands and pressing with a moderately warm iron. The durability of a veil depends largely upon the care taken of it.

Those grass-green lace veils which were in vogue in the early sixties, and which are found occasionally in attic handboxes, are being worn again this season. Make no mistake about the color. They must be that pure, strong, light grass-green to be a la mode. No modification will do at all. Veils of green chiffon with green lace borders are used also, but the lace veil is the Parisian fancy. For tailored hats and toques there are graceful floating circular veils of plain or chenille-spotted chiffons in all colors, with a three-quarter inch grosgrain ribbon fagoted to the lower edges and ends. These are worn undraped. Lace veils in all colors are popular. Some fine French thread-lace veils have border designs so deep and so elaborate that when they are down the wearer's features, except the eyes, are obscured.

PRETTY BEAD BAGS.

Purses and bags grow constantly more elaborate. One of the latest importations, a purse certainly four by six inches, has a good-sized bill pocket, a change pocket, space for cards and samples, with a mirror set in one of the inner walls of the outside pieces, and a tablet and long slender pencil in the other. These wonders all fold together very compactly, and fasten with with a lapped-over piece caught by a metal button. The case is shown in the various leathers fashionable this season.

Very pretty bead bags in all colors are now made up without the metal mounts quite as often as with them. The silk lingings show in a frill above the beaded portion, and the bag is closed by means of silk cords or ribbons run through bead loops set on at regular intervals just where silk and beading meet. Dispensing with the metal mounts reduces the expense of these pretty trifles so materially that they become really worth troubling to make. The fancy work shops have innumerable pretty designs for the ambitious needlewoman. Theater bags are really lovely—quite as lovely as those put up by the silversmiths.

CUFF, BELT AND STOCK.

A beautiful set of cuffs, belt and stock, designed to be worn with a silk shirt-waist dress, is made of heavy coarse white linen, the grayish white unbleached stuff, embroidered with dull-finished gold thread. The design is bold and rather open, with a powdering of knot-like stitches near the larger scrolls and leaf forms. A straight strip of the embroidery runs from the stock to the belt, covering the waist-closing. The stock, cuffs and front piece were edged with narrow lace ruffles. The belt is plain, that is, without lace finishing, and even the buckle is covered with the embroidery. A plain dress of brown linen or pongee, worn with these lovely accessories, becomes a distinguished garment.

CHIFFON-LINED COATS.

Something really quite new, which comes to us from Paris, is to line your little Eton jacket with chiffon instead of silk. In almost all the imported models the jackets and boleros are lined with chiffon. It is so very much cooler, and exceedingly pretty.

A beautiful white embroidered pongee coat was lined with pale lavender chiffon. The collar was covered with chiffon, and the sleeves were trimmed with full ruffles of the same. The lining is usually sewed in rather full, and the quality of the chiffon must be good, as a poor quality will tear and muss too easily. This is distinctly one of the newest summer fads.

WOMEN'S WORK AT THE EXPOSITION.

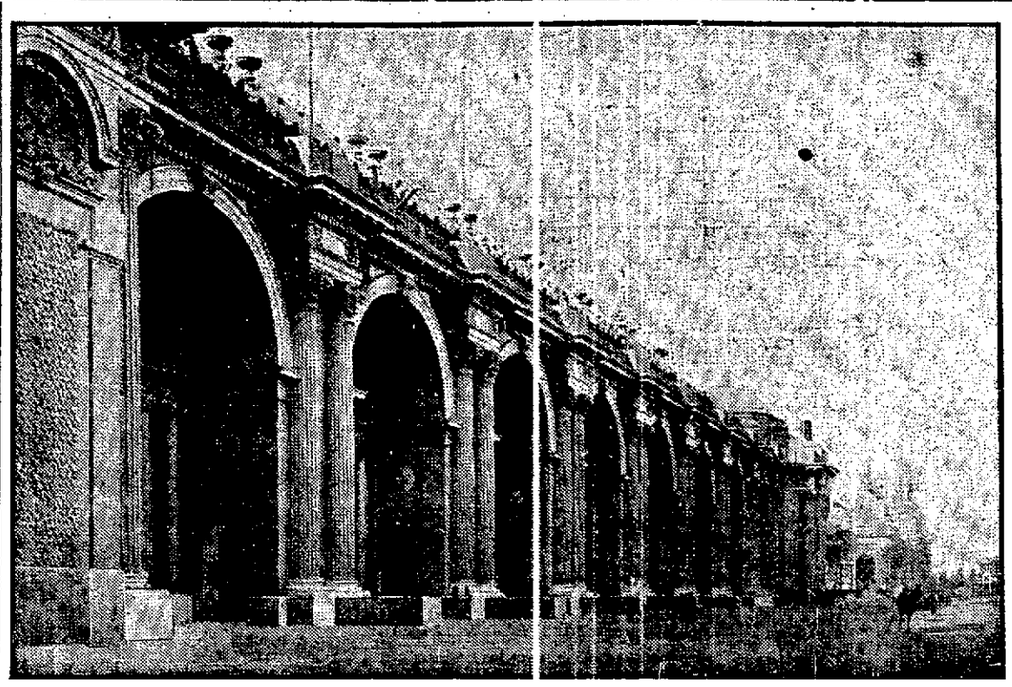

A model playground for children is to be one of the features of women's work at the Exposition during the coming season. It is designed on a large scale and is expected to accommodate all the children who need its comforts. There will be lunch-rooms especially planned for children's uses, nurseries, kindergartens and a dispensary equipped for every possible pleasantness or emergency. Bath-houses, a gymnasium, swings, sandboxes and rest rooms are other features of the plan. All the amusements will be under cover, so that the small guests may be made comfortable and happy in all conditions of weather. The children are to be given the freedom of the grounds, there will be no restrictions to their liberty, and their quarters in the "model city" are to be as beautiful as well kept lawns, flower pots and vine-covered buildings can make them. There are no accommodations for grown people in the lunch or rest rooms, but mothers may leave their babies there in perfect safety, and go about their sight-seeing with contentment.

A BUSINESS FOR WOMEN.

As a business for women none excels that of the engraver. Her delicacy of touch, her innate love for neatness and artistic work, fit her especially for it, while its seclusion is just what the majority desire when forced by circumstances to earn their own living. A good engraver in a jewlery house of any size commands a good salary. In smaller places the work might be done on commission, and her time be her own. It is a business that does not require a special education or an expensive course of training, and yet it is not overcrowded.

LONG HOURS OF SERVICES.

"It always makes me smile to hear men talk about their long hours," said the trained nurse. "If by any possible chance a man hasn't had his clothes off for twenty-four hours, you never hear the end of it, unless perhaps the occasion has been an all-night poker game or something of the sort which he isn't so apt to talk about. But ordinarily he makes a great fuss over his long hours, particularly if due to stress of work or some unexpected duty. Now a trained nurse, even though one of the generally accepted 'weaker sex,' thinks nothing, when occasion demands, of going three or four days and nights without once closing her eyes. I was recently called in a typhoid fever case on a Thursday and on the following Wednesday the patient died. In all that time I only had five hours' sleep, three hours Sunday afternoon and two hours Monday night. On rare occasions I have gone even longer than that without any sleep at all. Of course, we try to make up for it afterward, but it's a good bit like cheating nature."

SECTION OF THE MANUFACTURERS' BUILDING AT THE WORLD'S FAIR.

THE FLIGHT OF TIME.

"Leisure seems to be an attribute or quality, or whatever you choose to call it, that has become altogether obsolete," said the busy mother of a large family. "Nobody has any leisure nowadays," she repeated, "whatever their age, position or means, and who my mother and aunts could have accomplished what they say they used to do passes my comprehension. They were Southern women, and after the war were very poor, but they went out in society, wore pretty gowns which they made themselves, laundered their own priceless laces, every thread of which had to be pricked out on a pillow, and kept the most hospitable open house with only two maids. I can remember now, how the cousins and their friends used to come and go in the old homestead, always getting a warm welcome and plenty to eat. My aunts used to make cake, help with especial dishes, arrange the flowers, dust their Dresden china, of which they were very proud, besides all the things that I have already enumerated, and yet found more overtime to read all the new novels, for they were all great novel readers. They were all soft voiced women, with gentle manners, and never seemed in a hurry. Now, how could they do all that within the twenty-four hours, and get their requisite allotment of sleep. No one I know could do it now. Are we less capable? It really seems as if in some mysterious way time must go faster now than of yore."

DEEP BREATHING IMPROVES APPEARANCES.

A good method of improving the appearance of the neck and chest is in improving the expansion of the chest by increasing the capacity of the lungs. This may be done by breathing exercises. The breath should be slowly drawn in until the chest will expand no more, and then as slowly exhaled. Half a dozen such breaths taken morning and night will expand the chest more quickly than one would think. The use of a tape measure once a week, passed underneath the arms, its adjustment being carefully marked in order that the same place will be measured each time, will show precisely how much you have gained. The improvement which thus comes from forcible expansion is very great, for it improves the general health. At first the deep breathing will make one feel dizzy, but after awhile the depth and number of the exercises may be greatly increased. When taking a walk where the air is pure and lovely, stop and take long breaths, or do so before an open window.

LOVED HER FLOWERS.

"This is a curious advertisement," said a young suburban woman to her husband, who was reading his morning paper at breakfast while she was conning a floral magazine which had come by post. "Listen"—and she read: "'A good home and kind treatment are wanted for some rose bushes, syringas and lilacs, which will be given free to the right person'—and the address given is within driving distance. I think I will take the pony and go over to see what it means, as I want some of those dear, old-fashioned things very much."

And as she was a young person of impulse, that very afternoon saw her jogging across country to the Bronx district, where she found the place designated—a very small old frame house, which the city had overtaken and would soon sweep out of existence. In answer to her knock, a sweet faced, white haired old lady opened the door.

"Yes, I put in that advertisement," she replied in answer to the other's query. "and I've had some answers already, only I didn't like the people; but I think you're the kind I want," she continued, after a keen look at the pretty young maiden. "Come in, my dear, and we'll talk it over. You see," she said, after they were seated in the dark little parlor, "I've lived in this house for forty years come next September. I came here a bride, and my children were all born here. Now they're all married, and my husband and I are going to live near my youngest daughter, in Pennsylvania. We've sold the old place, and the house is going to be torn down, and a street run straight through our yard. It's bad enough to let the old house go, although it seems a lonely place to us now, and they've given us a fine price for it. But those living things, that I planted with my own hands, and that are so sweet and pretty still, I can't abide to let them be torn up or given to those who won't care for them, so I says to myself, 'I'll put that notice in some place where flower lovers will see it, and will be glad to give them a good home.' Will you take them?" she asked, almost beseechingly of little Mrs. S—— I can see you are young and happy, and you must have a pretty home of your own, or you would not have come here. It would comfort me to think of the old roses and lilacs blooming in your garden, with little children playing around 'em."

The bushes and shrubs proved to be fine specimens, and Mrs. S—— was delighted to get them. An arrangement was made with a nearby expressman to have them dug up and carefully transported to their new home, and their present owner has a pretty little story to tell about her new possessions.

SERVING A DINNER.

Never attempt a large course dinner with only one maid. A six-course affair, well cooked and served, is ample, and consists of soup, shellfish, joint or fowl, with vebetables and sauce, a salad, dessert and after dinner coffee, which is always served in the drawing room, or black coffee, which is passed at the table and served in small cups, writes Elizabeth W. Morrison, in the June "Housekeeper."

By having everything at hand before serving, the confusion which otherwise follows, is obviated.

The dishes should be in the warming closet. Extra silver and plates for the dessert and cracked ice for water on the sideboard, the latter in a pretty dish and served with a spoon.

Always leave a clean plate at each guest's place, and when one is removed always replace it with another.

The plate holding the shellfish and the dish in which soup is served is placed on this plate, but after this double plates are not used.

The plates should be removed with the left hand and replaced by the right one. When the food is passed for individual helping, serve it on the left. The woman on the right of the host is helped first, then in order to the right, around the table.

See that the dishes for hot foods are warm, but not hot, and those for cold foods very cold and not lukewarm.

When only one maid is helping serve only such dishes as can have the sauce placed on the food before it is brought in or served by the host or hostess, as it would be too much for the maid to pass the plates and then the sauce and accompanying vegetables, which by this time would be cold.

A tray just large enough to hold one plate should be used, and this should be covered with a small fringed napkin.

Before dessert is served all small dishes, salt and pepper, plates and glasses which will not be used again, must be removed, and the crumbs brushed off with a crumb knife and tray. If one has not these, then use a silver knife and clean plate.

FROZEN PINEAPPLE.

Pare and cut out the eyes of two large pineapples, grate wholly except the core; add to this pulp one quart of water and four large cupfuls of sugar. When the sugar is perfectly dissolved, put into the ice cream freezer.

RASPBERRY AND CURRANT JELLY.

A delicious raspberry jelly is made by adding two pints of red raspberry juice to each pint of currant juice. Cook from five to ten minutes, skimming carefully, then add three-fourths of a pint of sugar to each pint of fruit. Remove from the fire as soon as the sugar is thoroughly heated, and pour into jelly tumblers. Raspberries will make jelly alone, but it is much more economical to make it in this way, as the currants do not affect the flavor and the juice goes so much further. Always choose a clear day, and be sure that your fruit is perfectly fresh.

SOUTHERN RICE BREAD.

Where the breakfast does not includes meat, the following formula will give a nutritious, inviting, satisfying feature:

Make a batter as follows: Mix a tablespoonful of butter with half a cupful of soft-boiled rice, add the yolks of two eggs well beaten and a cupful of milk; sift in next half a cupful of flour, a tablespoonful of yellow cornmeal, and a very scant taaspoonful of baking powder. Add a dash of salt to the whites of two eggs and beat to a stiff froth. Fold this in quickly and lightly to the remainder of the mixture. Pour into small layer cake pans and bake in a hot oven until a golden-brown, which will take from twelve to fifteen minutes. Remove one of the layers to the serving plate, bottom side up. Butter well over the entire surface. Place another layer over this and butter generously as you would spread jelly on a layer cake. The top layer is to be placed top side up, and also well buttered. Cover all with a deep dish and place in the oven until ready to be served.

CURRANT JELLY.

Remove the leaves and imperfect berries from ripe currants, crush them a little to extract the juice and put them over the fire to scald. Watch them closely, or they will burn in spite of you. When well scalded, pour into a jelly bag to drip. An excellent way is to run the top of the bag through the wringer and place a dish beneath to catch the juice. Do not squeeze, if you desire the jelly to be perfectly clear. When it is through dripping, measure and pour into a granite kettle to cook. Remove the scum that rises and cook from seven to ten minutes. Then add the sugar, allowing a pint for every pint of juice. Usually, it will jelly as soon as the sugar is thoroughly dissolved, but sometimes it is necessary to boil it a few minutes.

RISING BREAST

And many other painful and serious ailments from which most mothers suffer, can be avoided by the use of "Mother's Friend." This great remedy is a God-send to women, carrying them through their most critical ordeal with safety and no pain. No woman who uses "Mother's Friend" need fear the suffering and danger incident to birth; for it robs the ordeal of its horror and insures safety to life of mother and child, and leaves her in a condition more favorable to speedy recovery. The child is also healthy, strong and good natured. Our book "Motherhood," is worth its weight in gold to every woman, and will be sent free in plain envelope by addressing application to Bradfield Regulator Co. Atlanta, Ga.

TUSCAN
Mineral Springs, open the year round. To whom it may concern: A year and three months ago I was attacked with that terrible disease, Locomotor Ataxia. Power to balance, stand or even sit down entirely lost. Two best doctors of San Francisco and Hot Springs, Ark., failed to help me. My stomach, bowels and kidneys failed to work. I had catarrh of stomach, head and bladder as a result of the disease; these troubles became chronic. At times my heart would beat like a drum, my eyes grow weak, my memory bad, my nerves wrecked. Three months ago I went to Tuscan Springs. What happened since was a pleasant surprise to me. Drank the waters, took the baths, after three weeks' treatment stomach, bowels, bladder and kidneys in perfect condition, eyesight perfect, nervousness gone, memory good. After three months' treatment walked without cane, with eyes closed and up and down steep hills; am cured of this dread disease, now walk with slight limp. Have run stores in seventeen towns of the State of California; am well known in downtown districts of San Francisco; inquiry there will prove truth of my helpless condition three months ago. Further information, address Louis Jacobs, 6 Stockton st., San Francisco, Cal. We have hundreds of testimonials from others; send 50c in stamps for bottle of stomach and catarrh salts. Round trip tickets at reduced rates, Southern Pacific. TUSCAN MINERAL SPRINGS CORP., Tuscan, Cal.

AFTER A SQUADRON.

Japanese Ships Said to Have Met Russian Vessels.

SEOUL, Korea, July 2, 2:20 p. m.—The Japanese legation has received reports from semi-official sources on the east of an engagement yesterday between the Vladivostok squadron and a Japanese squadron under command of Vice-Admiral Kamimura. No details are obtainable. The authorities are endeavoring to confirm the report.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 2.—Nothing is known here of the report that a fight has taken place between the Vladivostok squadron and the Japanese squadron commanded by Vice-Admiral Kamimura.

TOKIO, July 20, 10 a. m.—There is a probability that Vice-Admiral Kamimura signaled the Vladivostok squadron last night and that a general attack with torpedo boats followed. It is known that Kamimura is pursuing the Russians and cannonading was heard. Kamimura has not yet reported to Tokio and word from him is awaited with keen eagerness. The exact movements of the Russians are not known. It is thought Kamimura pressed the Russians into the Strait of Korea and that the Russians ran east and then north in an effort to escape. Kamimura's scouts discovered the Russians yesterday afternoon; trailed them and reported the Russians' presence. At 7:30 in the evening the latter were seen between Iki and Tsu islands. Cannonading was heard there. An hour and a half later cannonading was heard farther north. The navy department expresses the belief that Kamimura sent his torpedo boats against the Russians during the night.

The object of the recent Russian naval movements is not clearly understood here. It is suspected that both Russian squadrons sought refuge in a neutral port of China where they will claim protection under the circumstances. They deny the case is similar to that of the Russian gunboat Mandjur, which was at Shanghai when hostilities commenced. The entry of the Russian warships into either Kai Chou or Wei Hei Wei would prove embarrassing to the government, which controls these ports.

GEN. KUROPATKIN MAKES ADVANCE.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 2.—The following dispatch from Gen. Kuropatkin, dated June 30, has been received by the Emperor:

"Not only has Gen. Kuroki's forward movement in the direction of Hai Cheng and Ta Tche Kiao been suspended, but even the Japanese troops marching on the road to Khanza, toward Sian Diao, have begun to retire toward Chanza on the road to Sin Yen.

"The village of Madiavize has been occupied by our troops.

"No Japanese retreat has been observed on the southern road leading to Kin Chou across the Chapanlin Pass.

"Our cavalry operating in the direction of Senu Chen has retreated north under pressure of the enemy.

"Southward of Hai Cheng the Japanese have placed strong infantry advance posts for a distance of 122 miles along roads in the different passes.

"The Japanese advance in the Feng Wang Cheng region has ceased, while in the Hua Yen Sian and Sint Sint In district the enemy has receded southward."

JAPANESE ARE AGAIN ADVANCING.

LIAO YANG, July 2.—The Japanese are advancing over an extended front.

The Russian troops are in splendid spirits and Gen. Kuropatkin is in personal command. The Russians are holding Dalin Pass. Fifteen trains are arriving here daily.

Major-General Mistchenko's cavalry is fighting constantly.

The Russians assert that photographs taken prove that the Japanese are killing the wounded.

Lieut. Chita, it is said, who was wounded near Siu Yen June 26, and who was left on the field, was wounded thrice by Japanese.

The Russian soldiers are furious at this wanton cruelty.

They also claim that the Japanese use foul language in approaching the Russians.

RUSSIANS FOLLOW UP THE JAPANESE.

LIAO YANG, July 2.—The Japanese guards division, which was engaged in the attack on Talin Pass, is retiring eastward and Gen Count Keller, who has been reinforced, is following up the Japanese.

SENATOR GORMAN WILL NOT GO.

OFFICE OF THE
Assessor of Alameda County
POLL TAX NOTICE

Oakland, March 2, 1904.

Notice is hereby given that the State Poll Tax of two dollars for the year 1904 is now due, and payable at my office, room one, Court House, or to a Deputy Assessor.

Sec. 3839 of the Political Code reads as follows.

Every male inhabitant of the State over twenty-one and under sixty years of age, except paupers, insane persons and Indians, must annually pay a Poll Tax of two dollars, provided the same be paid between the

FIRST MONDAY IN MARCH AND THE FIRST MONDAY IN JULY

Then it shall be three dollars.

Sec. 3846 of the Political Code makes it the duty of the Assessor to "demand Poll Tax of every person liable therefor, and on the neglect or refusal of such person to pay, he must collect by seizure and sale of any personal property owned by such person."

Under Sections 429 to 435 every person who refuses to give his own name or the name of any person in his employ, or who in any manner obstructs the Assessor or any of his deputies in the collection of the State Poll Tax, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and liable to a fine of $500 or imprisonment in the County Jail, or both such fine and imprisonment.

Only those persons under twenty-one or over sixty years of age are exempt. Poll Tax must be paid on demand.

HENRY P. DALTON,
Assessor of Alameda County.
Oakland, California.

OFFICE OF THE
Assessor of Alameda County
NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS

Oakland, March 2, 1904.

All Persons, Firms, Companies, Corporations and Associations, are required to deliver at the Assessor's office, at the Court House, City of Oakland, County of Alameda, on or before April 1st, 1904, a statement, under oath, of all the property, both real and personal, owned or claimed by him, her or them, or in their possession or held in trust for others, at 12 o'clock meridan on the

FIRST MONDAY OF MARCH 1904

In accordance with Sec. 3629, Political Code.

Every person who refuses or neglects to furnish the statement as provided for in Section 3629, Political Code, becomes liable to a fine of one hundred dollars and the value fixed by the Assessor on their property must not be reduced by the Board of Equalization.

All persons owning real estate that has been assessed in the wrong name, or errors have appeared on their tax bills, are requested to call at the Assessor's office or notify the Assessor by mail on or before April 1st, 1904, so that the proper corrections may be made on the assessment roll for the year 1904.

ASSESSMENT BLANKS may be obtained at the Assessor's office, room one, Court House, or from any Deputy Assessor.

REGISTRATION

Office of the County Clerk, Alameda County, Cal.

NOTICE IS HEREBY given that in accordance

State Medical Institute

Many People From All Parts of the States Are Now Being Treated at This Institution.

GREAT CROWDS TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THE LIBERAL AND KIND OFFER

OF ONE WEEK'S FREE TREATMENT.

The great number of patients who have taken advantage of the above liberal and kind offer during the last twenty days has made it impossible to wait upon them or do justice to them; therefore, we have decided to extend the time for the free treatment twenty days longer. All persons afflicted with any disease can come to the Sanitarium during the next twenty days and receive one week's treatment with medicine free.

Whatever may be your disease, whether young or old, men, women or children, come to the State Medical Institute and receive one week's treatment free.

If you are sick, if your family doctor and his medicines cannot cure you, come at once and investigate the successful treatment given at the State Medical Institute. No matter what your trouble may be, if you are not getting well, come to us at once.

We would especially invite all persons who have been suffering with diseases of long standing which have resisted former treatment, for we know well by experience that a large number of such cases can be treated successfully and cured by giving the proper medicines in the proper way.

After you visit this institution and see the large collection of pure, fresh drugs and the manner in which they are dispensed, and the electric and scientific apparatus and all the means that are necessary for the cure of disease, you will then be satisfied that the State Medical Institute or Sanitarium is well worthy of your patronage.

The Manager of the State Medical Institute, having spent the last thirty years in the treatment of special diseases, a good part of which time has been in the large hospitals of Europe New York and Philadelphia, we especially claim to be well prepared for the successful treatment of diseases of the eye, the ear, the nose, the throat, and the lungs, and we believe that we are better prepared for the treatment of catarrh and lung diseases than any other medical institution in the West.

By a large experience with the formidable diseases of the heart, catarrh, asthma, rheumatism and the various kinds of indigestion, we feel that we can encourage every one suffering with those diseases to come to this institution with the assurance of being cured.

Where patients for any reason cannot visit the Institute, one of the doctors from the Sanitarium will see them at their homes as often as necessary.

The doctors of the State Medical Institute treat and cure all diseases of the eye, ear, nose, throat and lungs, heart, kidneys, bladder, brain, catarrh, asthma, rheumatism, bronchitis, headache, insomnia, deafness chills and malaria, skin diseases, neuralgia, diabetes, dyspepsia, dropsy, hemorrhoids and rectal troubles, and all forms of sores, blood and wasting diseases.

All private and wasting diseases promptly cured and their effects permanently eradicated from the system.

Diseases of women and children given special attention.

Nervous diseases and nervous prostration made a specialty.

Eczema and all skin diseases promptly cured.

Consultation either at the Institute at the patient's home, or by mail, free.

Office hours—9 to 11 a. m., 2 to 5 p. m. and 7 to 8 p. m. Sundays, 10 to 12 a. m.

COUNTRY STORE ROBBED.

It was reported yesterday afternoon to the Sheriff's office that the store of Andy Carlston which is situated opposite the Lockwood School, on the San Leandro road, has been robbed. About $50 worth of tobacco, cigars and other merchandise were taken. The robbery occurred while Carlston was away from his store Thursday evening and was discovered yesterday morning.

The matter was reported to Constable Cramer, who took prompt action in the matter. Suspicion rests upon two tramps who slept in a hay stack near Elmhurst on the night on which the robbery occurred. The two men had no money and were ordered out of several saloons where they tried to get drinks. The officers are now searching for the suspected characters.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL.

PARTIES, WEDDINGS, COMINGS AND GOINGS OF PEOPLE OF OAKLAND.

A SURPRISE PARTY.

WEST-MILES.

The marriage of Dr. Sidney West of Berkeley and Miss Minnie Miles of Cotusa took place at the home of the bride Thursday evening. Dr. West is a graduate of the University of California with the class of '98 and of the Medical Department class of 1903.

During his junior year he won the plaudits of the students by climbing to the dizzy heights of the campus flagpole and loosening the rope which had become fastened to the pulley. This daring deed was done in order that Old Glory might fly on the day that the U. C. Cadets were giving a military review in honor of Mrs. Phebe Hearst.

He refused a sum of money voted him by the Board of Regents and Mrs. Hearst, learning of his refusal presented him with a beautiful souvenir flag pin. Dr. West is prominent in his profession.

THEY ARE TRAVELING.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowndes Scott, who are traveling in the Orient, are now in Yokohama. Before their return to California in the autumn they will visit the Philippines.

AT VILLAREMI.

Miss Claire Chabot will entertain a number of young friends at the Chabot country home over the holiday. The guests include Miss Bessie Palmer, Miss Edith Gaskill, Miss Jane Credin, Miss Ethel Crellin, Miss Alice Knowles, Miss Ruth Knowles, Mr. and Mrs. William Watt and Fred Dieckmann, Willard Barton, Tom Knowles, Roger Friend, Dr. Phillip Gaskil, and Charles D. Bates Jr.

HOME WEDDING.

A wedding of interest was solemnized Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. Blanchard, when Miss Etta Blanchard became the bride of Arthur Sidney Hall. The Rev. H. Vosburgh was the officiating clergyman and a number of friends and relatives witnessed the pretty service.

After a honeymoon the young couple will make their home in this city, where Mr. Hall holds a responsible position with the Southern Pacific Company.

A PRETTY WEDDING.

The picturesque little church of the Advent in East Oakland was the scene of a pretty wedding last Monday evening, when Miss Daisy F. Harbinson became the bride of Joseph Petty. The church was beautifully decorated with palms and flowers and the impressive marriage service was read by the Rev. Carson Shaw.

The bride wore an exquisite white gown and was attended by Miss Gertrude Wall as maid of honor and Miss Lillie Harbinson, Miss Katherine Wuescher, Miss Lillias M. Smith and Miss Eva Petty as bridesmaids. The bride's attendant were gowned in white and carried bouquets of pink roses.

The groom was attended by James Cross and the following young men acted as ushers: T. S. Paddock, Ernest Orton, Roland Petty and Henry H. Hassard Jr.

After the marriage ceremony a delightful reception was held at the home of the bride's parents and a large number of friends assembled to wish the young couple a long and happy life. Mr. and Mrs. Petty are enjoying a brief honeymoon and on their return will make their home in East Oakland.

Those present at the reception were: Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Harbinson, Mr. and Mrs. John Petty, Mr. and Mrs. Little, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Harbinson, Mr. and Mrs. George Orton, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. DISTRIBUTING AGENTS

ACTOR WARDE TO RETIRE.

HE WILL GO TO THE ELKS' HOME IN VIRGINIA.

James M. Warde, the well-known veteran actor, who in past days has contributed no small share to the entertainment of amusement-seekers has concluded to permanently retire from the stage and active life of all kinds. Mr. Warde's advancing years have told upon his once sturdy physique and loss of vitality warned him to adopt a mode of life less strenuous than that demanded of a person who nightly uses much mental and physical strength in assuming an imaginary character on the stage.

Mr. Warde was yesterday making the rounds among the fraternal brethren and other old friends in Oakland, bidding them goodbye previous to his departure for Virginia, where Mr. Warde will take up his future home in the beautiful Elks' Rest.

Mr. Warde is one of the original members of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, being a charter member of New York Lodge, No. 1. He is also one of the oldest and best known players on the American stage. When in his prime Mr. Warde appeared on the stage with such actors as Edwin Forrest, Edwin Booth, John McCullough, Lawrence Barrett, Barry Sullivan, Dion Boucicault, Joseph Jefferson and many others famous on the stage. He also starred in several Irish dramas, some of them of his own authorship. He was granted the right to produce "The Shaughran" and other plays of a world-wide reputation by those holding the rights, as in "The Red Fox," one of his own dramas depicting "troublous times" in Ireland, Mr. Warde has pleased thousands of persons in his audiences.

WOMAN DOCTOR IN WRECK.

While returning home in her carriage from a professional call last night at Lorin, Dr. Winifred Foster was struck by a Grove street car and seriously injured. The buggy in which she was riding was completely demolished. Dr. Foster sustained an ugly laceration of the scalp just over the forehead and will be laid up with her injuries for some time. She is at present under the care of a physician.

The night was dark and it is thought that the motorman did not see the buggy and that the doctor did not hear the approach of the car.

Immediately after the accident Dr. Foster who is taking the place of Dr. Shuey during her absence was conveyed to the latter's home on Fourteenth street where she now is.

PRESIDENT GOES HOME.

HE WILL SEEK REST AND RECREATION AT OYSTER BAY.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—President Roosevelt left Washington for Oyster bay at 10 o'clock this morning. The President's arrival at Sagamore Hill will complete the family circle at the private residence. He will remain there, seeking as much rest and recreation as possible, until after he has been notified of his nomination, July 22d. He will then return to Washington for a brief period.

With the President on his special car were Secretary and Mrs. Loeb, Assistant Secretary Barnes and the regular corps of White House clerks, stenographers and messengers.

Oyster Bay will be reached at 5:33 o'clock this afternoon.

Secretaries Hay and Hitchcock called at the White House to say good-bye to the President before his departure. Secretary Elmer Dover of the Republican National Committee was at the station to see the President off.

It has been planned that comparatively few people will be received by the President. Official calls will be accompanied by "imperative" or "important."
